New York May Make Alimony Just Incident

ALBANY, (N.Y.) Jan. 28. (AP)—An anti-alimony bill in the State Legislature would bar payments longer than one year to a wife unless she is 50 years of age, or has been married ten years, or has children under 18.

Extensions might be granted on a showing that reasonable efforts to obtain employment had failed.

VICTORIES ANNOUNCED BY SACASA

Nicaragua Liberals Assert Diaz Forces Defeated in Two Engagements

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 28. (AP)—Pedro Zepeda, representative of the Liberal government set up in Nicaragua by Dr. Juan Sacasa, today stated that Liberal forces have won several victories in Northwest Nicaragua over the troops of the Conservative government of President Adolfo Diaz.

Zepeda said that if the United State, "as an elemental act of justice," would leave Nicaragua alone, and would permit it to handle its own affairs, President Diaz, who has been recognized by the United States, would not remain in power twenty-four hours.

The Liberal representative asserted that Dr. Sacasa's forces had captured the town of Lamanga in the Department of Choutales, which, he held to be an important position in the interior and a key to communications between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

The Liberals, he stated, defeated a force of 500 Conservatives, capturing numerous prisoners, and a quantity of supplies near El Maniadero in the Department of Chinadega. Plans are being made to attack the larger towns of Esteli and Jinotega, using Liberal forces who are at present occupying the interior city of Matiagalpa.

Zepeda also said that so many volunteers are flocking to the Liberal banner in Telica, the Department of Leon, that it was impossible to use them all.

GLADSTONE ATTACKED

'Grand Old Man' Called Humbug

Attentions Paid to Actresses Repeated in Court by Capt. Wright

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Asserting that England's "Grand Old Man," the late William E. Gladstone, was an "arch humbug," Capt. Peter E. Wright today defended his recent charges that Gladstone was a hypocrite in matters of morality. Wright, who is suing Viscount Gladstone, the 73-year-old son of the elder Gladstone, for libel because the latter called him a "liar, coward and foo," in connection with the immorality charges, was subjected to a searching cross-examination by Norman Birkett, counsel for the defendant.

The testimony, which brought up incidents asserted to have occurred more than thirty years ago, was heard by a crowded courtroom. Among the spectators were Lady Milner, Lord Phillimore, Sir Arthur Wing Pinero and the Earl of Malmesbury.

Mr. Birkett asked Capt. Wright if he had ever made any inquiries into the truth of his allegations that the elder Gladstone was father of an illegitimate son, or that he had been intimate with the noted French actress, Brassine.

"Why should I?" Wright asked. Later, however, he withdrew his suggestion of the existence of an illegitimate son.

When Mr. Birkett called attention that the asserted intrigue with Brasaine had occurred when Gladstone was 72 years of age, Capt. Wright replied:

"That's the astonishing thing about Gladstone. He had these affairs between 70 and 80."

Mr. Birkett then took up Capt. Wright's assertions that the elder Gladstone had been intimate with Olga Novikoff, a beautiful Russian girl. He said that the man whom Capt. Wright had cited as his informant will deny the story attributed to him and furthermore that the elder Gladstone completed correspondence with Mlle. Novikoff from 1873 to 1893, did not contain the slightest hint of impropriety.

Capt. Wright nevertheless maintained that the elder Gladstone was an "arch humbug" and had connived in the illicit relationship between Charles Stewart Parnell, the Irish statesman, and Mrs. O'Shea, a relationship which led to Parnell's political downfall.

His charges against Gladstone, said Capt. Wright, were primarily concerned with the latter's "hypocrisy," and secondarily, with his immorality. He cited the late Henry LaBouchere as saying: "If Gladstone had been unexpectedly caught with a fifth ace up his sleeve, he would say the Holy Ghost put it there."

During his testimony, Capt. Wright expressed regret for bringing into the case the name of Lilly Langtry, the celebrated English actress, who is now Lady De Bathe.

Two prominent persons are expected to take the stand during the suit. They are Frank Forest, who is famous for his exploits as an inspector at Scotland Yard, and T. P. (Tay Pay) O'Connor, "Father of the House of Commons," who knew the elder Gladstone. Mr. O'Connor postponed a trip abroad in order that he may be ready in case he should be called.

Capt. Wright, during his testimony, referred to Mr. O'Connor's obituary of the late Lord Milner, in which Milner was quoted as saying that the elder Gladstone was governed by his "serngallo." Mr. O'Connor interpreted this as referring to Gladstone's wife and daughter, but Capt. Wright contended that such a meaning could never be drawn from the word.

BEARS GIVEN SQUEEZING

Lose Heavily in Rail Stock Coup

Fears of Corner Send Price of Wheeling and Lake Erie to Record Peak

Rumors of Merger Deals Reported Behind Call for Road's Shares

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Visions of a "corner" in the common stock of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad went careening through the minds of panic-stricken "bear" traders in that issue of the New York Stock Exchange today, causing a sensational advance of 11 points and losses estimated at "upward of $1,500,000" for unfortunate speculators. The stock, traded in the regular way, touched a record high price of $65 a share as against a low of $27.50 earlier in the month, but one cash transaction took place at $65.50 a share. It closed at 59.

The urgent retreat of the short interest followed an unexpected demand for delivery of stock certificates by brokers who recently have been accumulating the stock for reasons not disclosed but believed to involve merger plans of some sort.

No "corner" actually developed as borrowed stock for making deliveries against short sales was available all day, but the unusually high premium of 1 per cent, or $1 a share a day, was charged for this privilege.

Inasmuch as there are only 336,434 shares of common stock outstanding, and as this week's transactions alone are believed to have exceeded that figure, the giant specter of a possible "corner" terrified bear traders in the issue when prices began to soar. Bankers sensing the danger of the situation, are believed to have been instrumental in arranging for the release of sufficient stock by "long" holders to cover "short" sales. When the 2:15 p.m. "deadline" was reached, by which time all deliveries of stocks against the previous day's sales must be made, all stock called for had been delivered so that no forced buying in "under the rule" was necessary.

The persistent demand for the Wheeling stocks since the first of the year has been shrouded in mystery. No road has been mentioned, at various times, as a possible link in several proposed consolidations, including the "Nickel Plate," New York Central, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and the so-called Loree fifth eastern trunk line system. The identity of the recent buyers has not been revealed, but some of it has been traded to Cleveland sources, other than the Van Sweringens.

Voting control of the road rests with the Rockefeller interests, who own substantially all of the prior preference stock on which there are arrears of over 70 per cent in dividends. In view of the fact that no dividends have been paid since the road was reorganized in 1916, and that the road's earnings, while steadily improving, apparently do not justify the recent increase from $9,251,600 to $21,887,560 in the market value of the outstanding common stock, the advance has been stubbornly contested by "bear" traders who felt that the price was out of line with other railroad securities.

POOR ON $50,000 A YEAR

That's What You Are if You Live on Park Avenue in New York's $1,280,000,000 Per Annum Area

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Expenditures of $1,280,000,000 by the 16,000 residents of three miles of New York's most fashionable street—Park avenue, is predicted for 1927. An estimate of the expenditures of residents of what probably is the world's wealthiest thoroughfare made public by H. Gordon Duval, president of the Park Avenue Association, shows the average individual income of the residents to be $75,000 a year.

"The man who earns only $50,000 a year is a poor man if he lives on Park avenue," said Mr. Duvall, who asserted the survey represents a four-year study. "Many incomes," he said, "exceed $1,000,000 a year."

Wealth undreamed of a generation ago pours from the swanky apartment houses that tower along both sides of the avenue. In many of them, says Mr. Duvall, "fifty and sixty millionaires, or really, multimillionaires live in a single house."

Expenditures of Fifth avenue in the palmiest day of the "gay '90's are reduced to microscopic proportions by the city's new street of wealth and fashion.

There are 4000 families, comprising, 16,000 men, women and children, it is estimated, peopling the avenue between Thirty-fourth and Ninety-sixth streets.

The average family, Mr. Duvall says, spends $70,000 a year, and this estimate, he says, is conservative. The item of $5,000,000 for amusements, theaters and cabarets for the 4000 families, he declared, is "absurdly low."

"Why a man with a debutante daughter has to add $25,000 yearly to his expenses for her alone—at least," he points out.

The expenditure estimates are fabulously large for the individual family. Women's habiliaments alone amount to $15,000 annually, furs the same.

Other items listed are art galleries and antiques, $3750; automobile, $2500; auto renting, $250; candies, $500; charity, $1250; drugs, perfumes, etc., $1000; electric appliances, $500; flowers, $750; foodstuffs, $5000; furniture, decorations and rugs, etc., $3750; garaging, $1250; gift things, $1250; glass and china, $500; hair dressing and beautifying, $1000; hardware, $500; jewelry, $5000; laundries and cleaners, $875; leather goods, $500; linens, laces, etc., $1250; men's shoes, $500; men's tailoring, haberdashery, etc., $3750; moving and storage, $250; music, pianos, etc., $625; real estate (rentals,) $4500; restaurants and catering, $2500; traveling, foreign and domestic, $3750, and yachts, $1750.

The Park-avenue resident, Mr. Duvall points out, spends only 5 to 10 per cent of his income for rent.

The New York World estimates that on this same basis $18,000,000 annually is spent by Park-avenue residents for liquor.

Since Fifth avenue began to be invaded by trade, Park avenue, two blocks east, has become the home of fashion and wealth. Much of it is over a subway that brings trains into the Grand Central Station.

LONG-LOST CHILD MAY BE FOUND

Boy Believed to be Artie Mace of Seattle, Located in Sioux City, Iowa

SEATTLE, Jan. 28. (AP)—Incredulous yet hopeful, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Mace of Seattle today were awaiting confirmation or denial of a report from police of South Sioux City, Iowa, that a son, Artie Mace, who disappeared from their home here in March, 1924, and was believed to have drowned, had appeared alive and well in that city after amazing adventures at the hands of kidnapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Mace buried as their son, the body of a small boy found in a lake here two months after the disappearance of Artie. Finding of the body ended a country-wide search for the boy, who was then 4 years of age. One thousand dollars reward was offered for information leading to finding of the child and numerous reports of a golden-haired child being seen with gypsy bands were traced down in vain.

Word was received by Seattle police yesterday from South Sioux City officers inquiring if a Mr. and Mrs. "Jake" Mace of Seattle had a missing son about 7 years of age named Artie. The Iowa officials said a child giving the name of Artie Mace had appeared at the home of Leroy Stewart and Sidney Mead of South Sioux City, telling a story of having been kidnaped by a man named Bob Sherlock and a woman, and saying that he had run away from them in Great Falls, Mont.

Connecticut Bill Calls for Lights on Pedestrians

HARTFORD (Ct.) Jan. 28.—Walking in the dark will join the ranks of forbidden pleasure in Connecticut if a bill introduced in the Legislature today by Representative Foote of Boston becomes law.

The bill requires each pedestrian on the highway between sunset and sunrise to carry a light visible at last fifty feet or a red reflector visible at least fifty feet.

Mr. Foote also introduced a bill to raise the State tax on gasoline from 2 to 3 cents a gallon which, he says, will make highways even safer for pedestrians. Both measures were referred to the Committee on Motor Vehicles.

Radio Stations Get Notices on License Laws

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28. (AP)—California radio stations were notified today by Radio Supervisor Dillon that the radio laws require all stations to procure licenses and renew them every three months.

Dillon said some of the stations to which he sent notices were broadcasting plants operating without licenses, or whose licenses had lapsed. He added that many station operators had neglected to renew their licenses since it was announced that the Department of Commerce lacked authority over wave lengths and hours of operation.

PARIS STIRRED BY MYSTERY

PARIS, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—Mystery cloaks the disappearance of Miss Margaret Strong, grand-daughter of John D. Rockefeller, with the simultaneous absence of the young, handsome Argentine, Georges De Cuevas, who holds a trusted position with the aristocratic dressmaker, Prince Felix Yousoupoff, maintaining a magnificent estate at Boulogne, near Paris.

Friends who were aware that Miss Strong and Senor De Cuevas were seen together frequently at dances and social affairs, suspected an elopement, but are becoming mystified at their continued absence, now more than three weeks. A report that the couple had been seen at a Geneva hotel could not be verified, though Miss Strong told servants she was going to Switzerland.

Miss Strong, who is about 30 years of age, pretty and attractive, is a prominent figure in European society, maintaining two apartments in Paris, although she travels the greater part of the year. Her father, Charles Augustus Strong, who is the author of the psychological work, "Why the Mind Has a Body," is at present in Rome, and ignores his daughter's absence.

At one of her apartments the retainers said that Miss Strong will be absent three months, while at her luxurious flat in the Champs Elysees, it was stated that she went to Switzerland three weeks ago, saying that she would return in a week.

Senor De Cuevas is the director of Prince Yousoupoff's dressmaking establishment in which former Russian duchesses and princesses act as models, parading before the wealthy Americans who are driven to Boulogne in the Prince's limousine, bearing the magnificent crest of the princely arms. He met Miss Strong as a customer, which in the easy aristocratic circles of Russian nobility soon leads to social acquaintance.

Senor De Cuevas is handsome, has an athletic figure, dark eyes, a swarthy complexion, and is known as a masculine elegant charmer with wit and personal magnetism, but of small means. He told his princely employer that he was going for a two-weeks' motor trip with friends, but has not notified the Prince of the cause of his delayed return.

"We still hope that nothing unfortunate has happened and I believe that Senor De Cuevas will return shortly," the Prince's secretary said. "An elopement? No, I could not say, frankly."

Thousands View Finding of Slain Wife's Remains

PLATTEVILLE (Wis.) Jan. 28. (AP) While 1000 persons milled about in the snow authorities under the guidance of William N. Coffey, bigamist and confessed slayer of his second wife, today recovered from half a dozen graves, parts of her body, including the head, which they believe will be sufficient to establish a corpus delicti.

Coffey, the former Madison (Wis.) bond salesman and welfare worker, this evening on the second trip of the day to Riter's woods, pointed out the snow-incrusted mound which held the head. Previously he had declared he had thrown the head into the Mississippi River. Later, however, he admitted he had falsified and begged Sheriff Wright for an hour of sleep.

MOBILIZE MARINES

San Diego Force Now 1133

United States Fails to Find Out What Faction Will Act on New Pact

LONDON, Jan. 28. (AP)—A Shanghai dispatch to the Daily Express reports that the plans of the Cantonese army have suddenly been changed, indicating abandonment of their intention to advance on Shanghai. The dispatch says that all Nationalist troops have left or are about to leave Chekiang, through which they have been advancing in the direction of Shanghai.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—The emergency marine battalion at San Diego, held for possible service in China, today was increased to a strength of 1133 men.

The force, which, the Navy says, is stationed at the California port for use anywhere needed, has been augmented by 300 men withdrawn from the mail guard, marines from Mare Island and a detachment en route from Puget Sound. It is ready to move immediately on receipt of orders, Maj.-Gen. Lejeuna, commandant of the Marine Corps, said, but there has been no indication that any order has been issued.

Half of the force from the Puget Sound yard was sent yesterday to the concentration point.

A detachment of 300 marines, now at Guam, have been ordered to the Philippines so that they may be near in case they are needed to protect American lives in China. The transport Gold Star is at Guam to take them to Cavite.

One battalion of marines was assembled at San Diego at the time additional ships were sent to Nicaragua as possible service in Central America or elsewhere.

Five hundred additional marines will be withdrawn from the mail guard next month and at least half of that number will be sent to San Diego. This withdrawal has been described as part of a program decided on prior to recent developments in China.

UNITED STATES AWAITS NEGOTIATOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—With official Washington apparently in complete harmony on desirability of negotiating without delay new and equalizing treaties with China, the vital question of whom to deal in negotiation with remains unanswered tonight. Leaders of the two main factions in the Chinese civil war have not yet accepted Secretary Kellogg's suggestion that they agree between themselves on a suitable treaty-negotiating commission. The State Department has no indication that they will do so. On the contrary, such knowledge as it has of their attitude makes agreement between them seem most unlikely.

President Coolidge today reaffirmed the offer made by Mr. Kellogg. Later, Mr. Kellogg indicated, after a visit to the White House, that he had received no response from China.

Chairman Porter of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, making public a report approving his resolution requesting the President to negotiate new treaties "with duly accredited agents of the Republic of China, authorized to speak for the people of China," declared for a formal invitation to a treaty conference to be transmitted through Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister here. This would give China the option, Representative Porter said, "of negotiating with the United States in conjunction with other powers, or separately."

The committee report indorsed Secretary Kellogg's policy statement, but showed that the committee had struck the word "forthwith" out of the resolution requesting the President to open negotiations.

Dr. Sze, on his part, called for an appointment by the powers of their negotiating delegates "to evidence their desire for negotiating."

"China is just as much interested to know the composition of the foreign delegations as they seem to be anxious to know the composition of the Chinese delegation," he said.

The Minister cited a recent statement by Eugene Chen, Foreign Minister of the Cantonese faction, and said that Wellington Koo, representing the Peking government, had solicited the Washington government last Monday to open treaty negotiations.

"I personally urge," he added, "that the powers declare in irrevocable terms and unconditionally the termination of all unequal treaties and negotiate forthwith new treaties on an equal and reciprocal basis."

Asked if he spoke for the Cantonese as well as the Peking faction in saying it would be easy to find men in China to act as negotiators who would have the confidence of all Chinese factions, Dr. Sze said he was not authorized to represent the Cantonese government, although he had been in communication with it.

"They look on me as a patriotic Chinese, who is anxious to do the best he can for his country," he said.

In urging action to equalize American-Chinese treaties independently, if necessary, of action taken by other powers, the report on the Porter resolution said such a course would insure removal of causes of misunderstanding with China "without risk of delay arising out of controversies which China may have with other nations." Attached to the report was a summary of testimony taken by the committee on which was based the statement that "practically all American cultural, financial and missionary interests having relations with China are united in support of this resolution."

Neither the resolution nor the report says anything as to how protection is to be given to Americans at Shanghai, should serious disorders there make such steps necessary. Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday declared for evacuation of the 4000 American nationals until all danger was passed.

President Coolidge does not see eye to eye with the Idaho Senator on that point. He let it be known today that he saw no reason why Americans lawfully resident in the Shanghai international settlement should be asked to abandon their property and business.

American naval forces are to remain available for their protection, it was said at the White House, although the President has reason to believe that the Chinese authorities themselves will make every effort to afford protection to foreigners. If not, it was added, American marines and sailors will do their best to protect Americans.

SOVIET CONTEMPLATES NO ARMED INTERVENTION

LENINGRAD (Russia) Jan. 28. (AP)—Armed intervention in China does not "enter into the plans" of the soviet government. Assurance to this effect was given in a speech here yesterday by J. E. Rudzutak, vice-chairman of the soviet Cabinet.

"Even if the foreign powers open war on China we shall not interfere," he said. "We shall maintain toward Canton (the Cantonese or Nationalist government) friendly neutrality and warm sympathy, and shall help Canton in every way, but armed intervention in China does not enter into our plans."

The soviet government cannot and does not wish to forbid soviet citizens voluntarily joining the Cantonese army to "fight the imperialists," he went on, but from this it must not be assumed that the Chinese revolution is the work of Moscow.

"During our own civil war," he pointed out, "we had many foreign soldiers in our ranks, but it would be absurd to say that the October revolution and triumph over foreign intervention were accomplished by foreigners."

Reiterating his previous warning that Europe was preparing to attack Russia, M. Rudzutak urged that the people thoroughly arm themselves and be ready to resist.

PERIL TO AMERICANS DECLARED EXAGGERATED

SHANGHAI, Jan. 28. (AP)—The hostility of Chinese toward foreigners has not inspired white residents of Shanghai with the fear for their safety that is evidenced in cablegrams received from anxious relatives and friends at home.

Numerous inquiries received by Shanghai Americans and by the American Consulate-General reveal a state of mind in America which prominent Americans here characterized today as unduly alarmed over the immediate antiforeign situation in this city.

American business men who have been feeling the effects of the anxiety at home in arranging transactions, said that the commercial perils in Shanghai had been exaggerated in America.

American consular and naval authorities, it is authoritatively stated, have worked out plans which are believed adequate to cope with any situation believed possible, but authorities said emphatically that they did not believe it would become necessary to put the entire precautionary program into effect.

American missionary leaders took the position that whatever plans were under way to bring women and children from inland points to the coast were motivated not by actual danger to American lives but to the desire to remove possibility of incidents that might adversely affect the cause of the whole missionary body.

It was pointed out that, despite terrific loss of Chinese lives during the past year, not a single American death was traceable to civil war or to antiforeignism. A dispatch from San Francisco representing J. Harold Dollar, vice-president of Dollar Steamship Company, as cabling home that he was "fleeing from China," was indignantly denied by Dollar as ridiculous and unfounded.

Whatever is happening in the rest of the country and despite the threatening coming to this city of Cantonese armies, Shanghai at present is suprisingly quiet and normal. The coming of the first detachment of British Indian troops yesterday somewhat relieved the local tension, although several strikes continue and transport facilities are crippled.

Despite frequent sights of barbed-wire barricades and exhibitions of force such as the Punjabis' march through the streets, the life of the average Shanghai foreigner is much as usual. The clubs, cabarets and dancing halls are thronged. Possibilities of the near future, however, are almost the sole topic of conversation.

BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE AWAITS DEVELOPMENTS

LONDON, Jan. 28. (AP)—While preparations for the dispatch of troops to China continued, the British Foreign Office today was waiting for developments growing out of the proposals which it has drawn up for a solution of the Chinese crisis.

There were no outstanding developments at the Foreign Office today except the reception of news that Britain Minister Miles Lampson had presented to the Peking government proposals similar to those which the British Charge D'Affaires, Owen O'Malley, had been instructed to deliver to the Cantonese Foreign Minister at Hankow.

It was assumed in Whitehall that Mr. Lampson also has acquainted the Peking representatives of the Washington treaty powers with the nature of the British proposals. These proposals are believed to provide for "generous" concessions by the British government.

The home government appears to expect a diplomatic delay of the negotiations now going on. Good augury, however, is drawn from the fact that two detachments of Punjabi troops have been landed and paraded in Shanghai without provoking untoward incidents.

It is hoped that Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Minister, who will speak at Birmingham tomorrow night, will give full details of the British suggestions for solving the present crisis. It is felt that such an exposition of the British viewpoint would have a good effect in counteracting erroneous reports current in China and elsewhere.

Sir Austen had a private conference for an hour today on Chinese affairs fifth Foreign Minister Vandervelde of Belgium, who is on a visit to London, but no details of their conversation were made public.

Pageant-loving Londoners will have war reminiscences tomorrow, when the First Battalion of the Coldstream Guards, of which King George is colonel-in-chief, will march with their bands playing and colors flying, from Wellington Barracks through Parliament Square and over Westminster Bridge to Waterloo Station, where they will entrain for Southampton to board transports for China.

BRITISH PROPOSALS GIVEN TO BOTH FACTIONS

PEKING, Jan. 28. (AP)—Great Britain notified both the Peking and Nationalist governments today that Britain was disposed to grant a large share of the rights which the Chinese contended were theirs.

Minister Miles Lampson presented the British proposals to Marshal Chang Tso-Lin and the Peking government at the northern capital, while Charge d'Affaires Owen O'Malley handed similar proposals to Eugene Chen, Foreign Minister of the Nationalist, or Cantonese, government at Hankow.

While nothing official was obtainable concerning the British proposals, it is believed that they offered virtually to give up the British concessions as such at Hankow and Tien-tsin, and to substitute therefor international settlements in which the Chinese would have a very large voice in government of the municipalities.

These territories would become somewhat like the former German concessions, but apparently with safeguards regarding the efficient administration of them, and in regard to foreign representation in the councils.

The British, it is reported, argued that inasmuch as the northerners had been prepared to act more moderately in advancing their national aspirations and had not proposed the tearing up of treaties, as had been threatened by some southerners, the northerners must be conceded all that was granted to the Nationalist Foreign Minister Chen by Charge O'Malley.

ENTRY INTO CHINA ROW FORECAST

America will inevitably be drawn into the present conflict in China and at a comparative early date, Rev. W. C. Isett, for years active in missionary work in the oriental republic, told the weekly luncheon meeting of the Arnaima Club at the Alexandria yesterday.

Rev. Mr. Isett, now residing in Los Angeles, spent years of study of the Chinese situation and the club members were given the benefit of his knowledge of affairs there in an exclient talk on the military situation as now exists in that war-torn nation.

China has at last united in action and has as its aim the removal of foreign elements that in the past have been prominent in the republic, Rev. Isett told the ex-service men's organization. And behind the whole present movement may be seen the active hand of Russian influence, he declared, Russia being the one nation that has attempted to understand the Celestial attitude toward advancement.

Lieut.-Gov. Fitts, member of the organization, was a guest of honor at yesterday's luncheon, making his first appearance there since his recent successful campaign. Former National Commander John R. Quinn of the American Legion, was also present.

The meeting program was presented under the chairmanship of E. A. Evans. Municipal Judge Leonard Wilson, president of the Arnaima Club, presided.

ATLANTA WILL STAGE $12,000 GOLF TOURNEY

ATLANTA (Ga.) Jan. 28. (AP)—The Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce announced today that a southern open golf tournament would be held here March 23-26, inclusive, over the links of the East Lake Country Club.

The first prize will be $3500, or a handsome trophy should an amateur win, the announcement said. Total prizes of $12,000 will be distributed.

COAST AIR MAIL CONTRACT LET

Seattle Company to Operate Route from Chicago

Four Bids for East Section Rejected by New

Heavy Increase in Matter Predicted Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—The Boeing Airplane Company of Seattle today was awarded the contract for carrying the air mail between Chicago and San Francisco.

Postmaster-General New, however, rejected as too high, four bids for the eastern section of the transcontinental route, which the government has been operating.

The Boeing company agreed to maintain the service now furnished by the government on the western division, charging $1.50 a pound for the first 1000 miles and 15 cents a pound for each additional 100 miles. It submitted one of the four offers received for operation of the western section.

Four bids also were opened on the 15th inst. for the eastern contract. Another invitation for offers for this section will be issued shortly.

CONCERNS BIDDING

The four bids submitted for the eastern contract were: The Columbia Air Line, Inc., New York City, $1.75 a pound; the Colonial Air Transport, New York, $1.88 a pound; the National Air Transport, Inc., Wilmington, Del., $1.98 a pound, and an alternate bid by the latter based on a sliding scale ranging from $2.57 a pound up to 700 pounds a day to $1.25 a pound for 6000 pounds or more a day.

Postmaster-General New said he considered that "the disparity between the $1.50 price that we have for carrying the mail 1000 miles in the West against the best figures submitted for carrying mail 726 miles between New York and Chicago is too great to justify an award on any bid we have received."

"Furthermore," he added, "I believe that just ordinary fairness, as well as good policy in awarding a government contract, would preclude the possibility of my accepting a voluntary bid submitted by one company on a basis not asked for in the advertisement and on which there is no competition whatever, presumably for the reason that there is nothing that gave the other bidders to understand that a bid on such a basis would be received or considered. I believe further invitations for new bids will result to the advantage of the government."

NEW BASIS FOR BIDS

The voluntary bid referred to by the Postmaster-General was the alternate offer of the National Air Transport, Inc., which ranged down to $1.25 a pound for 6000 pounds a day. It is considered likely that the Postmaster-General will call for bids on that basis when he invites them again for the eastern section.

Air mail service officials believe that the new country-wide air-mail rate of 10 cents for one-half ounce, which becomes effective February 1, next, will result in heavy increase in the air mail. The advantage to the government of a sliding scale of rates to be paid contractors under such conditions is considered by postal officials as warranting acceptance of a bid on such basis.

Bidding for the Chicago-San Francisco route, in addition to the Boeing Company, were the Columbia Air Lines, Inc., New York, $4.47 a pound; the Stout Air Services, Inc., Detroit, $2.64 a pound for the first 1000 miles and 26.4 cents a pound for each additional 100 miles, and the Western Air Express, Inc., Los Angeles, $2.24 for the first 1000 miles and 22.4 cents for each additional 100 miles.

CHINA ISN'T CLIME FOR JOURNALIST

Native Editor Must Change Sides Quickly or be Killed by Soldiery for Delay

VICTORIA (B.C.) Jan. 28 (Exclusive)—What amounts to practically wholesale murder of newspaper reporters and editors of Chinese papers by the factions at war in China is the reason to a great extent why the outside world knows little of the serious situation that has arisen in China, stated William O'Neil, former Reuter's News Agency correspondent at Hankow, who arrived here last night on the Africa Maru from the Orient.

China is not a healthy place for native newspaper men unless they are able to transfer allegiance at a moment's notice and write reports favorable to the factions in power, Mr. O'Neill stated. Any detrimental reports printed means death to the writer, he said. Mr. O'Neil added that when Wu Pei Fu captured Hankow from the northern forces, eight reporters were put to death one morning for issuing reports against the cause.

"The man in power dictates to the newspaper men and the policy of the paper is controlled by them. It is not an uncomon experience for two or three editors to lose their heads when a town is taken over by a rival general," he said. "The news to be distributed is carefully censored and although articles may be decidedly incorrect, the editors are forced to accede to the demands and have them printed."

The bulk of the news cabled to America is reliable and correct, however, he said.

The importance of accuracy is stressed by the various wire services. Considerable trouble was experienced by Mr. O'Neill in getting the correct story out of Hankow when that city was captured. The general in power controlled all wireless and telegraph systems and most of the news had to be gotten out by mail.

PADLOCK SHADOWS GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—The shadow of a giant prohibition padlock fell across a hundred-mile strip of land today from fashionable Park avenue in Manhattan two-thirds of the way up the Hudson Valley to Albany. During the day summons and complaint was served on forty-nine places between New York and Kingston, seventy-five men and nineteen women being named as defendants. The name of John Doe also appeared forty-one times in the papers.

The first thunder of today's enforcement storm reverberated early today about a Park-avenue night club just below the Grand Central Terminal, known as La Basque. Prohibition agents who raided the place, which they said paid an annual rental of $200,000, seized $3000 worth of choice liquors and made three arrests.

There were 100 fashionably dressed couples in the place, who were allowed to go home after they had been huddled together and flashlight pictures taken of them. A list of patrons found on the premises was said to include many socially prominent names.

The next place raided was in Greenwich Village, where axes were used to break down iron doors in a six-story loft building.

Here a large alcohol denaturing plant was discovered. A warehouse across the street was broken into and 175 fifty-gallon drums of alcohol seized. Two men were arrested.

First indication that the raids were more than a flurry in the usual prohibition wind came with an announcement during the afternoon from Assistant United States Attorney Wadmond that a small army of deputy marshals had been flung up the Hudson Valley to "mop up" a half hundred places against which evidence already had been obtained.

In each instance summons and complaint was served on the proprietor, bartender and owner of the offending building. The papers are answerable in twenty days, after which they will be listed on the calendar of the padlock court.

DRIVE PLANED BY MODERATION LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Declaring that the speech of William G. McAdoo at Toledo "indicates a curious misconception of the fundamental relations between the States and the Federal government," the Moderation League, Inc., today announced a nation-wide campaign for the repeal of State prohibition laws.

Austen C. Fox, chairman of the league, who made the announcement said that, as the legislatures of forty-four States now are in session, "we will carry on an extensive campaign to bring to the attention to the citizens of these States the inevitable double jeopardy caused by State and Federal enforcement of prohibition." Maryland, Montana, Nevada and New York, he pointed out, have no State enforcement laws.

Snowstorm in East Forces Air Squadron Down

OGDENSBURG (N. Y.) Jan. 28. (AP) Nine planes of the United States Pursuit Squadron from Selfridge Field, Mich., on their way from Montreal to Buffalo after a good-will visit to Canadian cities, were caught in a blinding snowstorm today and forced down on the ice of the St. Lawrence River near Fisher's Landing, six miles from Clayton. All the planes made the ice safely. They were equipped with skis.

After the machines had been covered with canvas, the aviators sought shelter. Tonight they were quartered at a hotel in Clayton.

SUGAR FROM OIL FORECAST

Scientist Asserts Advances in High Pressure Gas Reactions Important to Industry

URBANA (Ill.) Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—A liquid motor fuel from coal and water, common sugar and starch from petroleum, and soap from kerosene.

These things may be done soon and the University of Illinois, through its chemistry department, intends to have a hand in that highly important work.

To aid in this important field of scientific investigation, the board of trusteers of the university has just granted a small appropriation for the erection and equipment of a proper laboratory where preliminary tests will be started.

HIGH PRESSURE REACTIONS

The whole work revolves around the field of high-pressure gas reactions. Recent developments in industry involving the application of high pressures to technical gas reactions have resulted in very marked success and are just beginning to be appreciated. These achievements will be of enormous value to the food, fertilizer and explosive industries. Another outstanding work of this nature was that done by German scientists in the synthesis of methanol which authorities believe may mean the elimination of our wood distillation industry.

"The importance and future of this new field of investigations," says Prof. Norman W. Krase, who is engaged in the new research work at the University of Illinois, "can hardly be comprehended by the lay mind unless one realizes that since the war period the air-nitrogen industry has grown from a laboratory scale to full-fledged commercial size." He says "even though it was necessary to develop new equipment and technique since the start, during 1925 more nitrogen from the air was fixed as ammonia than was consumed in this country in the form of Chilean nitrate.

COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE

"This industry, which depends on the successful application of high pressure to a gas reaction, has resulted in the complete independence of the United States in nitrogen supply in time of war and will result in significant decreases in the cost of nitrogenous fertilizers for our farmers.

"The matter of other gas reactions is now where the synthesis of ammonia was in 1913. While the fixed nitrogen industry developed rapidly, there is every reason to believe that the development of other high-pressure processes will be even more rapid because the technique is already developed and the equipment is more or less standardized."

The laboratory to be constructed at the university will also be used to familiarize the undergraduate engineers with the apparatus because there are so many plants about the country undertaking gas reactions at high pressures.

ESTRADA IN ASSERTED DEATH PLOT

Witnesses at Rebel Army Trial in Terror as Lawyer Hurls Charge in Court

A wholesale plot to kill more than three-score Mexicans appearing as witnesses for the United States government against Gen. Enrique Estrada, former Mexican Minister of War, and eighty-seven codefendants, now on trial in the court of United States District Judge Henning on charges of violating the American neutrality laws, was charged yesterday in open court by Asst. U. S. Atty. Armstrong.

The court was thrown into an uproar by the accusation with Chief Defense Counsel Lorrin Andrews protesting the admission of the statements before the jury.

Deputy United States marshals standing guard in the corridors had reported to Attorney Armstrong that witnesses awaiting their turn had expressed fear of identifying some of the defendants because "friends had told them they were marked for death because they were traitors."

Judge Henning immediately instructed United States Marshal Sittel to clear the corridors of all visitors who were unable to obtain entrance to the crowded court, saying:

"The corridors in this case are as much a part of the courtroom as the room itself and shall be kept free of disorder and loiterers in the future."

Following cessation of the day's hearing Mr. Armstrong, who, with Asst. U. S. Atty. Obannesian, is prosecuting Estrada and his aides, reported the threats made to the witnesses to Department of Justice operatives with a request that they be checked and if true the responsible persons arrested and charged with intimidating Federal witnesses.

The witnesses on the stand yesterday included Ernesto Palacio, Filiberto Placencia, Belen Gomez, Felipe Araujo, Fortirio Flores, Santos Medrano, Jose Mancilla, Gumesindo Crosco, Andreas F. Medrina and Jose Ruiz, all of whom were on Estrada's expedition.

Sixteen Burned Fighting Fatal Blaze in Mine

MORGANTOWN (W. Va.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Sixteen men were burned, some seriously, by an explosion early today in the Connellsville by-products mine, which was swept by fire yesterday.

At least twenty-five men were in the mine at the time of the blast, but all were reported, by company officials, to have made their way to safety.

Among those most seriously burned was Stephen Arkwright, general manager for the James A. Paisley interests of Cleveland, owners of the by-products mine which is situated in the Scott's Run district.

Several local doctors and ambulances were sent to the scene.

GREAT BRITAIN STORM-SWEPT

Hundred-Mile Gale Lashes United Kingdom

Eight Dead, 100 Injured in Glasgow Alone

Extent of Disaster Unknown; Wires Leveled

GLASGOW (Scotland) Jan. 28. (AP) Eight persons were killed and 100 injured in Glasgow alone today in a southerly hurricane which swept great Britain from Land's End, the southeramost point of England, to John O'Groats, on the northernmost tip of Scotland.

The storm was especially severe in Scotland and the districts north of Edinburgh, as well as all Ireland and the Scilly Isles, were completely cut off from telegraphic and telephonic communication with London.

The weather observatory at Renfrew registered a record gust of 102 miles an hour.

Several old houses collapsed in Glasgow and pedestrians and vehicles were tossed about. Street cars were overturned and a section of the roof of the Central Railroad Station was lifted. Firemen were busy all day extricating victims from the debris and ambulances were overtaxed handling street casualities caused by the showers of wreckage. Police had to barricade the most dangerous points.

An express train running from Berwick to Newcastle was stopped for forty minutes near Dunbar by violent winds driven through the windows, pelting the passengers, who said the cars rocked like ships and that they had seen haytricks from neighboring farms whirling through the air.

Outgoing troop ships on their way to China encountered rough seas. A Lloyds dispatch from Port Talbot, Wales, said that the destroyer Sylph was blown ashore at Aberavon, but that the crew was saved.

The Dominion Shipping Company steamer Lord Strathcona, became unmanageable and was placed under tow for Queenstown.

Considerable damage was reported at Belfast, where twelve persons were injured by flying debris. The collier Enniskillen is believed lost in the Irish Sea.

All parts of England tonight reported damage. Roofs were blown off houses and trees uprooted in the rural districts, where isolated casualties occurred. The damage in London was slight.

'Rubaiyat' Wins High Praise as Club's Offering

The presentation of "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" in the Fiesta Room of the Ambassador Hotel last night was declared by members one of the most successful undertakings in the history of the Opera and Fine Arts Club. More than 3000 persons crowded the auditorium and hundreds were turned away.

Not only the stage, but the auditorium was decorated in Persian effect. The walls were hung with rugs and draped in richly colored designs and quaintly fashioned brass lamps swung from the ceiling. Edward Langley, desert painter, staged the production and supervised the decorations.

Horace M. Gardner, formerly director of the New York Theater Guild, directed the production from the script of Maurice Feldman. Joseph Swickard presented the character of Omar, and other names on the program were Tarahancuise Khanum, Mirza Ahmed Sohrab, Gilbert Clayton, Wynona Boniface, Ruth Reynolds, Walter Philip Farrell and George Addo. A large ballet, personally directed by Ernest Belcher, supplied one of the colorful phases of the production. The music was especially arranged by Charles Wakefield Cadman.

Because of the many persons who were denied admittance last night, executives of the Opera and Fine Arts Club are planning other presentations. These probably will be made the first and second Sundays of February in the Ambassador Theater.

Rudolph Richter, Waverly, Mass., was master, and M. D. Clark, Norfolk, Va., was first officer. J. Donovan, San Francisco, was a member of the crew.

Permanent Injunction Issued Against Further Use of Spraying Device as Patent Infringement

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28. (AP)—United States District Judge Kerrigan today issued a permanent injunction against the present paint-spraying device used by the Ford Motor Company on the ground that it is a patent infringement. Attorneys for the plaintiffs said that "there is a very large amount of money involved."

The plaintiffs are the Alliance Securities Company of San Francisco, owners of the Blake F. Hopkins patent on a paint-spraying brush. The patented device, they contended, also is incorporated into the brushes now being used to paint Ford automobiles, thus constituting a basic patent violation by the defendant company.

The court instructed that a full accounting should be had before a master in chancery to determine the amount due the securities company. Counsel for the plaintiff contended the assertion that Ford will not run into the millions is not to be a very large amount."

The evidence showed that the adoption of the device by the Ford company was of comparatively recent origin.

The device, which in effect is a air brushes, was perfected about 10 years ago by Blake F. Hopkins, a San Francisco luxury painter. He claims has won a number of suits against large corporations for patent infringement, his claims formerly having been sustained by the United States Supreme Court. The action against the Ford plant was filed three months ago.

PLAYERS OF SCREEN WED IN RIVERSIDE

Jobyna Ralston and Arlen Slip Quietly Away for Marriage Service

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—A romance which began with the meeting of a man and a maid last summer on the shores of Lake Arrowhead reached its climax last night with the marriage of Jobyna Ralston and Richard Arlen at the Mission Inn here.

JOBYNA RALSTON

The marriage was private and not a word of advance notice had been whispered in Hollywood's motion-picture colony. Shortly before 6 o'clock two cars arrived at the Inn. A little later Justice of the Peace Difani was summoned and the ceremony performed. "Buddy" Ralston, brother of Jobyna, attended Arlen, while Audrey Brown served as bridesmaid.

Miss Ralston had just finished a contract as Harold Lloyd's leading lady. In a new picture she will appear opposite her husband as his sweetheart.

The bride and groom said that they would stay in Riverside several days and then return to Hollywood. Later, they say, they will take an extended honeymoon.

Producers Lay Plans to Clean New York Stage

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Winthrop Ames, theatrical producer, was appointed today by the producers of New York to head a censorship committee of his own choice to confer with the city administration on ways and means of bettering the stage. The appointment was made at a closed meeting at the Hotel Astor called by Richard Herndon, producer of the annual Harvard prize play. Seventy-six of the seventy-eight producers of the city were represented.

The committee, Mr. Herndon said, will be made up exclusively of theatrical people. It is the first response to Mayor Walker's suggestion that producers themselves attack the problem of stage censorship. Mr. Herndon said there is no intention to lobby at Albany against a proposed censorship bill.

Less Sympathy for Criminals Asked by Baker

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (AP)—Less maudlin sympathy by the public for criminals and more sympathy with agencies engaged in law enforcement are needed to control present-day crime conditions, Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, former Secretary of War, told the midwest conference of the special committee on fire arms regulation of the National Crime Commission today.

PARIS, Jan. 28. (AP)—Wireless fans have excellent practice in languages as they listen to what the other waves are saying. This is one advantage they have over Americans.

Even with a two-tube set the French radio enthusiast can hear German, English, Dutch and Spanish spoken. With a larger outfit a dozen other tongues come within hearing and he can listen to, even if he can't understand, the Russian news bulletins from Moscow.

MILLS GIRL WILL AID BROWNING

Counsel Says Daughter of Slain Choir Singer to be Important Witness

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Charlotte Mills, 20-year-old daughter of the slain choir singer in the Hall-Mills murder case at Somerville, N. J., today was added to the Edward W. Browning separation case when attorneys for Browning announced she has been subpoenaed to appear Monday in White Plains, N. Y.

Just what testimony Miss Mills is to give to help bolster the wealthy New York realty man's case against his young wife was not revealed by Francis Dale, Browning's attorney.

"We can't afford," he said, "to try this case in the newspapers, but it may be said that Miss Mills will be an important witness for my client."

Miss Mills acted as a syndicate feature writer during the Hall-Mills trial, and it was indicated today that she knows pertinent facts concerning the syndicate features to which Mrs. Browning gave her signature, shortly after quitting the Browning home.

ssed the Eighteenth Amend- ts very wording leaves no choice for State Legislatures or Congress in the matter of providing enforcement laws.

"It is itself a positive prohibition, operating by its inherent force to prohibit absolutely the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within the United States."

He pointed out that the Supreme Court has upheld the Volstead provision of ½ per cent, and that if there should be a substitute for the Volstead law, with a provision for higher alcoholic content, it necessarily would be unconstitutional.

CAN'T BE DONE

"Under the Constitution as it now stands, there is no possibility of enacting valid regulatory legislation, which will permit the traffic in liquor containing a percentage of alcohol high enough to be intoxicating," he said.

"I believe that if an attempt were made to repeal the Volstead Act, and to substitute therefor an unconstitutional statute, or no statute at all, the Supreme Court would be constitutionally bound to hold that the attempted repeal was void and of no effect and that the Volstead Act would still remain the law of the land until there was substituted for it some other statute equally consistent with the Eighteenth Amendment and which could be held to provide the essentials of effective enforcement.

"There are only two questions which properly can be considered by the American people at the present time consistently with the principles of their established institutions; and those are first, whether they desire to repeal or modify the Eighteenth Amendment by the means provided in the Constitution; and second, unless and until such repeal or modification is affected, what duties and obligations under the Eighteenth Amendment rest upon the different departments of the Federal and State governments. What action by those governments is lawful under the amendment, and what would be unlawful and unconstitutional?"

SIGNS OF LAWLESSNESS

There are two outstanding symptoms of lawless and disorder in the country, he said. He listed one as the campaign against the Eighteenth Amendment and the other as the prevalence of crime.

"The most disquieting feature of the picture from question," he declared, "is the failure on the part of public officials to realize or live up to their constitutional obligations under the Eighteenth Amendment."

He asserted crime was increasing with "alarming rapidity" long before the days of prohibition.

"The reason must be sought elsewhere, and perhaps the crime wave itself is due to the same causes which led to the present fanatical opposition to prohibition and the present widespread violation of the prohibition laws.

"Regulated, unregulated or absolutely prohibited, the liquor traffic is the very heart and center of the spider's web of corruption, dishonesty and dereliction of public duties, which has for so long undermined the effectiveness of popular institutions throughout a large part of the nation."

"Beginning with 1919," he continued, "we know that there were 8902 homicides reported to the police. In 1925, there were 7778 homicides, a large decrease in view of the increase in population. The figures should indicate that the evil is one of long standing and that there has been no such surprising increase since the adoption of prohibition as to form any basis for regarding prohibition as the cause or even one of the causes of the general prevalence of crime in the United States.

Mr. McAdoo in his address made no mention of politics.

Later he declared that he had not come to Toledo for any conference of a political nature, and declared that he had nothing to say on political questions.

WEEK-END SENTENCE IMPOSED BY JUDGE TO SAVE MAN'S JOB

OAKLAND, Jan. 28. (AP)—Here's a good way to serve a jail sentence without letting the boss know a thing about it. That is if things can be fixed up with the judge.

Lewis Phillips was given three days for speeding. He told the judge he would lose his job if he took that much time off just for the purpose of twiddling his thums in a jail.

"All right," the court said, "we'll make it a week-end party. Show up at the jail at 1 p.m. tomorrow and I will let you out at 6 a.m. Monday. It will be the same thing the following week-end and you will have served your sentence without losing your job.

EQUIPMENT SOUGHT FOR AIR FIELD

Drive Begun in Congress to Obtain More Facilities for Reserve Officers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (Exclusive) A drive has been begun in Congress to get more and better equipment for the reserve officers of the air corps at Clover Field.

The War Department appropriation bill now before the Senate provides for thirty-nine new planes to be built and divided among the twelve army corps of this country. Although it is impossible to get a greater appropriation for planes into the bill, Senator Shortridge is endeavoring to get a greater allowance for fuel and other supplies for use of the reserve corps officers flying from Clover Field.

Representatives from Southern California are sounding the possibility of getting an appropriation into the deficiency bill for further expansion of the reserve corps flying units with particular attention to the Clover Field situation. Considering the shortness of the time before the adjournment of Congress and the inertia of the legal machinery which must be set in motion before the appropriation could be incorporated in the bill it is considered doubtful if any plan other than those provided in the War Department appropriation bill can be gotten for the reserve corps at this session.

Lieut. Munchoff, representative of Clover Field, who flew on to Washington, has laid the facts of the case, the number of officers, more than 400, and the pitifully inadequate number of planes and the utter lack of sufficient supplies for flying at Clover Field before the Senate committee now considering the War Department appropriation bill.

In the event that no action can be taken during this session of Congress Lieut. Munchoff is laying the groundwork with Representatives-elect Crail and Evans and Senator Shortridge for action at the next session.

Jesse Carson Said to be Ill in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Jan. 28. (AP)—Jesse C. Carson, South American swashbuckler who was said to have effected the escape of Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess," from a California prison, may face another adventure.

On a sick bed at a local hotel, suffering with pneumonia, a man who says he is Carson is held under direction of John G. Newell, superintendent of the Oklahoma bureau of investigation, while records are being checked to show whether he is wanted at the State penitentiary at McAlester. Officials at the penitentiary say his fingerprints are the same as those of "No. 8540," known as Arch Stewart, who was sent to that institution for three years in 1912 on conviction of manslaughter.

Stewart was paroled, but his parole was revoked a year later when it was shown that he was arrested at Olathe, Kan., on a charge of cattle theft. He was not returned to Oklahoma, however.

Widows of Two Presidents Will Take Long Tour

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, Jr., widow of Grover Cleveland, and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of another President, are planning to journey through South America together, it was learned today.

Mrs. Roosevelt left two weeks ago for South America and Mrs. Preston sailed last Saturday for the same destination. They are to meet in Rio de Janeiro and continue the tour together.

Mrs. Roosevelt will be the guide. From her previous journeys—only last year she paid a lengthy visit to Cuba, where she unveiled a monument to her husband on San Juan Hill, and then to Yucatan and Panama and South America—Mrs. Roosevelt is well acquainted with that continent.

French Socialists Assail Belief That Living Cost Will be Cut

PARIS, Jan. 28. (AP)—A great error has been made in supposing that the rise in the value of the franc will reduce the cost of living in France, Socialist orators told the Chamber of Deputies today in interpellating the government regarding unemployment.

The Socialists said high taxes were the principal cause of high prices and declared 50,000 workers were drawing unemployment doles with no relief in sight.

Premier Poincare and Minister of Labor Fallieres replied that the government was doing all it could do to care for the unemployed under present economic conditions. They refused to go into the subject further, and at their request the debate was adjourned until next Friday.

DEMOCRATS ASK TAX SHOWDOWN

Resolution Seeks Early Vote of Senate on Revision

Consideration of Question Goes Over Under Rules

Measure for $184,000,000 Deficiency Passes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Senate Democrats today put forward a resolution designed to record the Senate for or against permanent tax revision before March 4.

Consideration of the resolution went over under the rules at the request of Senator Curtis, the Republican leader, but its adoption would have little effect since tax legislation must originate in the House and the majority leaders there have decreed against any general revenue bill at this session.

The resolution was offered by Senator Harrison of Mississippi, after Vice-President Dawes had sustained a point of order against his amendment to the deficiency bill calling for a reduction of the corporation income tax to 11 per cent beginning this year.

TEXT OF PROPOSAL

The text of the Harrison proposal follows:

"Resolved: That it is the sense of the Senate that permanent tax legislation should be enacted during the present session of Congress providing for tax reduction sufficient to absorb the surplus in the Treasury resulting from revenue received under the tax laws now in force."

Republican leaders have yet to determine what their attitude toward the resolution will be. They may let it go through when it is called up tomorrow, or at some later date or may force it to the calendar by a two hours' filibuster as is possible under the rules.

After Vice-President Dawes ruled out the Harrison corporation tax amendment, the $184,000,000 deficiency bill was passed. It now goes to conference for settlement of differences between the two houses.

RAIL MAN MAKES PLEA FOR SCALPER LAW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Ticket-scalping operations cost American railroads approximately $100,000,000 annually, Charles G. Bakcsy, speaking for the carriers, told the Senate Judiciary Committee today in hearings on the McNary bill to outlaw "transportation bootleggers."

Efforts of railroads to eradicate illicit trade have failed for want of Federal legislation, Bakcsy asserted. Persons indicted in one State frequently escape conviction by admitting commission of the crime in another.

BALLOTS ORDERED SEIZED IN PENNSYLVANIA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Seizure of the ballots cast in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county, Pennsyvania, in the Vare-Wilson Senatorial election last November, was ordered today by the Senate Campaign Funds Committee.

The ballots, registration books and other documents used in the election, which William B. Wilson, the Democratic candidate, has contested, will be brought to Washington as were those cast in Philadelphia city and county.

The counting of the ballots will be started before the close of this session of Congress. William S. Vare, Republican, who was elected on the face of the returns from Pennsylvania, and Mr. Wilson will appoint their own representatives to assist in supervision of the work.

COOLIDGE ASKS INDIAN FUND EXPENDITURES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Expenditures out of Indian tribal funds totaling $1,343,000 were asked of Congress today by President Coolidge.

They included construction of buildings at the Santa Fe (N.M.) Indian school, $80,000; additions to Fort Totten (N. D.) Indian school, $75,000; Indian tuberculosis sanatorium at Fort Defiance, Ariz., $55,000; for a road in the Papago Indian Reservation in Arizona, $125,000, and for reclamation work on the Okanogan (Wash.) project, $300,000, and at Riverton, Wyo., $500,000.

IMPEACHMENT OF JUDGE SOUGHT IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—A resolution charging Federal Judge Cooper of the Northern New York district, with usurpation of power in enforcing the prohibition law and demanding his impeachment was referred by the House today to its Judiciary Committee for consideration.

Action came without a record vote and after Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, author of the resolution, had demanded impeachment of the judge on the House floor.

A last-minute move by Representative Stalker, Republican, of New York, to table the resolution, was not voted on, Speaker Longworth holding that it had been offered too late to be in order under the rules.

CHESTNUT GROVES OF NEW ENGLAND EXTINCT

BOSTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—The once-tremendous chestnut groves of New England are extinct, because of ravages of an oriental fungus, said J. Randolph Coolidge III, consulting expert on forestry. The same fate awaits all chestnut trees throughout the country, he warned, unless some method of arresting the blight is found.

Review of Day in Congress

The Senate passed the deficiency bill, without a tax reduction amendment, and took up the naval supply bill.

Sponsors of the Boulder Dam bill expressed a willingness to accept amendments to protect Utah's rights.

President Coolidge signed the Longview (Wash.) bridge bill and vetoed the Shoshone Indiana claims bill.

La Guardia's resolution for impeachment of Federal Judge Cooper of New York, was referred to the House Judiciary Committee.

Another seizure of Pennsylvania ballots, cast in the Vare-Wilson election, was ordered by the Senate Campaign Funds Committee.

The American Cynamid Company's offer to lease Muscle Shoals was considered by the House Military Committee.

The Senate Public Lands Committee approved the Stanfield proposal for investigation of the Herrick lumber contract in Oregon.

Coolidge Uses First Veto of This Session

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Exercising his veto power for the first time at this session, President Coolidge today returned to the Senate without his approval a bill authorizing the Shoshone Indians of Wyoming to submit claims to the Court of Claims.

The bill was sponsored by Senator Warren, Republican, Wyoming, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, who said he will not press for its passage over the executive veto. This means the measure is dead.

The President disapproved the legislation largely on the ground that its proposal for payment of interest from the date of the filing of such claims was an unjustified departure from government policy.

"It seems to me unreasonable to expect that the government should be charged with interest from the dates of the origin of such ancient claims," his veto message said. "The amount of the interest under the enrolled bill is several times greater than the amount of the principal. Should the item of interest be removed, I can now see no reason why the bill should not be approved.

"But if interest is to be allowed on this claim, it will certainly result in an effort to reopen an endless number of claims which already have been settled."

Soldiers to be Equipped With 'Vanity Cases'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (Exclusive) Hereafter doughboys of the United States Infantry will carry "vanity cases," which is the name generally applied to the new kit decided upon today by the War Department.

This new article has been added to the soldier's equipment, Army officials here explained, because such toilet articles in the doughboy's equipment as his toothbrush and razor have heretofore been most nomadic. When one observed a column on the march, toothbrushes could be seen ensnared in hat bands and razors in the top of a legging. Such dispositions were the result of certain experiences where men had turned their toilet articles loose in their packs, later to discover that these articles were lost when the pack was unrolled.

The new toilet kit will accommodate toothbrushes, tooth powder, soap, razor, shaving brush and mirror and will be carried either in the haversack or meat can.

Mrs. Dodge Sues on Grounds of Incompatibility

DETROIT, Jan. 28. (AP)—Mrs. Lois Knowlson Dodge revealed today that she had filed suit for divorce from Horace E. Dodge, Jr., speed-boat manufacturer and son of the late millionaire automobile maker.

"There is nothing sensational in the bill," she said. "It is just a question of incompatibility."

Mrs. Dodge is living at the million-dollar home completed last year by her husband but plans to leave soon with her two children for California. She said she would return to Detroit in two months when she expects her case to be heard.

Mr. Dodge left for Europe a few weeks ago and is said to be in Paris.

They were married June 1, 1921.

RATHBONE TO HEAD ANTI-CATHOLIC RADIO

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Representative Rathbone, Republican, Illinois, it was announced today, is to head the Advisory Committee of 1000, which will direct the great radio broadcasting station which the Ku Klux Klan and other anti-Catholic organizations are establishing adjoining the United States Capitol. The announcement was made today by the Fellowship Forum, the anti-Catholic organ published here.

More than 113,000,000 pairs of shoes were made in Great Britain last year.

SWING ACCEPTS BILL REVISIONS

Agrees to Colton Demand in River Program

Expects Utah, as Result, to Reratify Compact

House Committee Head to Press for Passage

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Proponents of the Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon dam bill, headed by its co-author, Representative Swing, Republican, California, today announced they would accept amendments sponsored by Representative Colton, Republican, Utah, designed to safeguard rights of his State in the proposed Colorado River development.

At the same time, Chairman Smith of the House Irrigation Committee, which reported the measure, declared he would not indorse amendments by another Utah member, Representative Leatherwood, which would place prospective power development under supervision of the Federal Power Commission.

Smith also said if the House Rules Committee did not permit the bill to be brought before the House this session, he would press for action in the next Congress.

In the event no action is taken before Congress adjourns it was predicted that the irrigation committee would report the bill within the first week of the new Congress. This would place it on the House calendar at an early date, Mr. Smith pointed out, and virtually would assure its consideration.

Mr. Swing, in accepting the Colton proposals, said he felt that Utah, in withdrawing recently from the Colorado River Compact, acted as a result of misunderstanding "regarding our attitude toward the upper-basin States." He added that he believed this additional safeguard would result in Utah reratifying the compact.

Representative Davenport, Republican, New York, a member of the irrigation committee, issued a statement, suggesting the Swing-Johnson bill be amended to require the Secretary of the Interior to write into prospective power contracts a "series of rules of financing and advance fixing of legitimate investment costs."

RESOLUTION PROPOSES FEDERAL COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Jan 28 (AP).—A Federal commission to survey possibilities of an equitable use of the waters of the Lower Colorado and the Rio Grande would be created under a resolution introduced today by Senator Sheppard of Texas, Democrat. Mexican interest in the division caused the resolution to be referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

HARD FIGHT ON BANKING BILL LOOMS

Filibuster Threatened Against McFadden Branch Measure in Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—A filibuster against the McFadden branch-banking bill is threatened in the Senate, where a formidable group from Western and Southern States are dissatisfied with the measure as approved by the House.

The first effort will be to have the Hull amendments stricken out of the House, reinserted, and failing in that move, a general fight on the bill is expected, although opponents do not say they can muster strength to defeat it in case the majority leaders press for action.

One of the principal objections of opponents of the measure is the claim that it would permit control by larger banks over many branches over the country, through consolidations and otherwise, with a resultant concentration of wealth.

Among Senators who will demand important changes are Howell, Republican, Nebraska; Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, and Dill, Democrat, Washington.

Senator Pepper, Republican of Pennsylvania, in charge of the bill sought unanimous consent today to have it made the special order of business for 3 p.m., next Wednesday, but Senator Wheeler objected.

NEW TREATY MOVE MADE BY PANAMA

Envoy Ordered to Confer With Kellogg Again About Reopening Negotiations

PANAMA, Jan. 28. (AP)—Ricardo J. Alfaro, Panaman Minister to the United States, who came here early in the month to explain certain points of the new Panama-United States treaty, has been ordered to return to Washington for a conference with Secretary of State Kellogg on the possibility of reopening the treaty negotiations.

Panaman President Chiari, in an interview with the Associated Press correspondent, declared he always considered the treaty did not meet with the "hopes, interests or needs" of the country.

"But," he added, "after negotiations lasting more than two years we signed the pact as the best obtainable, despite its lamentable inconveniences for us Panamans. However, if the opportunity is available and if the United States State Department's attention is propitious for new parleys, which might result in benefiting our interests, we will earnestly make all possible efforts to comply with the Assembly's resolution, for our satisfaction as a government and as Panamans."

The President was referring to the resolution drawn up by the Panaman Congress for suspending consideration of the the treaty pending efforts by the executives to obtain a more satisfactory solution.

ONE DECREE ANNULS BOTH HER WEDDINGS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—On the plea that she was tricked into one marriage and scared into another Mrs. Margaret Walters had both annulled in one decree today. She told Judge Mogan that Willard Walters, a traveling salesman, neglected to tell her when they married in San Rafael that he was not yet divorced from Mrs. Josephine Walters of Los Angeles. She learned it, she said, when the final decree was granted Walters's first wife. Then, she averred, Walters said she would be guilty of bigamy if she did not marry him again. She did, but never lived with him, she declared.

SENATORS RALLY FOR CRUISERS

Amendment to Naval Bill Expected to Pass and Get Approval of House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Vigorous support to a Senate amendment to the naval supply bill providing for immediate construction of three scout cruisers was voiced today in the Senate by both Republicans and Democrats. Chairman Hale of the Naval Committee said afterwards that there is no question of its approval by the Senate. The House voted down an amendment having the same purpose, but proponents of a balanced fighting fleet expressed confidence that the House will accept such a Senate proposal.

Whether the President will approve this change has not been indicated, but some senators said that if he does exercise his veto perrogative, a special session of Congress may be necessary.

Senators Robinson, Republican, Indiana, and Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, took the lead in urging funds to begin construction of the cruisers after the Senate had resumed consideration of the naval bill, and there were some sharp strictures on the administration's economy program, which was blamed for a deterioration of both the Navy and the Army.

Senators Walsh and Copeland, Democrat, New York, also urged an adequate merchant marine as necessary to the support of both the Army and Navy in time of war. The Massachusetts Senator declared it disgraceful the way the merchant fleet has been allowed to disintegrate since the World War.

AIRCRAFT UNDER BAN FOR MEXICO

Kellogg Reimposes Embargo Lifted Last July

Democrats Block Indorsing Government Policy

Coolidge Rejects Suggestion He Meet With Calles

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—The embargo on shipments of aircraft into Mexico was restored today by Secretary Kellogg.

The embargo against nonmilitary aircraft, in effect since the general embargo was ordered on arms and munitions, was lifted last July. Under today's action both military and nonmilitary aircraft are under the ban for exportation into Mexico.

A move in the House Foreign Affairs Committee today to report the Fairchild resolution indorsing the administration's Nicaraguan - Mexican policy was blocked by Democrats who sensing themselves from the committee room to prevent the presence of a quorum.

The Republicans charged the Democrats with deliberately absenting themselves from the committee room, and Representative Connally, Democrat, Texas, did not deny the charge. The minority wants more information on the Nicaraguan - Mexican situation, he said, and wants Secretary Kellogg to appear and give them such information. He insisted committeemen could not indorse the President's position until they knew more about it.

Representative Fairchild, Republican, New York, author of the resolution, replied that the Democrats were playing politics, in marked contrast to a Democratic of a Republican House to a Democratic President during the Venesuela incident in the Cleveland administration.

COOLIDGE REJECTS CALLES CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (Exclusive) President Coolidge today rejected a suggestion to confer informally that he meet President Calles of Mexico, presumably on the Mexican border, and discuss an amicable settlement of the alien land law controversy. Mr. Coolidge took the position that American Presidents are not in the habit of conducting international negotiations in that manner. Passing over the exception constituted by President Wilson's direct negotiation of peace in Paris, Mr. Coolidge recalled that President Washington, when approached directly on a question of foreign relations, had established the precedent of referring all such matters to the Secretary of State.

HEFLIN RENEWS CATHOLIC TALK

Reiterates Charge Against Knights of Columbus

Democratic Colleagues in Caustic Replies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Charges that the Knights of Columbus have sought to embroil the United States in a war with Mexico were renewed in the Senate today by Senator Heflin of Alabama.

Replying to a speech delivered at a Knights of Columbus meeting here last night by Joseph Scott, a Los Angeles lawyer, the Senator said that the meeting itself was an evidence that the Catholic organization is spending money to spread propaganda throughout the United States to cause intervention in Mexico.

Although Mr. Scott had said in his speech that he was opposed to war, Senator Heflin continued, he had aided in preparation of the resolutions adopted by the Philadelphia convention of the Knights of Columbus, which "bristled with war."

The Senator said that the real trouble in Mexico grew out of the refusal of Roman Catholics to submit to governmental regulation under the flag of Mexico.

What the Catholic Church does in Mexico, he added, is no business of this country, but is an internal affair for Mexico to settle for herself.

The only reply to the speech came from two of Senator Heflin's Democratic colleagues. When the Alabaman said he had "received letters from a hundred highly intelligent men and women telling me that if I couldn't be silenced any other way, they would do it by poison, with a bullet, or by other means," Senator Copeland of New York, interrupted to suggest that the Army, Navy and Marine Corps be called out "to protect the precious life of the Senator from Alabama."

"The Army will not be used to protect me and, neither will it be used to uphold the Catholic Church in Mexico," said Heflin. "You can't laugh this situation off. It is too deeply imbedded in the minds of the people."

Senator Broussard of Louisiana interrupted when Heflin declared that one person had written him that the Knights of Columbus was "the standing army of the Pope."

"Does the Senator from Alabama subscribe to that statement?" asked the Louisiana Senator.

"I don't know whether it is true or not," replied Heflin.

"I am a Knight of Columbus," returned Broussard. "In '98 I answered the call of my country and went to fight against a Catholic country, and I think we demonstrated our loyalty."

DEATH LAID TO WORRY

Student Believed to Have Killed Self Brooding Over Examinations

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) Jan. 28. (AP)—Worry over semester examinations and chronic nervousness are believed by friends to have caused Henry R. Kason, junior student of the University of Michigan, to take his own life by poison late yesterday. Efforts were being made today to locate Kason's parents, who are said to be in California.

A note, which made no mention of reasons for suicide, requested that his philosophical library be given to his sister, Mary, and that his room-mate, Charles T. Schisman, Arlington, N. J., take his monthly allowance check, received yesterday.

THIRD BODY FOUND IN NEW YORK FIRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—The body of a third fireman, killed last night in the collapse of three floors of a fire-swept seven-story loft building in the lower East Side, today was removed from the ruins. Five other firemen of ten caught in the wreckage on the street floor were in the hospital today, suffering from fractures, lacerations and contusions.

INTEREST ON DEBTS PAID BY MEXICO

Treasury Sends New York Banks 1926 Installment; Finances Mending

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 28. (AP)—Officials of the Mexican government feel that the financial situation is distinctly improved by the fact that the government, despite the difficulties confronting it, has been able to settle the balance of its foreign debt for 1926 by remitting $3,822,409 to the international committee of bankers at New York. This payment completes the remittance of interest on the foreign debt for 1926 in accordance with the terms of the Pani-Lamont agreement.

The Treasury Department today issued a statement expressing hope that the foreign debt payments may be kept up in the future "even though heroic sacrifices may be necessary, because only in this way can Mexico's credit be rehabilitated."

The foreign oil interests are continuing to mark time, so far as taking any new line of action regarding the cancellation of the drilling permits of those concerns which failed to comply with the new petroleum law is concerned. Meantime the District Courts in Mexico City and Tampico continue to reject applications by foreign oil companies for blanket injunctions against the new law. The present prospect is that the oil fight eventually will reach the Supreme Court.

Encouraging reports continue to be received from various sections regarding the progress the government is making in breaking up rebel bands. President Calles personally sent congratulations to Gen. Gonzalo Escobar upon his success in restoring order in the State of Durango.

OREGON LAW ON SALMON SAVES GAME

Abolition of Fish Wheels in Columbia River Gives Them Chance to Spawn

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 28. (AP)—By legislating out of existence the picturesque fish wheels which have for forty-odd years dotted the banks of the Columbia River, Oregon is giving the game salmon a fighting chance for life.

The mechanical devices are outlawed on the Oregon side of the river after May 1, next. There have been fifty-six wheels in operation on the two banks of the river, and while the Oregon law suspends only those on its own side of the river, it affects about 75 per cent of the quantity taken annually. One wheel alone had a record of taking 24,000 pounds of fish in twenty-four hours.

In the nearly two generations the wheels have been turning they have made millionaires of many men, but they have exterminated an average of 2,000,000 to 8,000,000 pounds of fish yearly. The salmon, swimming near shore to avoid the swift currents, would be caught by traps erected at vantage points, dipped up by the wheels and deposited in troughs. Their capture was on such a wholesale scale not enough would escape to reach the headwaters to deposit their eggs and maintain the supply. Hatchery propagation resorted to proved inadequate.

Ousting of the machines will bring joy to those Indians who still use the primitive style of fishing. In spring and autumn they can be seen at Celilio Falls, which is virtually the only place left to them for getting their annual supply of fish. When the wheels are gone there will be more places to fish.

Magnitude of Colorado Dam Project Told

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—Emphasizing the magnitude of the Colorado River dam project, Herbert W. Crozier, electrical and mechanical engineer, told fellow-members of the Downtown Association that the proposed Boulder dam will form a reservoir as large as San Francisco Bay, and the building of the dam itself will be the greatest engineering feat of the age.

"Eminent scientists and university professors now are busy in their laboratories with some of the technical problems of the undertaking," Crozier said. "Time is the essence of the project, as flood control is essential to the safety and prosperity of the Imperial Valley. Should the Colorado break the Imperial levees, it would take fifty years to repair the overflow damage."

FAITHFUL DOG SOUGHT

Mrs. Marshall Field Offers to Buy Friend of Dead Recluse

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 28. (AP)—Mrs. Marshall Field of Chicago and Washington wants the faithful old police dog that guarded the body of his recluse master, killed Tuesday by an automobile.

In order to save "Old George Barth" from burial in a potter's field, police decided to sell the dog and use the proceeds for funeral expenses. Many offers were received, including one from a representative of Mrs. Field at Washington.

"Old George" will receive proper burial anyway. A cable to the aged man's brother, Dr. Nils Barth, a physician at Erendal, Norway, brought immediate response with burial instructions.

FIRE PERILS HUNDREDS

Flames Rage in Mine and Indirectly Result in One Death

MORGANTOWN (W. Va.) Jan. 28. (AP)—A fire in the No. 1 mine of the Consolidation By-Product Coal Company, in the Scott's Run district, endangered the lives of 200 miners for a time today and was the indirect cause of one death. The fire was brought under control after a fight of several hours, and it was expected that operations would be resumed tomorrow.

Harry Sheldon, 58 years of age, of Fairchance, Pa., died from a heart attack after he reached the surface safely with fellow-workmen, who were in the underground tunnels when an old fire broke out anew.

Center of Storm in December Fight Keeps Post

Coalition Will Have Majority of Some 25 Votes

BERLIN, Jan. 28. (AP)—President Von Hindenburg's ardent wish for a bourgeois coalition Cabinet with leanings to the right was fulfilled late today when Chancellor Marx presented the names of a ministry to succeed the government defeated last December.

The Chancellor presented a coalition Cabinet made up of four Centrists, four Nationalists, two members of the German People's party, and one nonparty member. The Centrist contingent includes a representative of the Bavarian People's party which represents its right wing.

GESSLER RETAINED

Dr. Otto Gessler, Minister of Defense in the last Marx Cabinet, who represents no particular party, will retain his portfolio. It was criticism of his administration of the ministry that largely led to the adverse vote against the Marx Cabinet in December. Foreign Minister Stresemann also is retained.

The new coalition will command 248 votes in the Reichstag, while the opposition, consisting of Democrats, Socialists, Communists and Fascists hold 233 votes, the Economic party, with 21 votes, being benevolently neutral.

The Cabinet slate is as follows:

Chancellor and Minister of Occupied Areas: Dr. William Marx (Centrist.)

Foreign Minister: Dr. Gustav Stresemann (People's party.)

Vice-Chancellor and Minister of the Interior: Dr. Oskar Hergt (German Nationalist.)

Finance Minister: Herr Koehler (Centrist.)

Minister of Economics: Dr. Julius Curtius (People's party.)

Minister of Labor: Heinrich Brauns (Centrist.)

Minister of Justice: Walther Graef (German Nationalist.)

Minister of Defense: Dr. Otto Gessler (who resigned from the Democratic party.)

Minister of Posts and Telegraphs: Dr. Schaetzi (Bavarian People's party.)

Minister of Communications: Wilhelm Koch (German Nationalist.)

Minister of Agriculture and Food: Martin Schiele (German Nationalist.)

BITTER FIGHT

The agreement on the Cabinet was preceded by a bitter struggle for apportionment of seats among the parties, the controversy at times threatening to wreck the whole scheme of the coalition.

A stiff fight for posts occurred within the ranks of the Nationalist Party, as Dr. Marx renounced his right to select the Nationalist members of the Cabinet, leaving it to the party itself to select its representatives.

Influenza in Foreign Lands Shows Gains

GENEVA, Jan. 28. (AP)—Influenza caused 142 deaths in the nine principal maritime cities of Japan from the 1st inst. to the 10th, says a bulletin issued by the League of Nations tonight.

Hungary also is experiencing an influenza epidemic, especially in Budapest.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Public Health Service reports from ninety-three cities with a population of 29,970,000, made public today, showed that for the week ended the 8th, deaths from influenza and pneumonia, were less than for the same period a year ago.

NOOSE KILLS RAY ARNOLD FOR MURDER

"I Am Innocent," States Companion of Sayer as He Mounts Gallows

FOLSOM PRISON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Ray Arnold, former Sacramento automobile salesman, died on the gallows here today for complicity in the murder of a Japanese woman at Penryn, Placer county, in November, 1924. The trap was sprung at 10:06, and Arnold was pronounced dead fourteen minutes and thirty-five seconds later.

"I am innocent," were Arnold's last words before the noose was adjusted. "Cut the rope in thirteen pieces. Send one to each juror and one to the judge."

The condemned man walked to the scaffold with a firm step, refused spiritual consolation and waved aside the guards who would have supported his final steps toward extinction.

Twenty minutes before he died he wrote a letter to Gov. Young in which he is understood to have made a plea for E. K. Sayer of Denver and San Francisco, one of his two companions in the crime. Sayer is scheduled to hang next Friday.

Hubbard, wealthy Pittsburgh manufacturer, announced this afternoon that an appeal would be taken to the United States Court of Appeals in Anne Caldwell's breach of promise suit against him. BESTOWER OF PLUMS DUE SOON

Gov. Young Plans Trip to South Next Week—Maybe; Slate Ready for Him

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28. (Exclusive) Gov. Young soon will make a trip to Los Angeles on matters of State business and also to confer with some of the political leaders in the south relative to appointments yet to be made by the executive. The Governor may make the trip next week. He spent two days of this week in San Francisco.

Among the important appointments still to be made and those most prominently mentioned for the jobs, are: Corporation Commissioners—J. L. Friedlander, City Prosecutor of Los Angeles, and George P. Edwards, editor of the Coast Investor and Coast Banker, of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Board of Control (one vacancy)—Mayor John L. Bacon of San Diego.

Highway Commissioner (one vacancy)—Dr. H. W. Goodrich, Lanares; Thomas E. Risley, J. B. Johnson and W. F. Chandler, all of Fresno, and Vaughan Whitmore of Ceres.

Gov. Young has announced the third member of the commission will be selected from Central California.

TWO MORE VICTIMS OF GANG HATE

Illinois Officer and Wife Missing Without Trace After Raid Upon Home

MARION (Ill.) Jan. 28. (Exclusive) The names of State Highway Patrolman Lory Price and his wife today were added to the long list of persons who have incurred the hatred of gangsters of "Bloody Williamson" county and have disappeared. In a majority of cases the bodies are found, but there are many instances where no trace ever has been picked up and the case goes into the limbo of mysterious and half-forgotten crimes.

Price and his wife were dragged from their home, some time during the night of the 17th inst. Footprints in the snow showed that Price was barefoted and indicated that a desperate struggle had taken place. Rigid search over three counties has been made by highway police, sheriffs and police without discovering a single clew to the mystery.

The three Shelton brothers, gang leaders, are to go to trial at Quincy next Monday for robbing the mails. It is believed Price and his wife knew who burned the Charley Birger cabin and slew the four inhabitants, a crime charged against the Sheltons, and that he was to be called for testimony. At the inquest he testified that he visited the cabin on his tour of the highways, only a few hours before it was bombed and burned, but that he did not know who killed the inmates and burned the cabin. Later, it was intimated that he did know and was to be recalled and questioned more closely.

Five-Day Work Week Favored by Federation

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan 28. (AP)—The American Federation of Labor is pledged to the advocacy of the five-work-day week and increasing wages in industry, William Green, president of the federation declared, speaking at the United Mine Workers' convention today.

"We have reached a point in industrial development where a further reduction in working hours can take place without a slump in productivity," Mr. Green said.

Commenting upon wages, the federation president asserted: "You cannot have prosperity and low wages."

The convention was debating proposed increases in officers' salaries when it adjourned until tomorrow.

The constitutional committee recommended raising President John L. Lewis' salary from $8000 to $12,000 a year, and the vice-president's and secretary's from $7000 to $9000 each.

NEW ACTION IN HIGH LINE PLAN

Arizona Seeks Permit for Glen Canyon Dam

Text of Application Spread on State Records

Step Appears to Put Official Seal on Project

PHOENIX, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—In the proceedings of the board of directors of State institutions has been spread the text of an application made to the Federal Power Commission for preliminary permit for construction by the State of a rock-fill or gravity dam, 595 feet in height, across the channel of the Colorado River at a point four miles above Lee's Ferry and 145 miles north of Flagstaff, at what is known as the Glen Canyon dam site.

In the application, the statement is made that the resultant reservoir would impound 30,501,260 acre feet of water, backed into Utah and into the channel of the San Juan River. It is set forth that the water to be stored would be diverted from the river at Bridge Canyon, in Northwestern Arizona, and that the dam "thus will be an integral part of the Arizona highline reclamation project, which contemplates the irrigation of 4,000,000 acres of land in Arizona."

This action appears to put the official seal of the State on the highline project, as the main basis on which Arizona lays claim on any material part of the river's flow. It is to be noted that the State claims even 1,000,000 more acres than the highline association, in which there has been frank acknowledgement that all figures are more or less speculative. Within the Governor's circle there has been admission that the highline scheme is appreciated as visionary, but the statement is made that it should be given a place in the Colorado River negotiations as something that might come to pass some time. It is viewed in the nature of a talking point.

The Glen Canyon site already is under location by the Southern California Edison Company, which is understood to have spent several hundred thousand dollars in surveys and bedrock borings. It is an essential unit of the highline plans.

INTRUDER KILLED

SAFFORD (Ariz.) Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—John Willis, owner of a store at Geronimo, thirty miles west of this point, shot and killed a man whom he found concealed at his home when he returned in the evening. Investigation showed an attempt at robbery. Willis was exonerated by a Coroner's jury. The man killed had underclothing with a prison mark believed to identify him as J. B. Johnson, paroled last year from the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

THIRTY-TWO INDICTMENTS

PHOENIX, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—Thirty-two bills were returned by the Federal grand jury after a two-day session. Most common of the charges were of transporting automobiles from another State, with inclusion of indictments of George Hill and Jack Bartel from Bakersfield; J. W. Rogan and William A. Vail from San Diego; Norman C. Egge from Los Angeles; Bert Holden from San Bernardino; Leonard Novak and William Smith from King City; Orville Wells from Fort Worth, and Malcolm Tate from Greenville, Tex. Charles Sauer, a youthful clerk of the Phoenix National Bank, arrested at Winslow, is charged with misapplication of $484. Grey Eyes, a Navajo Indian, is charged with intent to kill in the shooting of Paul E. Grandall, a prohibition agent, when the latter stopped the Indian's vehicle on a road. Two Pima Indians are held for robbery of the home of the Catholic priest at Sacaton.

FISH LIVE IN HOT WATER

AGUA CALIENTE (Ariz.) Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—Bob Birch, who operates the Agua Caliente resort, west of Phoenix, proudly recites that carp thrive on his place in a pond that has an average temperature of 100 deg., maintained by accessions of water from hot springs. They die if placed in cool water.

DYKES HELD GREAT NEED FOR MEXICO

Colorado River Barriers Against Flood Waters Urged on Officials

CALEXICO, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—J. C. Allison, well-known Calexico engineer and ranch operator of Lower California, has succeeded in interesting Luis Leon, Secretary of Agriculture for Mexico, in the vital need to construct protective dykes along the banks of the Colorado River in Lower California in order to prevent the possibility of flood damage during the high-water period, according to reports received from the Mexican capital today.

Allison, who is in Mexico City conferring with Leon and other government officials of the republic, presented a graphic picture of the present condition of the Colorado River delta and the extreme danger existing not only for the American Imperial Valley but to the delta lands of Lower California and of Sonora and the Yuma Valley as well. A considerable quantity of the provisional embankments were partially destroyed during high water last year and both banks of the river must be repaired before high water again arrives, Leon was told. This fact is pretty well known to the Agricultural Department of Mexico, it developed during the conference.

Secretary Leon admitted that a number of technical engineers had visited Lower California and made a first-hand examination of the conditions and that engineers are still engaged in making a survey. This is being done partly as a preliminary to plans to strengthen the river barriers and partly in anticipation of negotiations between the United States and Mexican governments regarding the distribution and division of the waters of the Colorado as well as flood-preventive measures.

SALIDA POSTOFFICE ROBBED

MODESTO, Jan. 28. (AP)—Burglars last night robbed the postoffice at Salida, ten miles north of here, of approximately $60 in cash after the safe combination had been knocked off and the door pried open. The Salida postoffice has been robbed four times in the past few years.

BRITISH AUTHOR FREED

Whispering Gallery Fraud Laid to Hesketh Pearson

LONDON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Hesketh Pearson was acquitted by a jury today of the charge of obtaining £225 from the John Lane Publishing Company under false pretenses by asserting that his book "The Whispering Gallery" was written from the diary of Sir Rennell Rodd.

Pearson admitted that he wrote the book himself and that Sir Rennell was not involved, but declared he assumed the publishers knew the true situation.

Because of its asserted revelations concerning prominent personages, "The Whispering Gallery" caused a sensation at the time of its appearance last November. It was withdrawn from publication in England within twenty-four hours, due to questions as to its authenticity.

INCOME TAX LAW CLARIFIED

This is the tenth article of a series explaining the Federal income tax law.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (Exclusive) With a certain proviso, compensation paid by a State or "political subdivision thereof," such as a county or city, to its officers and employees is not taxable income. The proviso is that the services of such officers and employees must be rendered in connection with the "essential governmental functions of the State or political subdivision," as distinguished from its proprietary function. The salaries of the Governor of a State, Mayor of a city, Councilman, board of aldermen, public-school teachers, policemen and firemen are not taxable. But the compensation received by employees of waterworks owned and operated by a municipality, or of a municipally owned and operated street railway is taxable, for the reason that they are engaged in the activities of a State which are not governmental.

Fees for special services to a State are taxable, as for example, compensation paid architects and builders for planning and erecting a State capitol, courthouse, or other State or municipal buildings. An officer or employee of a State, for the purpose of the income tax law, is one whose services are continuous, and not occasional or temporary.

In general, the salaries of Federal officers and employees are subject to the income tax. The salaries paid Federal judges are not taxable, the United States Supreme Court having so decided.

Compensation paid by the District of Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii to its officers and employees is taxable income, as they are not States or political subdivisions thereof.

EX-PRINCE RILED

American Circus Stunt Offer Turned Down by Kaiser's Son

DOORN (Holland) Jan. 28. (AP)—Former Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany is constantly being importuned by promoters of various schemes who desire to capitalize his name, he said today.

One of the most ridiculous of these unsolicited offers was that he appear as a "specialty" in a circus. This proposal came from America. There is no truth, he said, in published reports that he was to appear in a motion picture to be filmed at Wiertingen, scene of his former exile.

Frederick William came here to attend the celebration yesterday of the sixty-eighth birthday of his father, the ex-Kaiser.

The Dublin radio broadcasting station is entirely under government ownership and control.

Half Holidays in School Put Under Law Ban

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28. (AP)—School holidays in California must be whole days or none. Such was the ruling of Atty.-Gen. Webb here today in reply to an inquiry from the District Attorney of Stanislaus county as to whether school trustees could declare a half-holiday.

This is said to be the first ruling on the question.

COLLEGE MEN OBTAIN PATENT

Manufacture High Voltage Electric Switch

Local Company to Make First Practical Tests

Invention to Save Expenditure of Large Sums

PASADENA, Jan. 28.—The vacuum electric switch invented by Dr. Robert A. Millikan and Prof. R. W. Sorenson of the California Institute of Technology a few months ago is now being prepared for commercial use, and the first trials of the device outside the institute laboratiles will be made by the Southern California Edison Company.

The invention, simple in appearance, is expected to revolutionize methods of shutting off high-voltage currents, such as those supplied by the large power companies.

Up to the present time, the process has been costly because of the fact that the best known method involved the use of great oil reservoirs which absorbed the shock of the arc which followed the shutting off of high-voltage currents.

Prof. Sorensen decided three years ago that this method could be improved upon, and decided that if the current could be shut off in a vacuum, the arc would be eliminated entirely. With the aid of Dr. Millikan, head of the California Institute, he perfected his vacuum switch recently and the scientists have applied jointly for patents.

The model to be used by the Southern California Edison Company is being built now at the institute, and, as planned, will handle a load of 60,000 volts. Other models have already successfully handled currents of 1000 amperes at 40,000 volts.

If the tests of the Southern California Edison Company prove satisfactory, there will be a great demand for the switches, as the large power companies have been trying for years to devise some such invention.

Dam Project Will be Up to Water Users

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 28.—Passage or rejection of the project to dam the Kern River at a point two miles below Isabelly and impound the river waters for storage in North and South Fork valleys will be determined definitely this summer by a vote of all members of the Kern River Water Storage District, directors announced today.

The announcement was made in anticipation of a detailed engineering report and figures of the cost of the dam, now being prepared by A. L. Trowbridge, chief engineer for the storage district, for presentation before the directors in the near future.

Engineer Trowbridge's report will give for the first time an accurate estimate of the money needed for the dam, and distribution of assessment for the work among the district's members. If approved by the directors the final vote on the undertaking will be put to the entire district, taking in 250,000 acres on the east side and central section of the valley. By the vote of the members a decision will be reached as to whether the dam will be built or the proposition tabled and the irrigation district disbanded.

STRAW VOTE TO REGISTER OPINION

LONG BEACH, Jan. 28.—The straw vote, which has become the vogue at Long Beach elections during the past year, will again be brought into play on March 9, next, the date set for a special bond issue and charter acceptance election, when voters will be given an opportunity to express unofficially their sentiments regarding a new Long Beach municipal auditorium. Voters will also be asked at the election to express a straw-vote sentiment as to location of the new auditorium.

Included on the ballot at the election will be a proposal to authorize $35,000 in bonds for architectural plans for a new auditorium, in addition to several million dollars in bonds for gas and water department improvements.

BLIND MAN MAKES SUCCESS IN TRADE

EL MONTE, Jan. 28. — A little more than five years ago a blind man opened a small grocery store in El Monte. He prospered and branched out to the neighboring towns and now has four stores located in the various towns in the San Gabriel Valley. This week he incorporated his stores and plans to immediately open six more establishments which will give him a chain of ten stores in the San Gabriel Valley.

All this has been done by E. W. McDaniel in the face of what would normally be considered an insurmountable handicap and in a period of five years. The new corporation is headed by Mr. McDaniel as president and Dan W. McDaniel as vice-president, and T. A. Smith as secretary.

FILE INJUNCTION TO PREVENT ANNEXATION

REDONDO BEACH, Jan. 28. — The Huntington-Redondo Company, owners of 800 acres of the 4000-acre tract affected by the annexation election in which the territory became a part of the city of Torrance, have filed an injunction suit against the city officials of Torrance protesting the election.

The protest is based on the fact that the Huntington-Redondo Company as owners of the territory had no vote in the annexation and were directly affected by the action. The preliminary hearing has been set for February 7 and will be watched with interest in Redondo Beach, where the tract involved has long been considered a part of the city.

HOST TO STUDENT BODY LEADERS

Virgil Cazel

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 28.—Sixty-five presidents and representatives of student bodies from high schools throughout the State were guests of the Santa Monica High School today, accepting invitations sent out by Virgil Cazel, president of the student body here. High-school athletics, dramatics, education, coeducation and a permanent organization of student bodies of the State were discussed at the gathering.

Harold J. Stonier of U.S.C. was the chief speaker at a noonday luncheon in the school cafeteria. Other speakers were Principal W. F. Barnum, Superintendent of Schools F. F. Martin, George Hart and Charles E. Warren. The Pomona College Glee Club, which sang for the assembled student dignitaries at an afternoon assembly, was slated to give a concert tonight at the Santa Monica Bay Women's Club.

President Cazel of the Samohi student body, who is active in behalf of a permanent State organization, presided at the conference.

CHURCH WORKERS CONCLUDE MEETING

WOMEN OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HOLD THREE-DAY SESSION

BALBOA ISLAND, Jan. 28.—The three-day meeting of the Los Angeles Presbyterial and the State Synodical Society held here closed today. Representatives of ninety-six missionary societies in Southern California were present at the meeting. According to Mrs. David M. Thomas, president of the Los Angeles Presbytery, the meeting was the first of its kind ever held by the missionary societies of the Presbyterian Church.

Each year it has been the custom of the State Synodical Society to hold a three-day business and social meeting and the Los Angeles Presbytery has also held a similar meeting. This year it was decided to combine the two meetings and hold a retreat at the clubhouse of the Presbyterian Church on Balboa Island. State officers of the Synodical Society were in charge of the first day of the session.

Among the State officers of the society present were Mrs. Margery Schuberth of Pasadena, State president of the society; Miss Helen Judson of Pasadena, State president of the society; Mrs. R. W. Jones of Orange, State secretary of education for the synodical society; Mrs. R. W. Cleland of Los Angeles, Mrs. M. C. Hayes of Pasadena and Mrs. E. L. McCartney of Upland, heads of various departments.

The last two days were devoted to the Presbyterial activities. Plans for missionary work in Southern California for the coming year were outlined and discussed at the retreat. More than 100 women were present.

SLAYER ENDS LIFE

Son Witnesses Murder and Suicide by Divorced Husband

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 28. (AP)—Jesse Wilkins, 35 years of age, this afternoon shot and killed his divorced wife, Alfretta Wilkins, 30, and then turned the weapon on himself, dying instantly. The woman died a few minutes after reaching the hospital. The shooting was witnessed by the couple's 11-year-old son, Louis.

The couple had been divorced for several months, the son making his home with his father from choice, the police learned. The mother went to the husband's apartment this morning to get the boy and take him to a physician. A quarrel which followed terminated in the shooting.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF CONSERVATION URGED

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Jan. 28. (AP)—Pointing out that the more than 370,000 square miles of public lands in the United States are administered by a considerable number of unrelated and unco-ordinated bureaus, President George D. Pratt of the American Forestry Association, today urged the adoption of "an all-inclusive conservation policy" and the co-ordination of policies "into a separate department to be known as the department of conservation, or one equally well named."

FILMS OF MARIE'S TRIP SHOWN IN BUCHAREST

SEND DOCTOR TO HOSPITAL

Court Order Saves Physician from Prison Camp

Convicted of Driving While Intoxicated

Is to Receive Treatment for Drug Habit

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 28.—Instead of jail, Dr. J. C. Pond, Upland physician and former president of the Iowa State Medical Society, went to the Southern California State Hospital today as a drug addict.

By his voluntary commitment, Dr. Pond was permitted to enter the hospital after he had been sentenced to serve one year in the county prison camp for driving an automobile while intoxicated.

There is, however, a string attached to Dr. Pond's commitment to the hospital. He must report to the court in the event that he is paroled or discharged as cured of the drug habit before the expiration of his one-year sentence.

Dr. Pond admitted in court that he was addicted to the use of morphine. Physicians who examined Dr. Pond substantiated his statement and recommended that he be confined to the hospital for treatment.

Dr. Pond had previously been denied parole by Superior Judge Charles L. Allison when he pleaded guilty to driving his automobile while intoxicated. He was arrested on the night of October 22, 1926, at Upland when his automobile crashed into a machine driven by Howard Doud, assistant manager of the Arrowhead Springs Hotel.

Dr. Pond told the court that he was formerly on the medical staff of Mayo Brothers' Hospital at Rochester, Minn.

Lay Charter Plans Far in Advance

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 28—Although Riverside will not go about its civic affairs this summer under a new charter and will be governed by the 20-year-old book of rules until 1929, members of the Citizens' Charter Committee will meet tonight in the Chamber of Commerce offices to continue work on the 150-page book.

Final reports from various subchairmen of the committee have been called for tonight's session by W. B. Clapp, chairman of the group. The committee probably will go over the charter again, carefully preparing each amendment before continuing election work. Petitions to call an election of a Board of Freeholders are ready for the City Council, but they may not be used. The committee may decide to place candidates for the board on the general election ballot of November, 1928, when a new city government will be named. If this procedure is followed the committee will have everything prepared before the election so the board can turn out the charter amendments in a short time, have them published and ready to present to the State Legislature at the opening of the 1929 term. The city will be saved the price of a special election that way.

WALNUT MEN TO NAME NEW OFFICERS

LANKERSHIM, Jan. 29.—President Brant of the San Fernando Valley Walnut Growers' Association has issued a call for the annual meeting of the organization to be held in the packing plant of the association at Lankershim, on Monday, February 14, next. Officers will be elected and the program for the coming season mapped out. One of the important questions to be settled at this time will deal with the proposed removal of the packing plant from Lankershim to a site in Van Nuys or at a point farther west in San Fernando Valley, which will be more central to the majority of the walnut groves. Several years ago the largest walnut interests were in the vicinity of Lankershim, but because of the increase of population and the destruction of walnut groves by tract subdivisions most of the walnuts grown are now in the central and western parts of the valley. In times past there also were huge peach and apricot orchards near Lankershim. Most of these have disappeared in the path of the bungalow builders with in the last three or four years.

NEW PRINCIPAL FOR PASADENA SCHOOL

PASADENA, Jan. 28.—John W. Harbeson, dean of Pasadena Junior College, was elected principal of Pasadena High School today by unanimous vote of the local Board of Education. He will succeed William P. Ewing, whose resignation takes effect at the end of the current school year.

Harbeson has been a member of the local high school staff since 1920 and when the junior college opened in 1924, he was made its head. The success of the latter institution has been due largely to his efforts, according to Board of Education members.

The board adopted a resolution thanking Ewing for his services to Pasadena High School. He has been its principal since 1920 and leaves to take the position of assistant superintendent of schools at Oakland.

TOURNAMENT SETTLES SUIT OUT OF COURT

PASADENA, Jan. 28.—Suit against the Tournament of Roses Association brought by Francisco & Ellington, Los Angeles contractors, who claimed $70,000 for construction fees on the Rose Bowl, has been settled out of court for approximately $1000, Hahn & Hahn, attorneys for the tournament association, stated today.

The action involved work done in excavating for the Rose Bowl in 1922 and the suit has been in the courts since then. The tournament association admitted an indebtedness of only $854.90. The dispute arose after an original agreement was modified by a second contract.

MAYOR AID TO FORGER

Official Obligingly Fills Out Check for Signature of Impostor

REDLANDS, Jan. 28.—Mayor Allen Wheaton, well-known merchant, is an obliging man, so obliging that today he filled out a check in his own handwriting and watched a man forge a name to it. Then he cashed the check of E. C. Hart, who did not have a heart.

No one in Redlands is more familiar with the streets here than Mayor Wheaton and yet the Mayor smiled courteously while he watched the check-writer pen the impossible address. Eighth street and Orange street are parallel to each other and are four blocks apart.

Fortunately the check which Mayor Wheaton filled out in his own flowery writing before giving it to the customer to sign, was for only $5. Several downtown firms yesterday submitted fictitious checks bearing the signature of E. C. Hart, who, according to the police, has no account in any of the Redlands banks on which the checks were drawn.

BURBANK, Jan. 28.—Burbank's new broadcasting station, KELW, owned and operated by Earl L. White at Magnolia Park, will go on the air on the anniversary of Lincoln's birthday, February 12, according to an announcement by Mr. White this morning.

The new radio station will give entertaining and educational programs under the direction of experienced radio men. KELW will begin operation on 100 watts power with a wave length of 535 meters, but it is the intention of Mr. White to increase the power to 1000 watts with more complete instruments which will put the station on a par with the best in the country.

The personnel of the KELW staff, so far engaged, is made up of experienced radio men. They are, Stuart F. Wainwright, operator and mechanician, who has installed the plant; George W. Bunton, general manager of the station; Harry A. James of Glendale, announcer, and Tom Murray of this city, assistant.

The station is located at the corner of Magnolia Boulevard and Hollywood Way. There will be in the suite of rooms of the station, the main broadcasting room, a visitor's gallery, business office and operator's room. The visitor's gallery is to be divided from the broadcasting room by plate glass which will give the visitors a view of the entertainers.

The opening program will be specially featured with addresses by members of the city Board of Trustees and officials of the different civic bodies of the city.

Buddies to Build Home for Widow of War Veteran

VENTURA, Jan. 28.—When Ramon Ochoa, Santa Paula veteran of the World War and a member of the American Legion, died in the Soldiers' Hospital at Sawtelle, of tuberculosis contracted in the service, he left a widow and two children, practically destitute.

Ventura County Post, No. 48, American Legion, secured all the insurance money obtainable for the widow, with which she has bought a lot in Santa Paula. Recently the Women's Auxiliary of the County Legion Post and the Red Cross bought sufficient lumber, and on Sunday, February 6, members of the County Legion Post are to meet at Santa Paula to build a home for the woman and her family. It was announced by Anjutant Julien Hathaway that the volunteer construction gang of the Legion post is to meet at 9 o'clock that morning at the lot, at which time it will begin construction with the idea of completing the house in one day.

LONG-DELAYED WORK STARTS ON CROSSING

MISSION ACRES, Jan. 28.—Work has started on the building of the long grade crossing over the Southern Pacific tracks at Sepulveda avenue. The boulevard has been paved for some time. Because of the lack of the crossing at the tracks a long detour of about a quarter of a mile has been used for about a year. Notwithstanding $2000 was appropriated to build the crossing quite a while ago, all sors of red-tape delays have held up the actual work. With the work fairly well started, it is believed, the crossing will be completed and opened to travel within two or three weeks. When finished the Sepulveda Boulevard thoroughfare will provide a direct paved connection between Mission Acres and the Van Nuys district in San Fernando Valley.

BATTLE HIGH FREIGHT RATE

Southern California Counties Claim Discrimination

Would Reduce Cost of Hauling Stone and Gravel

Prepare Complaint to Railroad Commission

SANTA ANA, Jan. 28.—Half a score of prominent officials and traffic authorities of Southern California assembled today at the Orange County Courthouse to confer on the freight-rate complaint filed by this county with the State Railroad Commission, soon to be presented at a hearing.

Responding to a call from Dr. F. W. Stabaugh, Orange county purchasing agent, who is president of the Southern California Counties' Joint Traffic Association, members of this body attended today's meeting and heard the rate situation discussed by the secretary, George S. Strait, traffic manager for Los Angeles county.

The Orange county case is designed to bring lower freight rates on rock and gravel for road construction to the entire southern portion of the State, which it is charged is now being discriminated against by the railroads in comparison to Northern California. The Railroad Commission is scheduled to hear the complaint February 16 in Los Angeles.

According to the explanation given by Strait, at today's conference, Northern California receives a rate of 50 cents per ton for a forty-mile haul, while Southern California is forced to pay 60 cents per ton for a twenty-five-mile houl. Orange county is demanding to be placed on a par with Northern California. Reviewing the history of the rate question today, Strait said that following the war rates soared up to 60 cents per ton on a twenty-five-mile haul. Diligent and persistent work finally got them down to the Northern California rate of 50 cents per ton for a forty-mile haul, but after nine months the rate was lifted again to 60 cents for a twenty-five-mile haul.

This was done last September. According to Strait, the railroads' explanation of which the southern counties do not accept, is that the lower northern rate is forced by river competition which is reflected not only along the waterways, but in the surrounding portions of Northern California. The southern counties intend to make a vigorous fight for equality through the Orange county case, it is declared.

Dr. Stabaugh stated this morning that because of the location of the gravel beds and rock-crushing plants in this county permitting truck haul, Orange county is not so vitally interested in the rates for road building material, but is interested in obtaining the lower rate on account of the tremendous quantity of rock which it is expected will be necessary to ship in by rail for the development work at Newport Harbor.

"It will mean thousands of dollars saved by obtaining the lower rate," said Dr. Stabaugh. Besides Stabaugh and Strait, those attending the meeting today were E. A. Hornbrok, Supervisor of the Second district, San Diego county; Albert Ford, District Attorney of Riverside county; Case Ford, road superintendent, Riverside county; City Engineer Newton of Ontario; R. G. Manley, city engineer, Upland; R. Bowen, city engineer, Whittier; W. L. Carlson, purchasing agent, Riverside county; B. Byers, traffic manager Chamber of Commerce, San Diego.

Quarantine to Aid in Fight Against Rabies

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 28.—A quarantine against rabies has been established in the interior of the county by Dr. W. B. Wells, county health commissioner.

Hemet and San Jacinto are the new principal communities affected by the new ruling. Six cases of rabies have been reported in the Hemet-San Jacinto Valley during the last month, according to Dr. Wells. Three persons have been bitten by animals afflicted with the disease, his reports say.

Quarantine lines have been established in the district south of Banning and Beaumont, north of Eden, Lakeview and Nuevo, east of Romoland and Antelope, north of Alamo, Hyatt and San Jacinto, which includes the Hemet-San Jacinto Valley and the Soboba Indian reservations. No dogs will be permitted at large unless they wear vaccination tags.

Cases of rabies will be reported to Dr. J. W. Caldwell at Hemet, county live-stock inspector. Quarantine signs will be printed in both English and Spanish, according to Dr. Wells.

At the meeting will be addressed by S. C. Crain, chairman of the Board of Supervisors; Miss Collins and C. R. Holbrook, City Superintendent of Schools, and G. H. Jantzen, dean of the San Bernardino Valley Junior College.

ASSESSES HEAVY FINE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 28.—City Recorder C. W. Warner yesterday assessed the largest intoxication fine in the city, fining Sam Ferrin, 26, local rig builder, $200. BELIEVES IN FUTURE OF MEXICO

American Mining Man on Trip Here Pays Compliment to Southern Republic

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 28.—There is less banditry and murder in Mexico during an entire week than in Los Angeles during a twenty-four-hour period; Mexico under the administration of President Calles is showing a marked advancement and so-called agitation in Mexico does not really exist within her borders, and is the propaganda of factions from without, unfriendly to the southern nation. Such are the optimistic opinions of Frederick G. Emery, president and managing director of the Mexico Consolidated Mines Company, S. A., and resident of Mexico for twenty-seven years, who was in Bakersfield today during a three-day business trip to California.

Mr. Emory will leave for Los Angeles tonight and Saturday plans to return to the State of Sonora, Mex., where his company has extensive silver, copper and lead holdings.

"The government of Mexico is trusting us and all outside interests within her borders with much consideration. Our silver mines, which have been operating in Sonora for almost twenty years, have never been shut down because of government instability, such as one reads of in the press daily. True, Mexico passed some radical oil laws, but they are not discriminating against those companies established before the laws became effective. In 1917 she passed laws which provided that holdings of all companies entering her borders eventually would revert to the state. Holdings were established within her after that time, believing the laws never would be enforced. Now the new interests are kicking.

"When one considers that one-sixth of Mexico's income is derived from oil, he cannot blame the government for its stand."

LONG BEACH OFFICIALS TO GET FACTS CONCERNING CAR SMASH

LONG BEACH, Jan. 28.—Police and Pacific Electric officials today launched investigations to determine the responsibility for the crash of two Pacific Electric passenger cars at Belmont Pier station early this morning, in which five passengers were injured.

A Long Beach-Naples car, in charge of Motorman E. J. Bloodworth, crashed into the rear end of an Alamitos Bay local car while the latter was standing at the passenger station at Belmont avenue and Livingstone Drive. Four of the injured were passengers on the Alamitos Bay car and the fifth was aboard the Naples car.

BUILD RAILROAD TO PINE FOREST

Makes Available Untouched Woodland

Provides Material for Ten Years' Mill Operation

Opens Route to Signal Peak in High Sierras

FRESNO, Jan. 28.—Opening up a heretofore untouched area of virgin sugar pine of the finest quality, a twelve-mile railroad will be built during the coming spring and summer from Sugar Pine, Madera county, to Signal Peak, in the high Sierras, at a cost of approximately $250,000, according to announcement here by the Madera Sugar Pine Company, one of the State's largest producers of this kind of lumber.

Logging has been carried on in the eastern end of Madera county without interruption since 1874, and the opening up of the new area will insure a continuance of the company's operations for ten years, according to E. H. Cox, president of the company.

While no attempt has been made by the company to reforest the area that has been cleared of merchantable timber, there has been built up a fire-prevention system which protects the lands from fire, the theory being the reforestation will take place in the natural course of events where the land is protected from fire, officials said.

Skull Fracture is Result of Auto Accident

FULLERTON, Jan. 28.—Following a sensational crash on the State highway and Orangethorpe avenue [illegible] south of the city limits early today, Carl Salzman, 40 years of age, oil worker, whose home is at Buena Park, near here, is in the Fullerton General Hospital suffering from a compound fracture of the skull. His condition is said to be serious. The light coupe, heading east, was struck with terrific force by a sedan driven by Joe Navarro, of 119 West Chartres street, Anaheim. The cars collided at the intersection, the force of the impact crumpling up the side of the Salzmann coupe and buckling in front of the other machine.

Salvader Navarro, a brother of the driver, sustained a slight injury to his hip in the collision. A third occupant, Feodoro Placentia, also of Anaheim, escaped with only scratches and bruises. The Navarro car is asserted to have been traveling at a high rate of speed and to have passed a motor stage shortly before coming to the corner.

Head of Municipal Court Alters Attitude Regarding Presiding Judgeship

Presiding Judge Henry M. Willis yesterday announced that he will accept the presiding post of the Municipal Courts again if it is shown that such is the wish of the majority of the twenty-four judges of the court.

Judge Willis's decision as announced yesterday constitutes a change in attitude as expressed earlier in the week that he would not be a candidate to re-election to the post of presiding judge.

However, in announcing his willingness to accept the post if re-elected at the election meeting of the judges on February 7, next, he made it clear that acceptance will be based on a conclusive showing of support in his behalf.

"I am influenced in this decision by my belief that it would be detrimental to the best interests of the court to change the presiding judgeship at this time when there are several legislative matters of vital interest to the court pending before the Legislature," Judge Willis said.

Judge Willis explained that he will accept the post, if re-elected, until next June when the new judges elected by ballot, take their places in the court. He declared that it will be necessary to again elect a presiding judge at that time and indicated that an amendment to the court rules for election to the superior post is necessary to avoid creating two terms in the year.

The majority of legislative measures now pending, Judge Willis stated, were drawn up by him or with his consultation and advice.

The present presiding judge further made it clear that regardless of the balloting for that post in the court, he will be a candidate for re-election to the bench in the May primary and June elections.

"Times" Daily Short Story

The Day Resurgent

By O. HENRY

"Pel-Peloponnesus was the place where we left off, and not hippopotamus," said Danny.

IN THE front room of the flat Danny's father sat by an open window smoking his pipe, with his dishevelled gray hair tossed about by the breeze. He still clung to his pipe, although his sight had been taken from him two years before by a precocious blast of giant powder that went off without permission. Very few blind men care for smoking, for the reason that they cannot see the smoke. Now, could you enjoy having the news read to you from an evening newspaper unless you could see the colors of the headlines?

"'Tis Easter Day," said Mrs. McCree.

"You'll be goin' out this day, of course, Danny," said Old Man McCree, a little wistfully. "'Tis a kind of holiday, they say. Well, it's fine spring weather. I can feel it in the air."

"Why should I not be going out?" demanded Danny in his grumpiest chest tones. "Should I stay in? Am I as good as a horse? One day of rest my team has a week. Who earns the money for the rent and the breakfast you've just eat, I'd like to know? Answer me that!"

"All right, lad," said the old man. "I'm not complainin'. While me two eyes was good there was nothin' better to my mind than a Sunday out. There's a smell of turf and burnin' brush comin' in the windy. I have me tobacco. A good fine day and rist to ye, lad. Times I wished your mother had larned to read, so I might hear the rest about the hippopotamus—but let that be."

"Now, what is this foolishness he talks of hippopotamuses?" asked Danny of his mother, as he passed through the kitchen. "Have you been taking him to the zoo? And for what?"

"I have not," said Mrs. McCree. "Have you heard any talk of a hippopotamus?" asked Danny of Mike, the janitor, as he went out the door downstairs.

"I have not," said Mike, pulling his shirt sleeves higher. "But 'tis the only subject in the animal, natural and illegal lists of outrages that I've not been compained to about these two days. See the landlord. Or else move out if ye like. Have ye hippopotamuses in the lease? No, then!"

Around a corner, white-gloved, pink-gilled and tightly buttoned, walked Corrigan, the cop, shield to the curb. Danny knew him.

"Why, Corrigan," he asked, "is Easter? I know it comes the first time you're full after the moon rises on the seventeenth of March—but why? Is it a proper and religious ceremony, or does the Governor appoint it out of politics?"

"'Tis an old celebration," said Corrigan, with the judicial air of the Third Deputy Police Commissioner "peculiar to New York. It extends up to Harlem. Sometimes they has the reserves out at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth at work. In my opinion 'tis not political."

"Thanks," said Danny. "And, say —did you ever hear a man complain of hippopotamuses? When not specially in drink, I mean."

"Nothing larger than sea turtles," said Corrigan, reflecting, "and there was wood alcohol in that."

Danny wondered. The double heavy incumbency of enjoying simultaneously a Sunday and a festival day was his.

The family entrance of Dugan's Cafe was feasible; so Danny yielded to the vernal season as far as a glass of bock. Seated in a dark, linoleumed, humid back room, his heart and mind still groped after the mysterious meaning of the springtime jubilee.

"Say, Tim," he said to the waiter, "why do they have Easter?"

"Kiddo-o!" said Tim, closing a sophisticated eye. "Is that a new one? All right. Tony Pastor's for you last night, I guess. I give up. What's the answer—two apples or a yard and a half?"

From Dugan's Danny turned back eastward. The April sun seemed to stir in him a vague feeling that he could not construe. He made a wrong diagnosis and decided that it was Katy Conlon.

A block from her house on Avenue A he met her going to church. They pumped hands on the corner.

"Gee, but you look dumpish and dressed up!" said Katy. "What's doing? Come away with me to church and be cheerful."

"What's doing at church?" asked Danny.

"Why, it's Easter Sunday. Silly! I waited till after 11 expectin' you might come around to go."

"What does this Easter stand for, Katy?" asked Danny gloomily. "Nobody seems to know."

"Nobody as blind as you," said Katy with spirit. "You haven't even looked at my new hat. And that. Why, it's when all the girls put on new spring clothes. Silly! Are you coming to church with me?"

"I will," said Danny. "If this Easter is pulled off there, they ought to be able to give scores excuse for it. Not that the hat ain't a beauty. The green roses are great."

At church the preacher did some expounding with no pounding. He spoke rapidly, for he was in a hurry to get home to his early Sabbath dinner; but he knew his business. There was one word that controlled his theme—resurrection. Not a new creation; but a new life arising out of the old. The congregation had heard it often before. But there was a wonderful hat, a combination of sweet peas and lavender, in the sixth pew from the pulpit. It attracted much attention.

After church Danny lingered on a corner while Katy waited, with pique in her sky-blue eyes.

"Are you coming along to the house?" she asked. "But don't mind me. I'll get there all right. You seem to be studyin' a lot about something. All right. Will I see you at any time specially, Mr. McCree?"

"I'll be around Wednesday night as usual," said Danny, turning and crossing the street.

Katy walked away with the green roses dangling indignantly. Danny stopped two blocks away.

Suddenly Danny slapped his leg and gave forth a hoarse yell of delight.

"Hippopotamus!" he shouted to an elevated road pillar. "Well, how is that for a bum guess? Why, blast my skylights! I know what he was driving at now."

"Hippopotamus! Wouldn't that send you to the Bronx! It's been a year since he heard it; and he didn't miss it so very far. We quit at 469 B.C., and this comes next. Well, a wooden man wouldn't have guessed what he was trying to get out of him."

Danny caught a crosstown car and went up to the rear flat that his labor supported.

Old Man McCree was still sitting by the window. His extinct pipe lay on the sill.

"Will that be you, lad?" he asked.

Danny flared into the rage of a strong man who is surprised at the outset of committing a good deed.

"Who pays the rent and buys the food that is eaten in this house?" he snapped viciously. "Have I no right to come in?"

"Ye're a faithful lad," said Old Man McCree, with a sigh. "Is it evening yet?"

Danny reached up on a shelf and took down a thick book labeled in gilt letters, "The History of Greece." Dust was on it half an inch thick. He laid it on the table and found a place in it marked by a strip of paper. And then he read, in a short roar at the top of his voice, and said:

"Was it the hippopotamus you wanted to be read to about then?"

"Did I hear ye open the book?" said Old Man McCree, sighing and weary be the months since my lad has read it to me. I dinno; but I took a great likings to them Greeks. Ye left off at a place. Tis a fine day outside, lad. Be out and take rest from your work. I have gotten used to me chair by the windy and me pipe."

"Pel-Peloponnesus was the place where we left off, and not hippopotamus," said Danny. "The war began there. It kept something going for thirty years. The headlines says that a guy named Philip of Macedon, in 338 B.C., got to be boss of Greece by getting the decision at the Battle of Cher-Cheronoea. I'll read it."

With his hand to his ear, rapt in the Peloponnesian War, Old Man McCree sat for an hour, listening.

Then he got up and felt his way to the door of the kitchen. Mrs. McCree was slicing cold meat. She looked up. Tears were running from Old Man McCree's eyes.

"Do ye hear our lad readin' to me?" he said. "There is none finer in the land. My two eyes have come back to me again."

After supper he said to Danny: "'Tis a happy day, this Easter. And now ye will be off to see Kate in the evening. Well enough."

"Who pays the rent and buys the food that is eaten in this house?" said Danny, angrily. "Have I no right to stay in it? After supper there is yet to come the reading of the Battle of Corinth, 146 B.C., when the kingdom, as they say, became an in-integral portion of the Roman Empire. Am I nothing in this house?"

EVIDENCE REELED OFF IN SUIT

Veteran Film Actor Seeking $100,000 as Result of Accident Portrayed in Film Has It Shown to Judge and Jurors When Court Moves to Theater

Judge Gates and the jury in his court hearing the suit of Frederick Peters, veteran picture actor, against the United Studios, Inc., for $100,000 damages he seeks as the result of an accident, will not have to pass conflicting tales of eyewitnesses.

There was a witness of the accident with an unfailing memory, and this witness faithfully retold to the court and jury yesterday every detail of the incident.

Peters, formerly known to the public as a character actor, and in the profession as "The Cinema Giant," was run over by a tractor, according to his complaint, while working in a picture in August, 1925.

As Peters was working in a picture at the time, the camera kept cranking away, and the whole incident was recorded on film. Yesterday the jury hearing the case was taken to a projecting room in a downtown theater and the film was run off before their eyes. Judge Gates went along to preside and "rule on the evidence" as it was unreeled. There were no objections to any of the remarks of the mute "witness."

In one film, "stills" from which were shown to the jury, Peters was depicted throwing a 750-pound lion over his shoulder.

"I'll never be able to do that kind of work again," he said. "One leg is two inches shorter than the other and my picture days are over."

The case is still on trial. The defendant proposes to show that the tractor was driven by an employee of the Hal Roach studios, and that Peters's recourse lies in action under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

KOVNO (Lituania), Enero 28.—Hoy de ingerir una dictadura sobre una república es algo novedoso, aun cuando se trate de una república joven, y apenas han tenido tiempo los lituanios para salir de su estupor desde que el doctor Anton Smetona trastornó el orden de cosas existente, siguiendo el ejemplo de Pilsudski en Polonia.

Aunque la historia de Smetona es casi idéntica a la de Pilsudski, todavía no ha habido nada que indique que el presidente que se ha adueñado del poder, derrocando el gobierno constitucionalmente electo, tenga la intención de coronarse rey.

WASHINGTON, Enero 28.—En la puerta de un mercado de pescado, sito cerca de los muelles de esta capital, puede leerse un rótulo que dice: "No hay para que penetrar con fractura. Puede decirse que son estos signos de la época moderna. Revelan la reacción de los hombres de negocios ante un conjunto de circunstancias contra las que no pueden combatir, y sobre las que no tiene dominio la policía. ¿Para qué echarle el cerrojo a la puerta, si tan fácil es destruir la cerradura? ¿Para qué cerrar la caja de caudales, si pueden abrirsela a uno con la facilidad con que se abre la alcancía de un niño o una lata de sopa? ¿Por qué no invitar a los desagradables huéspedes a que tomen lo que gusten, y hacerles la cosa lo más fácil posible, si de todos modos se han de apoderar de las cosas ajenas de valor, que al dueño le es casi imposible proteger?

Escala Enorme del Proyecto de Presa en el Río Colorado

SAN FRANCISCO, Enero 28.—Poniendo de resalto la magnitud del proyecto de presa en el río Colorado, Herbert W. Crozier, ingeniero mecánico y electricista, dijo a sus compañeros de la "Downtown Association," que la propuesta presa en el cañón de Boulder dará lugar a la formación de un pantano de extensión igual a la bahía de San Francisco, y que la construcción de dicha presa va a ser la mayor hazaña de ingeniería de la época.

Manifestó Crozier que en la actualidad están estudiando en sus laboratorios los problemas técnicos de esta gran empresa, eminentes hombres de ciencia y profesores universitarios. "El tiempo," dijo Crozier, "no la necesita de este proyecto, pues el gobierno de las crecidas es esencial para la seguridad y prosperidad del Valle Imperial. Si el Colorado llegase a romper los diques del citado valle, se gastarían cincuenta años en reparar los daños de la inundación resultante."

'HUTCH' RETURN PLEA MADE

Attorney for Widow of Bunko Man's Victim Asks Young to Seek Reincarceration of Ex-Convict

A letter requesting Gov. Young to take immediate action for the return of Everett A. "Big Hutch" Hutchings to San Quentin has been sent to Sacramento by George M. Pierson, attorney for Mrs. J. B. Norris, widow of the nemesis of the bunko men. At the same time Mrs. Norris let it be known she is preparing for publication a complete story of her husband's pursuit of members of the bunko ring through a score of States. In this article, she declared, she will name public officials who took part both in the prosecution and the protection of bunko men, and give the evidence she has in the latter cases.

"I feel sure that when Gov. Young has the facts before him he will be compelled to act," she said. "I will keep after him until he does."

RETURN ORDERED

The letter of Attorney Pierson follows:

"As attorney for Mrs. Sophia F. Norris, I respectfully call your attention to the following situation which deserves and demands your attention and action.

MRS. J. B. NORRIS.

"A number of months ago through a series of unfortunate circumstances, among which was a gross misunderstanding on the part of the Prison Board, E. A. Hutchings (alias "Big Hutch") was paroled by the Prison Board from San Quentin, where he was serving a seven and one-half years' term as a result of being convicted of bunkoing John B. Norris, now deceased, husband of Mrs. Norris, above referred to, out of $51,000.

"Upon learning of the mistake which had been made Gov. Richardson revoked this parole and ordered Everett Hutchings returned to prison at San Quentin. The courts in New York have ordered the return of this convict, but through the employment of some red tape in New York, this order is being held up.

APPEAL PLANNED

"The District Attorney of this county is antagonistic to any action looking toward the righting of this wrong which has been done and consequently we cannot look to him for any assistance in this matter and we must now appeal to you to see that the executive orders heretofore made in this case are carried out.

"If there is any assistance or information which we can give you at this end of the line, please feel at liberty to call upon us.

"I shall very greatly appreciate an answer to this letter in order that I may be assured that the matter is receiving the attention necessary at this time."

Hutchings was ordered returned by the Appellate Division in New York and announced he intends to take an appeal from the ruling to the Court of Appeals, highest court of the State. When Gov. Young was asked soon after assuming office what action he intended to take in the case, he replied that he was busy with other matters.

POLLY SPEAKS RIGHT UP IN COURT

But She Didn't Tell the Judge to "Shut Up," You Idiot," as the Complainant and Owner's Neighbor Said She Did, for the Court Dropped the Case

GRATZ (Austria) Jan. 28. (AP)—Brought into a courtroom as an exhibit, an African parrot turned itself into an active participant and addressed the judge in such a way that the court refused to proceed with the case.

The suit was brought against Jacob H. Dieser, boarding-house roomer, and owner of the parrot, by Henry Bergner, living in an adjoining room, who complained that every time he started moving about Dieser's parrot would shriek "Keep quiet, you idiot!"

Then the judge decided that such a courageous bird deserved some consideration and declined to grant the demand for its destruction. He advised the parties to settle their case out of court, which they did.

Former Wyoming Rancher Now Earl in Britain Bides Time for Seat in House of Lords

MORCHARD BISHOP (Eng) Jan. 28. (AP)—Oliver Henry Wallop, 65 years of age, American citizen known here on his North Devon estate as the Earl of Portsmouth, is quietly biding his time to take a seat in the House of Lords after punching cattle for forty years on the American prairies.

The Earl of Portsmouth, better known among the ranchers of Wyoming as "O. H.," succeeded to the title last year and immediately came from the United States to claim his estates.

"I shall take my seat in the House of Lords as soon as ever I can, but I think the odds are against me," he says. "For instance, I shall have to reside here four or five years. I am told, and shall have to get out naturalization papers and all that—I became an American citizen in 1906.

"I shall not forget that I owe America a debt of gratitude. After living in a country for more than forty years you rather take root in it, you know. I was 22 years of age when I went to America. It was just the spirit of adventure that took me out there. Those were the good old ranching days and there were, of course, hardships, but nobody considered them so then because everybody had to suffer them. From May 15 to October 15 everyone made his tain times in the week or in the month have considerable sums of money on hand and are ripe for plucking, and that as a rule the safes are pitifully easy to open, with no burglar alarms to be thwarted or avoided, and no nightwatchman always on the job, even though occasionally napping. Hence it is that practically every city in the country has had an unusual number of burglaries in small business establishments.

In Washington the safe in one office has been cracked four times within two years and thieves have played several return engagements at various chain stores. In one instance, apparently finding the safe a bit difficult to negotiate they loaded it into a truck and hauled it out into the country where they could operate on it at their leisure. It is this sort of thing that has led business men to leave their doors and their safes unlocked and to advertise the fact to nocturnal visitors.

Nor is this preying on the smaller establishments confined to safe-cracking. In many cases, the thieves are hold-up artists who march boldly into stores and shops in broad daylight and at the point of a pistol demand the contents of the cash register or money drawer. They are the most dangerous kind of criminals, for they shoot at the slightest provocation, and shoot to kill.

HESITATED TO SHOOT

Up until a few years ago, burglars and highwaymen carried revolvers primarily for purposes of intimidation and they never shot anyone unless they were cornered, and rarely even then. They did not relish the idea of facing a jury on a charge of homicide or attempted homicide. The later generations of outlaws, however apparently have no fear of the law.

Illustrative of this recklessness was the fatal shooting of one policeman and wounding of another here a few months ago. The officers had arrested three men as suspects, believing them to be members of an organized gang that had been responsible for a large part of the crime wave here.

No very serious charge could have been brought against the men, and probably none whatever could have been made to stick. About the worst that could have happened to them was a few hours or days in jail. Certainly their predicament was not one that called for shooting their way to freedom, and yet that is precisely what they did. They broke away from the officers and a running duel ensued. The officer who was killed brought one of the outlaws down after he had received his fatal wound.

Chief Justice Taft, of the United States Supreme Court, regards the crime situation as so serious that recently he broke the silence in which men in his position have been shrouded and gave out an interview through Collier's Weekly in which he suggests numerous reforms in judicial procedure. Among other innovations, he favors doing away with grand juries and police court juries, and for the former he would substitute investigations by the prosecuting attorneys and informations filed as a result of such investigations.

States should assume the full responsibility of curbing crime and lawlessness, in the opinion of the former President, and each State should have a State detective service and a State constabulary court procedure should be so modified that judges would have greater freedom in advising juries and that appeals and the granting of new trials on technicalities be largely done away with. Mr. Taft is also against the coddling of criminals once they have been convicted and sent to prison. A prison should mean punishment, and not a pleasant place to take a rest cure.

The situation with respect to crime in many cities is admittedly quite similar to conditions that led to the organization of the famous vigilance committees in the old wild days in California, Colorado and other States, but it has not been suggested as yet that citizens again take the enforcement of the law into their own hands. The work of the vigilantes was short, sharp, and terrible. Thieves and murderers were hanged singly and in groups of as many as six or seven, and those who escaped summary punishment did so only by flight.

The last organization of a vigilance committee was in 1891 in New Orleans, when a body of citizens took from the city jail a number of Italians charged with the murder of the Chief of Police of that city, and with being members of the Mafia, and executed them by shooting and hanging.

I had pimples and boils all over my face and body, which also bothered with a breaking out that itched terribly. I also tried one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. FILMS HELP TO WORLD AMITY

Exchange Between Nations Move for Friendship

Club Women Asserted Lax in Aiding Screen Morals

Conference Told Unreality in Pictures Perilous

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—The motion-picture industry was called an important factor in the promotion of international friendship today by Carl E. Milliken, former Governor of Maine, and new secretary of the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America, in an address at the third annual Better Films Conference at the Waldorf Astoria today.

"There is an ambitious plan well on the way to fulfillment," he said, "for circulating around the world in the next few years films of the life, history and customs of each of the different nations of the world so that gradually they will be brought into closer contact with each other. Pictures are now being freely exchanged among the nations. Not long ago pictures from France, Russia, Germany and England were simultaneously being shown along Broadway. Our pictures are enjoying good runs in other lands. There is a confidence and appreciation between nations that arises from this exchange of pictures and from the better understanding thus promoted."

APPEALS TO WOMEN

Anna Steese Richardson, magazine writer, told the delegates that, although motion pictures are the greatest single influence in the country, the organized club women of the nation are doing nothing to raise screen standards. Appeals for their assistance in this direction have so far, she declared, met with no result.

Mrs. Richardson asserted that while the membership of the Federated Women's Clubs is 3,000,000, the national leaders are unable to enlist more than 10 per cent of them in any constructive movement and that in the matter of bettering the films, a much smaller percentage could be interested. Decrying the lack of parental interest in the type of films shown to children, she said that half of the American parents send their children to the picture shows to get rid of them.

"The only solution is to give these women something to hate. Get them to thinking that the welfare of their children is menaced and interest will be taken at once."

UNREALITY ATTACKED

Prof. Leroy E. Bowman of Columbia University attacked the use of unreal incidents in motion pictures as "vicious to the principles of teaching children and therefore responsible for the lack of co-operation between teachers and the film business."

He told the delegates that there will be no uplift in the quality of pictures until the cost of production is lowered because a story to be interesting and instructive must be told in the most elementary fashion possible. Prof. Bowman maintained that the standard of motion pictures is as high as can be expected at present because they fit the level the theatergoers have attained. The pictures are still in a formative stage, he said, because the country at large is still in that stage.

High School Boy Loses Life at Hermosa Beach

Jimmie Toman, 18 years of age, of 203 West Forty-second Place, was drowned yesterday while bathing at Hermosa Beach. According to one report, the boy swam out to rescue two others who were being carried out by a rip tide, but the Hermosa police were uncertain concerning the report. Toman is a son of James Toman, umpire in the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

He and eleven other youths, all students at Manual Arts High School, went bathing yesterday at the foot of Sixteenth street, Hermosa, and with William Bergman and Floyd Vernier, according to the official report, were carried out by a tide rip about 3 p.m. Chief of Police Messenger and Officer Foote, in the launch Lillian L., went to the rescue and succeeded in picking up Bergman and Vernier, but could find no trace of Toman. It is believed his body was carried out to sea.

Angeleno Wins 'Moral' Victory in Traffic Fight

SAN JOSE, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—As a crusader for a motoring principle George L. Sanders, Los Angeles attorney, left this city tonight firm in the belief that he had won a moral victory—but the victory cost him $150 for violation of three sections of the State Motor Vehicle Act.

On December 23 Sanders was cited for four traffic violations in the little town of Morgan Hill. Contending that at least one of the charges was nothing more nor less than a "trick ordinance" designed to fill the coffers of small communities at the expense of the motoring public, and was really a means by which "small town" motor policemen insured enough municipal income to pay their salaries, Saunders appealed for a permanent restraining order to prevent trial on the charge at Morgan Hill.

When the hearing came on today Judge Welch discovered that the local ordinance for which Sanders had been cited did not apply to the facts of the case, so legal representatives of Morgan Hill hastily assured the court that they did not intend to prosecute on that count. Hence the moral victory.

However, the other three charges against Sanders were found to be State charges, and he was fined $50 on each, with the alternative of a jail sentence. Sanders wired Los Angeles for enough money to pay the fines and left for the south at once.

Belvedere Man Faces Charge of Firing on House

Accused of firing five shots into the home of Harry Witz, 448 Arizona street, Belvedere, M. R. Hatzke was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Stensland. A complaint charging assault with a deadly weapon was issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty Thomas.

Witz said he was asleep in his home when the shots were fired through the windows and door. They narrowly missed his nephews, Eugene and Ralph Gold, 3 and 9 years of age, who were sleeping in the front room, he declared.

According to Stensland, Harley Biegel and Clare Jensen declared they had gone with Hatzke for a ride after indulging in liquor. They said Hatzke had forced them at revolver point to drive to the Witz home, and that he had fired the shots from in front of the house.

Witz said he and Hatzke had quarreled.

Surgeon Gives Hope to Victims of Broken Back

TULSA, (Okla.) Jan 28. (AP)—If you break your back, don't be discouraged. This reassuring news comes from Dr. Phillip Kreucher of Loyola University, Chicago, here to address the American College of Surgeons.

No need for the person with a broken back to despair of life, so long as the spinal cord nerve continues to live, the surgeon said, but an operation is necessary immediately after the accident, to remove the top bones, or "hump" formed by the settling process, to permit the spinal cord to detour over the broken bone.

Lina Gillette Estate to Pay $401,359 Tax

State inheritance taxes amounting to $401,359 will be collected from the estate of Lina Gillete, relative of King C. Gillette of safety razor fame, according to a report filed yesterday with State Comptroller Riley. Miss Gillette died on August 4, 1926, in her home in Beverly Hills, leaving an estate estimated at $2,907,677.

By the terms of her will the estate was divided into two life trusts, one left to her mother, Mrs. Fannie L. Gillette, and the other to King C. Gillette, Atlanta E. Gillette and Edwin B. Root. The mother died last month and her trust will be divided between George W. Gillette and Elmon C. Gillette, nephews of Lina Gillette.

KEEPING WIRES OPEN HUGE TASK

Associated Press Lines to East Hold Record

Patrolmen Battle Storms to Repair Breaks

Heroic Service Rewarded by Medal and Cash

DENVER, Jan. 28. (AP)—Uninterrupted maintenance of the transcontinental wires over the ranges of the Rocky Mountains that the Associated Press may keep east and west meeting, forms one of the greatest tasks in the mountain region for the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Yet only once during the last three years has this service been disrupted, and then for but a short time.

Snow, sleet, ice, wind, forest fires, earthquakes, shifting sand dunes and water present constant problems and it is to fortify against these contingencies that a vast army of patrolmen always is on guard. Automobiles, horse and mule-drawn sledges, motorcycles and snowshoes are used.

HEROIC WORK

The heroic work of Harold C. Daggett and Earl J. Taylor, transcontinental wire patrolmen west of Cheyenne, Wyo., in repairing a break in the wires of the Associated Press on Sherman Hill, the top of the Continental Divide, is an example of the service in which these patrolmen engage almost daily in the maintenance of service.

A raging snowstorm and blizzard, the worst in several years, was furiously lashing the mountains as these men battled their way to the scene of the "break." Daggett made the trip alone, Taylor returning to a way camp for aid. Daggett repaired the broken wire, restoring service and then on his return trip became lost in the storm.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

The timely discovery of his unconscious form by Taylor early the next morning, now is a legend in the telephone world. Their heroic services at that time won for them the Vail medal and a cash award of $500 for meritorious services.

In the summer time, with the route of the transcontinental lines skirting for miles, the boundaries of national forests, a constant vigil is maintained to prevent demolition of lines by forest fires.

Copenhagen's population is 594,000, according to the census taken last November.

ROTTEN ROW DOFFS SILK HATS

But Few of Glistening Toppers Seen on London's Famous Promenade and Automobiles Replace Prancing Thoroughbreds of Former Years

LONDON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Rotten Row's silk hats do not shine so brilliantly on Sundays as formerly.

Hyde Park generally, famous for its church parade, has been nearly deserted by the aristocracy since the cold weather came on and only one or two dukes appear every day whereas formerly there were dozens.

Members of the fashionable set prefer the country for week ends, and under the new order of things most of the horses in the Row are hired by the hour. Only now and then is a prancing steed of nobility pointed out by those who have frequented the Park benches for years and are familiar with all the city's notables.

The automobile too has done much to take the picturesqueness out of the Row, as so many who formerly rode horseback now prefer the machine. One Sunday morning but eight silk hats were counted, whereas a few years ago there were hundreds.

On Sunday afternoons the Park is given over to promenading, the feeding of squirrels and the gulls and

The defense had several witnesses remaining when court closed for the day. The case was adjourned until Tuesday.

WOMAN SAYS RANCHER BROKE PLEDGE TO WED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28. (AP)—Miss Marguerite P. Cronin today filed suit in Superior Court here asking $50,000 from Arthur Pacheco, rancher and engineer of Merced, Calif. for alleged breach of promise. The complaint alleges that Pacheco asked her to marry him in April, 1926, and she accepted. Miss Cronin declares she thought the engagement still in force in November, 1926, when Pacheco married Mrs. Christine McKinley.

LITHUANIANS IN DICTATOR CLASS

Little Republic One of Last to Alter Government

Country Constantly Fears Russian Dominance

Diplomatic Relations With Poland Broken Off

KOVNO (Lithuania) Jan. 28. (AP)—Grafting a dictator upon a republic is something of a novelty, even if it is a young republic, and Lithuanians have scarcely recovered their breath since Dr. Anton Smetona upset the existing order of things and followed the example of Pilsudski in Poland.

Although Smetona's history is almost identical with that of Pilsudski, there has been nothing as yet to indicate that the president who put himself into office by overturning the regularly elected government, will try to make himself king.

With nearly half of the combined areas of Europe and Asia, and almost half of the combined populations of the two continents, under the rule of men who are classed as dictators, Lithuanian Democrats are somewhat puzzled about the future of governments in Europe.

Mussolini, Mustapha Kemal, Primo de Rivera, Stalin, Pilsudski and Chang Kai-shek, the leader of the Nationalist forces in China, all stand as forerunners of the coup effected by Smetona. They represent power seized by military force from established authorities.

Standing as a buffer state between the east and the west, Lithuania is in an uncertain state of mind. Like other Baltic states which snuffed out from Russia during the early days of Bolshevism, Lithuania is in constant fear of being reabsorbed by Russia, but stands in even greater fear of Poland because of the manner in which Poland grabbed Vilno, which the Versailles Treaty gave to Lithuania.

Lithuania has steadfastly refused to have diplomatic relations with Poland and has declined all overtures to join a Baltic league.

I'M THE GINK

I'm the ginkette who borrows clothing from my girl friends. I'm always appearing in borrowed finery. I rush in all in a flutter and ask you to loan me one of your evening gowns—that white beaded one, dear, if you don't mind. The white beaded one is, of course, your newest one. I wear them and I'm usually late returning them. It never occurs to me that they need cleaning after I wear them. The life of an evening gown is short enough, but I hasten their demise. My friends all shudder when they see me coming. I have clothes of my own, but they never look as nice as yours, so I borrow.

MALONEY BACK ON BOUT CARD

Will Fight Delaney in Heavyweight Elimination; No Hope for Paolino

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Tex Rickard closed up one gap in his slightly shattered heavyweight ranks today with the restoration of Jimmy Maloney, Boston contender, to his original place in the elimination battle line.

After conferences, the Madison Square Garden promoter effected an agreement under which Maloney will fulfill his scheduled engagement with Jack Delaney on February 18.

A second breach, resulting from the request of Paolino for a postponement of his fight with Knute Hansen of Wisconsin, apparently was widened, however, when the Spanish fighter announced he would not comply with an order of the New York State Athletic Commission to go through with the bout on February 7.

took $75 in prize money and Speer a silver medal. Broki and Shaw will flip for the bronze medal, which goes to the amateur on the team placing third.

Mehlhorn shot five birdies in piling up his total, playing the best ball of the partnership, or halving his partner on every hole. He was three under par at the turn and four under after the tenth hole, but he required five strokes at the par four eleventh and made fives on the fourteenth and fifteenth, each of which are par fours. He recovered a stroke at the thirteenth, however, by shooting a birdie two.

Mehlhorn's card:

Out 344 533 542—35
In 355 255 344—36—69.

Hagen and Speer were only one under par at the turn but they birdied the tenth and twelfth to go three under.

They suffered the same trouble that beset Mehlhorn, however, on the fourteenth and fifteenth, taking fives. Only one card was kept for each

BRADSHAW AND IMLAY TO CLASH

Rival Quarterbacks May be Hit of Pro Game at Wrigley Field

BY BRAVEN DYER

One of the outstanding features of this pro football game at Wrigley Field tomorrow should be the duel for individual supremacy between Talma (Tut) Imlay and Jimmy (Rabbit) Bradshaw. These two chaps are the real speed merchants of the rival squads, and during the past month each in his turn has put on as brilliant and individual performance as we have ever witnessed. Imlay calls signals for "Brick" Muller's Los Angeles Buccaneers, while Bradshaw, although he may not

R-SLOOPS RACE TODAY

First Heat of Initial Midwinter Series Starts off San Pedro This Afternoon

Yachting may be a summer sport on the eastern seaboard, but Southern California yachtsmen have decided that since winter is only a season and not an actuality on local salt water, an all-year racing program would be practical.

A group of seagoing Corinthians, who race for anything in the way of silverware, or just for the fun of competition if nothing is put up to race for, have organized the Skippers' Club on Terminal Island. When Don Lee, owner of the famous schooner Invader, winner of the 1926 Honolulu race, said he would put up a $500 trophy for a series of three midwinter races, his offer was snapped up before he had an opportunity to reconsider. As a result, three of the fastest R-class sloops on the Pacific Coast will be started this afternoon at 1:10 o'clock in the first heat of the series over a twelve-mile course off Sand Pedro and Long Beach.

The feature of the race will be the initial appearance of Commodore Owen Churchill's Galliano IV, the latest creation from the board of "Ted" Geary. Churchill dipped the new Galliano in the

DODGERS TURN OVER PITCHER RAY MOSS TO KRUG'S ANGELS

Mr. Martin Luther Krug, eminent Glendale citizen, who piloted the Angels to the Pacific Coast League pennant last season and hopes to repeat the feat this year, breathed a satisfied sigh of relief yesterday afternoon when it was announced that the Brooklyn Dodgers had turned over Pitcher Ray Moss to the Seraphs on option.

Moss, a 180-pound right-hander with a terrific fast one, ought to be a winner in this circuit, according to Dick Cox, who was with the Dodgers last year. Both Moss and Cox come to the Angels as part payment for "Jigger" Statz. The Dodgers are supposed to turn over one more player to the Angels and Marty Krug is making efforts to get big Jim Elliott, 240-pound southpaw, whom the Brooklyn club recalled from Seattle last fall. There will be no chance of getting Elliott, though, until after the season gets under way.

Moss was with the Jersey City and New Orleans clubs last season, but his work was handicapped by a sore digit that made it impossible for him to throw any curves. If Moss has a terrific fast one, as those who have seen him in action claim, he should turn in about twenty wins for the Cherubs. The shadows at Wrigley

MACK CONFERS WITH "SPOKE"

Cobb Considering Offers With Major Squads

Browns Seek Services of Old Detroit Tiger Boss

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28. (AP)—Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Tris Speaker, former manager of the Cleveland Indians, were in conference today. They emerged from it smiling, but silent as to the possibility of Speaker's signing an Athletic contract.

Tris Speaker

Both declined to discuss the nature of their talk, asserting that Speaker's visit was merely a social call. Eddie Collins, recently returned to the Athletics, who was present at the conference, also said that business had not been discussed. Manager Mack, however, made no secret of the fact that he would like to have Speaker.

WON'T RETIRE

Speaker, exonerated of baseball scandal charges and free to sign with any American League club, is here as the guest of Eddie Collins to attend the annual dinner of the veteran athletes of Philadelphia tomorrow night. The former Cleveland manager said he had no intention of retiring from baseball, but that he would not be with the Indians again.

"I am going to play baseball again this summer," said Speaker, "but I am not signing with any team as yet. First, I will consider all the offers and then I will accept the one which I believe to be most favorable.

"My one thought now is to get down to Hubbard City, Tex., to see my 81-year-old mother. I usually spend my winters there, but this year I was forced to remain in Cleveland to defend myself."

Speaker said he planned to leave here Sunday for New York and later would go to Washington. He expects to see officials of the Yankees and Senators while in those cities, but declined to state whether the purpose of these visits was to discuss baseball contracts.

YOUNG NATIONALISTA EASILY WINS OVER GEORGIE RIVERS

Young Nationalista, Filipino bantamweights whirlwind, punched Georgie Rivers around the ring so much and so often last night at the Hollywood Legion Stadium that he easily carried off the decision over his Mexican adversary.

About all that Rivers showed was gameness. The little Mexican scrapper, who took the fight on short notice and did not appear to be in anywhere near his best condition, won only one round out of the ten, Nationalista having the edge in all of the others.

Nationalista kept crowding Rivers and throwing punches all the way and in almost every round he had Georgie on the ropes or in a corner fighting desperately to avoid a knockout. Rivers had a shade in the third, but that was the only round in which he made much of an impression.

In the third Nationalista dropped Rivers for a count of seven with a hard right to the chin. Try as he might, though, the little Filipino couldn't finish Georgie.

Mike Hector was awarded a decision over Tom Patrick in the six-round semi-wind-up. The two middleweights kept mauling away at each other throughout. It didn't appear from the ringside as if Hector had much of an edge, if any, but evidently the referee thought so.

Benny Furrell, clever local 118-pounder, put on a fast finish to earn a draw with Mateo Magdaleno, Mexican flash, in the six-round special event. Magdaleno won the first three rounds by a comfortable margin, but Furrell came strong in the last three stanzas to even the going. Furrell had stopped Magdaleno in a previous encounter.

Sandy Garrison defeated Billy Zukle, former L.A.A.C. welter, in the second four-rounder on the card. Garrison knew too much for the former amateur. The curtain raiser saw Tony Cruz punch his way to a clean-cut victory over Billy Montoya. The men are lightweights.

BURBANK CAGERS WIN FROM HARVARD FIVES

Coach Jerry Ogborn's Burbank cagers defeated the Harvard Military Academy quintet, 17 to 12, in a San Fernando Valley League game played yesterday on the Wizards' court. With the score tied, 6-6, at half-time, Capt. Harry Cameron went in for Burbank and scored 10 points to sew up the struggle. Woods featured the lightweight game, which Burbank won by a 12-to-6 count.

HOPPE STILL IN LEAD

BOSTON (Mass.) Jan. 28. (AP)—Making a run of 270 the highest in the contest to date, Willie Hoppe, world champion 18.2 balk-line billiardist, tonight captured the tenth block of his 3600-point match with Eric Hagenlacher, former champion, 300 to 170.

The total scores of the contestants at the end of the tenth block were: Hoppe, 2667; Hagenlacher, 2274. Afternoon and evening blocks tomorrow will end the match.

Phil Scott Issues Challenge For Title Go in London or New York

LONDON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, who defeated the Italian title-holder, Bartazzolio, here last night, issued an informal challenge to Gene Tunney today for a bout to be held either in London or New York.

Scott said he was prepared to deposit $25,000 to back his belief that Tunney could not stop him in ten rounds.

"After the Bartazzolio decision," Scott said, "I feel entitled to seek the world's championship."

Scott was given the decision over Bartazzolio in the seventh round of their ten-round match for a purse of £2500, when the Italian was disqualified for hitting low.

Paul's Gameness Keeps Him from Being Laid Out

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Drawing power from some fistic fountain of youth, 35-year-old Mike McTigue, battle-scarred veteran of many years' campaigning, knocked out Paul Berlenbach tonight in one of the most dramatic upsets the ring has seen in many years.

MIKE McTIGUE

While a crowd of 18,000 fans in Madison Square Garden roared encouragement to him, McTigue stopped his rival in the fourth round of a twelve-round bout with a savage, two-fisted attack that swept all before it. It was a technical knockout for Referee Kid McFarland stepped in to save Berlenbach from further punishment as he sagged to the floor for the third time in the round, but to all intents and purposes, Paul was "out cold" hanging on merely through his gameness.

McTigue outfought and outpunched Berlenbach from the start, flooring Paul just before the bell in the third round and lashing his way to victory in two minutes and forty-three seconds of fighting in the next session.

It was an amazing comeback for McTigue and an astonishing exhibition of punching power by a man

Southern Branch Tossers Meet Pomona Quintet in Feature Conference Battle Tonight

BRUINS DOPED TO TAKE GAME

Rival Basketball Teams Mix at Claremont

Whittier Host to Caltech Hoop Athletes

Oxy Meets Baptists; La Verne Goes to San Diego

Unless something decidedly unforeseen occurs the two leading teams in the Southern Conference basketball race are slated to go merrily on their respective ways tonight. The Southern Branch Bruins go to Claremont for a crack at "Beefy" Heath's Pomona College tossers, and Leo Calland's Whittier athletes entertain California Tech. The Bruins and Poets should win handily and thereby keep their records unstained.

CADDY WORKS.

Two other conference games are billed. Redlands plays Occidental at Eagle Rock, the two teams having hooked up last night in the first game of their series. La Verne goes into action against San Diego State for the second consecutive evening.

The Pomona-Bruin game is "the" game of the evening. Caltech has virtually no chance to upset Whittier. For that matter, the Sagehens will have to be a whole lot better than most people suspect they are if they are to trim the Bruins, but there should be more action at Claremont than in Poetville.

Caddy Works has a smooth-running team at the Branch. Jack Ketchum, Jimmy Armstrong, Milo Young and the other boys working together in fine style. Unless the boys are away off form tonight, or the Sagehens play well over their heads, the Bruins should win by ten points.

Heath has Patton and Osborne as forwards, with Merritt and Manildi at the guard berths, and Capt. Millett at center. This is a veteran combination but seems to lack the basket-shooting ability of the Bruins.

ACE HUDKINS BANNED IN EAST

Streiinger, exchairman of the commission, yesterday.

So far no official word has been received here of the Hudkins suspension, and therefore no action would be taken unan the California board had something to act on, the commissioner's office said.

However, it is doubtful if the California board will act upon the matter one way or the other. None of the eastern commission has ever teamed with the California State Commission; in fact, has refused the courtesy of replies to questions.

Precedent for refusing to act in the Hudkins matter is seen in the Ruby Goldstein case. Under suspension by the New York Commission, Goldstein came to the Coast, was given a permit and fought in San Francisco. He also was signed for a Hollywood bout, but ran out on it, for which he drew a suspension, but not for his New York incident.

ACE TO WIND UP TRAINING TODAY

Today will mark the wind-up of training for both Ace Hudkins and Billy Alger in preparation for their ten-round bout, the main event on the Olympic Auditorium card for next Tuesday night, February 1.

Both battlers will alternate between resting and light rope and road workouts for the few intervening days until they face each other in the ring.

RABBIT PUNCHES

by PAUL LOWRY

GEORGE YOUNG'S feat of swimming the Catalina Channel took the public by storm, but George Young himself is not. The 17-year-old kid is probably not so much to blame himself. His handlers and advisers are killing the goose that laid the golden egg. They procrastinated about this and that, they let Bill Hastings, the lad who pooled his bit with Young to reach California, get away from them, and they are said to have forgotten completely that Messrs. Bubeck and Swendsen charted the course for Young to follow across the channel.

Hastings right now seems to be more of a hero than Young. He was introduced at the ice hockey match Thursday night as the "lad who was forgotten," and was given a round salvo of applause. That didn't help Young any. Nor does the professional depicter of Young's feat at the Metropolitan the last week furnish any great aid. When he describes touchingly how George "done it," the grammarians in the audience snicker, but this is nothing compared to the young man's dive into the realm of statistics. When he comes up for air he has William O'Byrne as Young's "only friend in this big State of California with its 1,600,000 population." Gosh, that one probably made the late Frank Wiggins turn over in his grave. Our little old City of the Angels alone has been boasting for some months of nearly one-third of a million more souls than that.

The squeals of Eddie Eicher about the defeats suffered by Leo Lomski at the hands of Jock Malone in Seattle and later Joe Anderson in Portland seem to be getting him in dutch with rival managers. Jim Dougherty refers to Eicher as a "pinhead manager," and says he positively will not let Anderson fight Lomski again as long as Eicher is handling him.

As a sequel to Dougherty's blast Tom Walsh, Malone's typewriting manager, comes to bat with the following:

"The squawk of the loser and the cry of the hound can be heard a good many miles. That is why, when Leo Lomski let a long, squealing squawk in Los Angeles the other day, that Jock Malone had not defeated him in Seattle, it was heard by the famous Jock himself. And oh! What a good laugh that is, as the world loves a fair loser. And if ever Mr. Lomski got a good trimming, he got it in Seattle from Jock Malone. Even the Seattle papers said that Lomski was lucky it was only a six-round fight.

"The squawk of Lomski regarding his defeat at the hands of Joe Anderson, we know nothing about, but if Lomski wants to win back the middleweight title of the Pacific Coast, which Jock Malone now holds, he can have a chance to do it and a $5000 bet on the side. But he must agree not to start crying if he gets beaten again. Malone will box in San Francisco the week of February 8, and after that he will be ready to meet any of the middleweights on the Pacific Coast."

"Yours in sport,

"JOE WALSH."

Better late than never, so we hasten to inform a palpitating public that Mister Bert Coleman, the champion long-distance swimmer among the journalistic clan of this great Southland, was in the water over six hours during the recent Catalina marathon. In addition, he was going strong at the end and only quit because his hard-hearted boss insisted that Bert quit swimming and go to work. This is to contradict the blasphemous report that Bert was forced to quit less than thirty minutes after he had plunged into the drink.

Vikings Have Fast Players in Half Line

When Mons Anderson sends his Vikings against the Los Angeles Athletic Club soccer eleven in the big game at Loyola Field tomorrow afternoon, he will rely in large measure upon his crack half line to keep the sharpeshooters of the club in check.

Though less experienced than their confreres on the opposition, Hansen, Fredericksen and Hedbloom, the Vikings' halfbacks are powerful tacklers with a fine sense of ball distribution. It was this trio which did yeoman service in holding the champs to even terms in the initial round of the cup two weeks ago and which resulted in the replay Sunday.

Hansen is a comparative youngster, but he has shown great improvement during the season. He delivers the ball nicely and is able to break up incipient raids. Fredericksen has well earned the right to be rated as one of the outstanding defensive and aggressive players in the loop. Hedbloom is a dashing, aggressive player hard to beat.

Manager Andersen figures that if th club forwards can slip past this triumvirate and overwhelm the powerful pair of backs in Mortensen and Wimmelmann they will have earned the right to enter the second round of the cup series. The game starts at 3 p.m.

H.A.C. FIVE GETS SET

"Chuck" Kearney's Hollywood Athletic Club basketball five is working overtime these days preparing for one of the big games of the local A.A.U. loop, Tuesday night at the Movie City club, when they take on the Alhambra Athletic Club.

Title Boxing Tourney Plans in Final Stage

Preparations for the Pacific Coast amateur boxing championships which will be held at the Olympic Auditorium on February 2 and 3, are almost complete, according to Charley Keppen, chairman of the committee in charge. Ninety-one mitt-slingers have filed entries for the bouts. Keppen added the name of Curley Phillips, a local milk-driver, to the list late yesterday.

Phillips will battle the boys in the 135-pound class. Although the milkman's entry is not unknown in these parts, he is said to have a good ring record in the amateur ranks in the Midwest. Before coming here he boxed for a Denver club. All of the boxers entered in the tourney will be examined by A.A.U. physicians before they will be allowed to box, it was announced yesterday. Three referees will handle the boys in the bouts during the tournament. Ernie Clarke, Lieut. Jack Kennedy and "Duke" Kenworthy will be the officials in the ring.

Those in charge of the tournament for the A.A.U. are: Charley Keppen, chairman; George Adair and Les Henry, timekeepers; H. M. Walker and Fane Norton, judges. The other officials are Charles Pollock, George Eastman, Jay Welton, Clayton Frye and Dewitt Van Court.

BROWNING, JONES TO GRAPPLE

Daro Signs Heavy Boys for First Wrestling Clash of New Year at Olympic

Jim Browning, Kansas farmer boy wrestler, will collide with Paul Jones of Houston, Tex., in the main event of Lou Daro's opening wrestling presentation of 1927. The muscular boys will trade headlocks and toe holds on February 9 at the Olympic Auditorium when Mona. Daro will reintroduce the pastime of anatomical distortion which has been somewhat dormant since the rotund promoter underwent an operation for removal of a bone in his nose, a short time ago.

Browning wrestled several times when here two years ago. He was a big card with the fans at that time. A recent match with John Pesek at Oklahoma City, in which the Kansan received a draw in a furious tussle with the "Tigerman," indicates that the young heavyweight has improved since then.

Daro needs but to secure an opponent for Frank Judson, the Harvard wrestling coach, to complete his card. Matty Matsuda, Japanese welterweight king, will trade holds with Pete Vocino of Italy and Russell Vis of Los Angeles in matched with Royal Van Deusen of San Diego in two other bouts.

DIDN'T RESIGN

"I have never resigned from the Detroit club and that club does not hold my resignation," he said, "but I have been released by that club." Cobb said he had received a number of offers and it probably would take him some time to decide which was the best one.

"I fully intended to retire permanently," the Georgia peach continued, "but since this thing has come up I have decided I will have to go back and have one more big year."

He expressed confidence in his ability to "play baseball with the best of them."

"I was innocent of the charges and knew I would be cleared," said Ty in commenting on Landis's ruling. "Words fail to express by happiness over my vindication. I have suffered deeply, but never lost hope that evenfully right and justice would prevail. I wish to thank from the bottom of my heart the baseball fans, the newspapers, sporting writers and all my friends for their wonderful confidence in me.

OBSERVATIONS

BILL HENRY

WITH the scramble at Wrigley Field tomorrow between the hirelings of Brick Muller and Red Grange, the gridiron season will pass on into history. As far as professional football is concerned the public, players and promoters alike all learned something. It was pretty well demonstrated that the dear old populace didn't give a whoop for ordinary professional football in which local talent participated. The California Professional League was a decided flop. On the other hand, it was demonstrated that the public would turn out in reasonably large numbers for anything in the way of a professional contest that featured national celebrities, such as George Wilson, Ernie Nevers, Brick Muller and the one and only Red Grange. A carefully arranged schedule of post-season pro football next year might pay pretty well. Meantime a lot of folks will be out tomorrow to find out whether that was a fluke victory Muller won a couple of weeks ago, or not.

There ought to be considerable popular interest in the proposal of Charley Paddock to try to crack the world's record for 220 yards this season. Charley was a good deal of a star a full ten years ago and has kept right on running, on and off, with great success. But it would be a most remarkable thing, indeed, if he should succeed in breaking that famous mark at the end of more than a decade of sprinting. Last year's feat of setting a new 100-yard mark was sensational enough, but to come back again this year and do the same thing in the furlong, would be even greater.

We're wondering what Knute Rockne will do next year in regard to quarterbacks. We note that Art Parisien, the poisonivy kid as far as U.S.C. is concerned, has decided to go to Boston College next year, which removes the only veteran signal yeiper remaining. Red Edwards, after three years' service, graduates, while Riley, the little flea, who scored the first touchdown, does likewise. Riley wasn't good enough three years ago to be brought out to the coast when the Irish played Stanford. The demon Scandinavian coach, however, is accustomed to such crises and will probably produce somebody better than any of the above-mentioned.

Judge Landis seems to have finally arrived at the conclusions reached by everybody else in the world some weeks ago with regard to Messrs. Speaker and Cobb. Everybody thinks that Cobb and Speaker are quite innocent and that even if they weren't, it wouldn't do any good to begin hurling mud at this late date. The judge's decision demonstrates that if you give him time to read the newspapers and find out what public opinion is, he can arrive at a fair conclusion. The only time he acts with speed is when posting for a photographer.

BRADSHAW AND IMLAY CLASH

The two little fellows are much alike, and yet they are different in many respects. As far as running goes, there is little to choose between the two. Imlay, to our way of thinking, is a wee bit more speedy. Bradshaw, however, is slightly harder to bring down than "Tut." Each is a star at sneaking through small holes in the line and then branching out on wide end runs. Each runs with head up, looking around for another avenue down which to dart.

Imlay passes with his right hand, Bradshaw with his left. Muller has been hailed as the passing wizard of all time, but it is "Tut" who does the tossing for the Bucs, Imlay throwing only when "Buck" Shaw is always watching "Brick." Bradshaw excels at returning punts; so does Imlay. It isn't often that either signals for a fair catch.

Jimmy is the lightest, weighing only 145 pounds. He has very small ankles and a somewhat drawn face which indicates that pro football has been pretty much of a grind. Imlay scales in the neighborhood of 155 pounds. He looks smaller than Bradshaw, however, for "Rabbit" is the taller of the two. Jimmy never uses a headgear while playing. He has black hair and it's generally waving in the breeze.

Jimmy always caused California teams a lot of trouble. The year after Bradshaw got through Nevada held the Bears to a scoreless tie. Imlay was a sophomore at that time and well remembers the game. That and the scoreless game with Washington and Jefferson were the two blots on California's otherwise perfect record for five years.

Imlay and Bradshaw met on the gridiron for the first time last Sunday in San Francisco when George Wilson's team, with Jimmy at quarterback, defeated Muller's outfit, 17 to 0. Naturally "Tut" wants revenge tomorrow.

R-SLOOPS RACE OFF SAN PEDRO

water yesterday morning. She is a beautiful mahogany job and is expected to prove one of the fastest craft of her type afloat. The Gallianos will have to step some, however, to beat Tommy Lee's Pirate, also a Geary design, and Pierpont Davis's Patricia.

Lee's Pirate proved her worth last year when she won the San Diego Lipton Trophy during the Southern California Yachting Association regatta at Newport. The "Pat" won the trophy the year before at Santa Barbara and the two sloops are evenly matched, which makes winning a real test of seamanship.

Churchill will have to be careful with the Galliano in order not to strain her hull and to break in his sails properly. Everything points to a mild day with light winds, however, and all the R's should be at their best in light to medium breezes. The course from Point Fermin buoy to Long Beach furnishes a real test for the skippers and some close going should result.

The addition of Moss and Bill Piercy, both speed-ball pitchers, to the Angel mound staff means that Marty Krug will be able to mix 'em up on the opposition, varying the fast ones with the fantalizing slants of Doc Wright and "Oil" Hamilton.

The Angels also announced yesterday that they had signed five young pitchers who will report for tryouts at Wrigley Field February 14. The green-pea flippers are Louis McGowan, Harry Martin, Clifford Perry, Bill Brown and "Chief" Kilbuck. Kilbuck, a big Indian southpaw, comes from the Haskell Institute. Stanley Pillette, a young infielder, who is a brother of Herman and Ted Pillette, also has been signed by the Seraphs.

GROUND BREAKING FOR CLUB PLANNED

Ground breaking for the $600,000 home of the Wilshire California Athletic Club on First street near Vermont avenue will take place on February 22, it was announced yesterday by the board of governors, with a program appropriate to Washington's Birthday. Architect Saul H. Brown's designs for a complete clubhouse will be rushed to afford an early opening of the club.

COLIMA MAY MEET LOMSKI

Bert Colima and Leo Lomski may meet again, after all. Their proposed rematch blew up five different times. But promoters have been offered some real fresh bait.

Yesterday Dutch Meyers offered to guarantee Lomski $8000 in a return fight here in Los Angeles. Both Lomski and his manager, Eddie Eicher, are in the north.

Lomski knocked Colima out at the Seattle ball park about a year ago. Colima and Meyers declared they got a short count. Promoters in Los Angeles sought the rematch, but always some accident in training to the boxers prevented it being staged.

Polante Wins Novelty Race at Tia Juana

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK, Jan. 28. Polante, the good 3-year-old from the Nevada Stock Farm stable, surprised with a return to good form this afternoon, to win the Novelty Handicap at seven furlongs, feature of the afternoon's race program.

It was a two-horse race from the start with Runolathe fighting it out with the Nevada youngster from the start. The Irwin horse caught Polante in the stretch but Jockey R. Peterson chided on his mount and he came on to win. Runolathe got the place and Architect, the favorite, the show.

Polante, winner of the Tia Juana Futurity last year, dashed the seven furlongs in 1.26 1-5, within two-fifths second of the track record. The Atheling II colt is eligible for both the Coffroth Handicap and the Tia Juana Derby.

On recent workouts the horse was cut a third in the Coffroth future book and after yesterday's victory there was no further plunge. The results:

First race, claiming, 3 years and up, five and one-half furlongs, purse $600—Lady Mac (Hammet) won, Nan McKinley (Swift) second, Cross Flodder (Elston) third. Time, 1:07 3-5.

Second race, claiming, 3 years and up, five and one-half furlongs, purse $600—Assault (Hammet) won, Fiery Rose (Pendergrass) second, Phyllis Gentry (Peterson) third. Time, 1:06.

Third race, one mile—Mesquakie (Diaz) won, Franklin II (Collins) second, King (Peterson) third. Time, 1:43 3-5.

Fourth race, the Novelty Handicap, seven furlongs—Polante (Peterson) won, Runolathe (Hostwaitz) second, Architect (Baker) third. Time, 1:26 1-5.

Fifth race, mile and seventy yards—Pearl Rose (Peterson) won, Lassen (W. Murphy) second, Kingscore (Dolan) third. Time, 1:45.

[illegible] years chiefly as a cautious, [illegible] boxer.

[illegible] was sweet revenge for the [illegible] Michael," who more than [illegible] accounts for the fight he [illegible] Berlenbach in 1925 and with [illegible] world's light-heavyweight [illegible]ship.

NO TITLE AT STAKE

[illegible] title was at stake tonight, but [illegible] effectually removed Berlenbach from the ranks of contenders [illegible] the heavyweight division. It [illegible] only the second knockout Berlenbach has sustained in the professional ring. Oddly enough, both of [illegible] attacks have been four-round affairs. Jack Delaney administered [illegible] in 1924.

[illegible]though Berlenbach has been [illegible] steady favorite before, [illegible] money was freely wagered [illegible] the men entered the ring [illegible], and McTigue promptly [illegible] why this was so. [illegible] with cool skill, yet taking [illegible] aggressive consistently [illegible] hammering over his right [illegible] opening with the quickness [illegible] of Delaney, McTigue had Berlenbach on the defensive.

STAGGERS TO CORNER

[illegible] one of these rights that sent [illegible] on his heels in the closing [illegible] of the third round, then [illegible] forward to a sitting position, [illegible] sounded before a count [illegible] but Berlenbach staggered as [illegible] to his corner.

[illegible] leaped to the attack with [illegible] fury in the fourth, and soon [illegible]bach reeling, bleeding [illegible] mouth and punch-drunk [illegible] flurries of blows. Twice [illegible] went down for counts of [illegible] time he barely was able [illegible] his feet.

[illegible] managed to do so, but [illegible] feebly and hung on desperately. Mike cornered him [illegible] ripped over two swift [illegible] to the left side of the [illegible] other to the chin. Paul [illegible] instinctively throwing [illegible] arms and grasping his opponent around the legs as he crumpled [illegible] was palpably unable to rise [illegible] the referee, Kid McFarland, [illegible] the fight.

[illegible] was in a turmoil and [illegible] McTigue as he left [illegible] advantage McTigue con[illegible] in weight. He scaled 160 [illegible]'s 177. The official paid [illegible] was 17,747, and receipts [illegible]

JOE McCARTHY

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (AP)—Manager Joe McCarthy of the Chicago Cubs arrived here today much enthused over the prospects for his club in the coming pennant race. McCarthy came from his home in Buffalo, N. Y., and will leave for Los Angeles tomorrow. He will remain there until the club arrives on February 27 before going to the training camp on Santa Catalina Island.

With the addition of Elwood English, $50,000 infielder from the Toledo American Association Club, Earl Webb, slugging outfielder of the Louisville club, and fourteen pitchers on the roster, McCarthy has high hopes of turning out a pennant contender from the start.

TOMMY HITCHCOCK TO APPEAR IN POLO TILT HERE TOMORROW

Southland fans will have their first chance to see the world's best polo player in action tomorrow when Tommy Hitchcock, the international star who is rated as a ten-goal man by the United States Polo Association, makes his appearance with George Moore's Monterey Cardinals in a game with the Midwick Big Four at Alhambra.

The tilt will give the fans the opportunity of seeing Hitchcock play against the best Midwick team that has turned out since 1924. In that year the Purple riders from Alhambra startled the polo world by winning the junior and open championships. Last Wednesday with Bedley and Carleton Burke riding as fast as the wind, the Midwick team grabbed the high goal championship of the Pacific Coast from Del Monte. Hitchcock will find himself up against the smartest players he has met this season from all accounts.

On Hitchcock's team will be George Moore riding in No. 1 position; Fred Roe at No. 3, and W. S. Tevis, Jr., at back. Tommy will face the field in No. 2 position. Moore is a southpaw player, one of the two now playing on the Coast, Hal Roach being the other. He is rated as a great interference player. This is just the kind of man Hitchcock wants on his team as Tommy can take care of the scoring end of the game. Roe is also a great defensive player and can be counted on to feed the ball to Tommy during the tilt. Tevis at back is rated as a five-goal man, and is one of the best horsemen on the coast.

Tevis is the author of several books on polo and polo mounts and he has some of the best-trained polo ponies in the world in his stable. The Midwick line-up will be Ted Miller, Elmer Boeseke, Eric Pedley and Carleton Burke, the most effective combination the club has had up in years. Pedley who covered himself with glory in the Del Monte game may be counted on to put up a dashing game. Burke is playing the best polo of his twenty-one years of the game.

Elmer Boeseke and Ted Miller are well known to coast fans. Boeseke's riding in the game with Del Monte when he covered Harry East, an international star to perfection, was as good as anything seen here in years. Miller is a five-goal man and is rated as good as the best of them at No. 1 position. The Midwick riders may have to spot the Monterey team several goals because of their rating.

BIG TEN ADOPTS RIGID CODE OF ETHICS ON RECRUITING

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (AP)—A rigid code of ethics on recruiting prep-school athletes was adopted today by the committee of sixty of the western conference, and the four-year football schedule framed last week by the Big Ten athletic directors was approved and commended.

Each football candidate, the committee ordered, will be required to sign and abide by the code.

The conference, initiated by the university presidents, included six representatives from each Big Ten university.

The discussion of recruiting and proselyting, occupied the greater part of the day's debates, and resulted in the formulation of the code which embraced these five points:

"(1.) Scholarships, loans and remissions of tuition should not be awarded by universities on the basis of athletic skill, and the unofficial granting of financial aid to athletes by individuals and organizations, by alumni or otherwise, whose primary object in granting the aid in a particular case is the athletic of an athlete, should be considered unethical.

"(2.) Athletic directors and coaches should not, by initiation of correspondence, by distribution of literature or by personal interviews of their own seeking, endeavor to recruit athletes. It is legitimate for them to make speeches, or in response to inquiry, or in casual conversation to describe the advantages of the institution which they represent. Further they should not go. They should discourage questionable recruiting by alumni and students.

"(3.) Alumni and students, whether as clubs, fraternities, informal groups or individuals, should not only scrupulously follow the rule of conduct governing financial assistance set forth in the first paragraph, but should do all in their power to prevent its violation by others. They should vigorously oppose all such unreasonable or unfair reaching of prospective athletes as practically deprives the student of a free and deliberate choice of his university. They should recognize the truth, that any resort to improper methods is not a matter of loyalty, but disloyalty to their institution, and poor sportsmanship.

"(4.) General or field secretaries of alumni organizations should be particularly careful to refrain from improper activities.

"(5.) Prospective athletes should not be promised employment in or by athletic departments of the university. After matriculation, they may be employed to do necessary work, but they should be paid a regular and reasonable scale and should be required to give a full return in service."

The committee then voted that the conference be required to pass legislation to enforce the spirit of these resolutions, and that a form be drawn up which the student, in addition to declaring his eligibility, would be required to declare his observance of the spirit of the code.

The student caravans accompanying football teams were frowned upon, a resolution adopted placing the committee "on record as not favoring expensive migration such as may be harmful to the students' personal and academic success."

STANFORD (Cal.) Jan. 28. (AP)—Stanford University's basketball team tonight defeated University of Nevada, 26 to 17. Score at the half-time was 12 to 8 in favor of Stanford. Bryant was high-point man for Stanford, with four field goals in about three-quarters of the game. Lawlor, Nevada guard, was high-point man for his team with four field goals. The two teams will meet again here tomorrow night.

BARRON AND PERRY HOOK UP TONIGHT

Dario Barron, champion of Mexico, will be introduced to Dave Perry, champion of Canada, in the main event at the Main-street A.C., tonight and then after a few preliminary remarks by Referee Johnny Schiff, the rounds of "punch" will be served.

Barron, the new-found idol of Mexican fans, has made a very sensational rise in his Los Angeles invasion and has bowled over his last eight opponents in handy fashion, while Perry, in his own start in this vicinity, knocked his Culver City opponent in the "creek" after three rounds of furious milling.

SAN DIEGO STATE IN WIN OVER LA VERNE

The San Diego State College cagers defeated the La Verne quintet, 32 to 23, in a Southern California Conference basketball game played last night at San Diego. Mott, with 12 points, starred for the Aztecs, while Lehmer hooped 11 digits for the Dunkards. The same fives play again tonight at San Diego. The line-ups:

San Diego State—Busch (4.) Mott (12.) Smith (2.) forwards; Carr (3.) Robb, centers; Cross (3.) Kopp (1.) guards. La Verne—Lehmer (11.) Boots (3.) Myers, forwards; Betts (3.) center; Sohrt (2.) Bohn, Dunlman, guards. Referee, Todd; umpire, Mashin.

BY BOB RAY

Due principally to the brilliant work of Jim Samarin, chunky Railsplitter forward who accounted for thirteen points, Coach Hap Van Pelt's Lincoln cagers were able to defeat L. A. High, 24 to 18, in the Tiger gym yesterday. The Lincoln five wound up the season tied with Hollywood in the percentage column but the title went to the Foothillers because they defeated the Tigers, 34 to 27, earlier in the race.

In the other wind-up struggle of the City League basketball season, Motts Blair's Manual Arts Toilers thumped the Jefferson cagers by a 39-to-14 count.

Manual Arts won the lightweight championship, Coach Jim Blewett's Toilers upsetting Jefferson, 13 to 9, to finish up in the undisputed leadership. L. A. High's lightweights ran away from Lincoln, 25 to 9, in the other Class "B" struggle of the day.

The Lincoln-L. A. High struggle at times took on the aspect of a football game, with the Romans doing most of the rough stuff and generally getting away with it.

Neither side was able to score in the first eight minutes of play, and the first quarter ended scoreless. Samarin and Christensen got going soon after the second period opened and caged three field goals in rapid succession. About this time the Romans started sinking long shots, and by the time the half was over they were right behind the Tigers, 9 to 8.

A field goal by McDermott, who replaced Maring at forward for L. A. High, and two free throws by Bartcherer, put the Romans out in front at the start of the third period. Lincoln's attack then got under way and Samarin, Winfield and Trammell tossed in nine points to give the Tigers an 18-to-12 edge as the period ended.

Trammell opened the fourth quarter with another Lincoln basket. The Romans then started battling, and worked up to within three points of the Railsplitters. However, Samarin and Christensen caged a free throw and a field goal just before the game ended to clinch the victory.

Five teams finished just outside the money with 72's. They were: Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase, N. Y., and Clyde Cunningham, Houston; Tom Kerrigan, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Emil Mueller, San Antonio; Willard Hutchison, Oklahoma City, and Clarence Nordhaus, San Antonio; Harry Symons, San Antonio and Oasie Carleton, Houston, and Tommy Armour, Washington, D. C., and F. J. Kannatzer, San Antonio.

Most of the players regarded today's matches as a practice session for the $6000 open championship of the State. Pairings for this event, which will start at 8 o'clock in the morning, show that several star players will be grouped in threesomes.

Jack Burke of Houston, John Rodgers of Pittsburgh and Jack Speer of Houston will play in the first threesome that will draw a large gallery. Walter Hagen and Harry Cooper, who have been on an exhibition tour, were drawn in the same threesome with Jack Forrester of Short Hills, N. J., and Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. Y., Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., and Joe Turness, of Fairview, N. Y., will play together. Bill Mehlhorn of Los Angeles, a favorite on the basis of his play today, will be accompanied by Willie Hunter of Brentwood, Cal., and John Golden of Paterson, N. J.

The field will cover thirty-six holes Saturday and thirty-six Sunday to determine the winners of the $1500 first prize and the thirty minor prizes. Very little rain fell today and, while the course was slow, conditions were better than expected. Fair and warmer weather is predicted for tomorrow.

SAN MATEO BLUE POLO TEAM WINS

Hugh Drury Leads Men to Snappy 16-0 Victory Over Artillery Team

DEL MONTE, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—The San Mateo Blues, a seven-goal polo team coached, guided and chaperoned by the veteran Hugh Drury, today ran wild on the Del Monte field, overwhelming a low-goal Seventy-sixth Artillery team, 16 to 0. Drury has taken three youngsters, Ken Walsh, Len Howard and George Pool, has taught them the fundamentals of polo and, more important still, the importance of teamwork, and has brought forth a brilliant low-goal team.

Howard and Walsh played magnificent polo. Drury, a veteran of more than forty years of play, is going practically as well as at any time in his career. Drury single-handed scored six of his team's points. The Army four was quite outclassed in mounts as well as stick work. Howard has been dropped to back and unless the signs are all wrong will soon be winning his spurs in big company. Sunday the San Mateo Blues will meet the Eleventh Cavalry team captained by Maj. W. W. Irwin and at this time the Army will make determined efforts to wipe out today's defeat.

NORMAN ROSS IS HONOLULU BOUND

Norman Ross, who came closer to the mainland than any other man in the Catalina Channel swim except George Young, will leave here today for Honolulu to rejoin his family. His wife is the daughter of a Honolulu business man and the "Big Moose" expects to remain there for several weeks before returning to Los Angeles, where he hopes to establish business connections. Rose's story of the Catalina swim, published exclusively in The Times last Sunday, made a big hit everywhere, and was particularly well received in Young's home town of Toronto, Can.

Everything to an opera singer centers down to protection of the voice; that stands to reason. So when it comes to smoking, I am very careful. Hence, I always ask for a Lucky, not merely because of its ever so rich flavor, but because of its extreme gentleness to my throat. This cigarette, I call my friend for, as a good friend should, it gives me rein to indulge my whims—even as to smoking without imposing a price.

Leon Rothier

The Noted Voice of Rothier
is Safeguarded by Smoking Lucky Strike —Because "It's Toasted"

THIS favorite of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York City, Leon Rothier, like other men whose voices are their fortunes, seeks two merits in a cigarette—greater enjoyment and throat protection.

Lucky Strikes have become the favorites of men whose priceless voices thrill audiences, as they have with the millions, because, first, they afford greater enjoyment, and, second, they are certain not to irritate even the most sensitive throat.

The world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged, perfectly blended, give them their richer flavor.

But in addition, a costly extra process—toasting for 45 minutes—develops the hidden flavors of the choicest tobaccos and at the same time removes all "bite" and harshness.

FINANCIAL

Earnings for 1926 Gain Over 1925, Lasky Reports

Increase in Annual Rate for Common Possible

Believes 1927 Will be Better Year for Industry

Earnings of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation for the year ended December 31, last, were slightly higher than in the preceding year, and with the company just beginning to realize substantially on huge investments made during 1926, there is every indication that 1927 will be the most prosperous year in the corporation's history, Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president, stated in Los Angeles yesterday.

While Mr. Lasky refused to commit himself on the company's future dividend policy, stating that announcements of that character would have to come from Adolph Zukor, president, he acknowledged that as long as the corporation's expansion program for the current year will not call for as large expenditures of capital as in 1926, and with profits looming higher, increased dividends are a possibility.

For the last seven years Famous Players-Lasky has been engaged in buying, building and leasing important theaters in the metropolitan districts of important cities all over this country and in foreign lands. At first this was done entirely out of earnings, without recourse to any outside financing. Since 1920 earnings on the company's common stock have averaged nearly $17 a share annually, and only the regular $8 dividend in cash has been paid each year, the remainder being put back into properties.

EXTRA PAID

However, in the past year the company made its first additional distribution to stockholders since 1920. In 1926 stockholders received $6 in cash, rights to subscribe to new stock worth about $5 a share, and 2 per cent extra in stock worth about $2.50 a share, making a total of $13.50 a share for the year.

Expenditures of the corporation for superpictures during 1926 were greater than in any previous year, Mr. Lasky said, more than $5,000,000 being expended for the three feature productions, "Old Ironsides," "Rough Riders" and "Wings." "Old Ironsides" has been showing in New York and Philadelphia in recent weeks and its western premiere occurred last evening at Grauman's Egyptian. "Rough Riders" will be shown in February and "Wings" is scheduled to appear in April.

"Further expansion of the motion-picture industry in 1927 can be looked for," Mr. Lasky said, "with better pictures being produced, larger theaters being built and more attention given to the educational value of films. We are now concentrating on an improvement in the quality of standard weekly change pictures and our laboratories are working toward the development of the stereoscopic process to give pictures depth as well as breadth and height."

CHAIN ADDED

The greatest achievement of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation during 1926 in the way of expansion was the acquisition, in June, of a controlling interest in Balaban & Katz of Chicago. This consolidation places Famous Players as a predominating factor in the amusement industry, making it the greatest owner and operator of theaters in the world. Balaban's holdings consist of an interest in approximately 250 theaters and total assets of approximately $17,000,000.

There are fourteen foreign subsidiaries of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, covering every important country in Europe, the Orient and South America. The company's new theater in Paris will be opened shortly and the Plaza, recently opened in London, is the finest showhouse in England, he said. The company operates in Germany through a connection with the U.F.A. Company.

"With good pictures and finer houses to receive the support of the public, the motion-picture industry has nothing to fear," Mr. Lasky stated in summing up the outlook.

MARBLE DIRECTORS APPROVE NEW LIENS

COMPANY PLANS OFFERING OF $100,000 FIRST MORTGAGE CERTIFICATES

Plans for the issuance of $100,000 of 6½ per cent group first-mortgage certificates have been approved by the board of directors of the John M. C. Marble Company, subject to the approval of the State Corporation Commissioner, it was announced yesterday by William Carey Marble, president of the company.

Requests for authority to issue the participation certificates will be filed at once, and delivery made within thirty days of the issuance of the permit, the executive announced. Applications for considerably more than half of the total amount of the projected issue were received by the company before the preliminary arrangements for the certificates were completed.

Under the plan outlined, the certificates will be issued in denominations desired, and are to be marketed at par to net the full selling price. The projected issue is the fourth of its kind sponsored by the local organization, and will be listed officially as series "D."

DODGE PROFITS GAIN

G. Wilmer reported today. Sales aggregated $252,997,484, as against $216,841,868 in the year before.

The company's earned surplus increased from $9,841,969, at the beginning of the year to $25,571,388, at the end. The total number of passenger and commercial vehicles sold during the year was 331,764.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

[Copyright, 1927, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

LONDON, Jan. 28. (By Wireless)—The markets were cheerful today, helped by the favorable speeches made yesterday by leading bankers at the annual meetings of their institutions.

Investments were once more buoyant, while the main feature was the all-around character of the improvement, extending to the oils and the mining shares.

Chinese obligations were also fairly steady.

Stringency in the money market and buoyancy in stocks were the chief features of the markets here today; stocks were strong on the revival of hopes that the bank rate will be cut. This firmness was maintained right to the close. The feature of the foreigners was the demand for Rumanian, Chinese and Peruvian securities. South Australia borrowings here will be £2,500,000 of 5 per cents at 98 parity for conversion. It is reported that the New South Wales bonds to be sold in America will be on a basis of about 5 5-8 per cent. They could scarcely do better here. Exchanges were lifeless and steady, but rupee was easier.

Trade in Local Area Reported at High Level

With inventories completed, buying is increasing in most lines, according to the weekly review of local conditions reported yesterday by the Bradstreet Company. Collections are reported fair to satisfactory.

The hardware and electrical business is very good, and business in drug and confectionery lines is reported fair. Wholesale dry goods and women's ready-to-wear establishments report business fairly good with a satisfactory volume of future deliveries. In men's furnishings trade, better sales are reported than a year ago.

The automotive trade reports increased sales since the 1st inst. Crops and produce are finding a fair market with steadier prices. Ranch conditions are good.

BANK STAFF SHIFTS

J. H. Stevensen is Advanced to California's Head Office

Changes in the official staff of the California Bank were announced yesterday by T. E. Ivey, Jr., vice-president and cashier, following a meeting of the board of directors.

J. H. Stevensen, formerly manager of the Pacific Palisades branch of the California Bank, has been promoted to duties in the cashier's department at the head office. To fill the vacancy, J. S. McCain, formerly assistant manager at Southside branch of the bank, has been appointed manager of the Pacific Palisades branch.

GROWTH OF TITLE INSURANCE SHOWN

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP) — Large growth in the field of title insurance in the United States is reported by the New York Title and Mortgage Company, 22,000 policies having been issued in 1926, an increase of 75 per cent over 1925. The company insured titles to property in 252 cities in twenty-four States during the year.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—Factory buying in the early part of the session on the outside rubber exchange today sent prices up ¼c. Local spot was quoted at 23½c. The market was steady after the little spurt in the morning, with a number of inquiries but many traders seemed to be contented to wait for a better condition at London and the primary markets. London closed slightly better at 1/3½d, up ⅛d.

London stocks now total 55,660 tons, but, according to the London Financial Times, the stock has ceased to be a menace since it has become a more or less confirmed fact that a considerable portion is being held for the American account.

RICHFIELD EFFECTS SAVING

Refunding Program and Conversion of Bonds Will Net Neat Profit; Warrants Exercised

BY EARLE R. CROWE

Richfield is one of the California oil companies that confidently expects to knock over a few records in 1927. Under the new name and the new capitalization the company has built a set of plans involving financing, production, marketing and refining that already has produced notable results, which should be cumulative in effect. The report for 1926 is expected to show net income about twice the amount of the previous year, and the management is now looking forward to duplicating this performance in 1927.

From the financial end, one or two important operations will be completed within the next few weeks. The first involves the refunding of 6½ per cent bonds by 6s and the second the retirement of the first installment of the 6 per cent serial notes of 1927-29, carrying stock purchase warrants. Under the first the company will effect an important saving, and the second opens the door to new additions of working capital.

BONDS CALLED

The refunding program, in round figures, saves about $400,000 for the company. The $5,000,000 convertible 6½s of 1933, under this program, are called for payment at 105 on March 1. The bonds, however, are convertible into common stock on February 18 at 25. Some of the bonds have already been converted, and the remainder the management estimates that one-half, or about $2,000,000 will be exchanged for stock, leaving another $2,000,000 subject to call.

On the bonds called for payment March 1, the company must pay a premium of 5 points, or $250,000, if the entire $5,000,000 were outstanding. Since only $2,000,000 will be presented, it is believed, the premium will amount to about $100,000. Right here there is a saving of $150,000 alone.

Through the refunding of 6½s with 6s the company pockets a cool $250,000. It works out this way: One-half of 1 per cent is saved each year by the difference in interest rates. The 6s run for nine years more than the 6½s, making 4½ per cent saved in this period, or $250,000 if the $5,000,000 6½s were outstanding for this length of time. In all $400,000 is saved through the convertible and refunding program.

SERIAL NOTES DUE

Aside from these operations, Richfield is continually receiving new additions to capital from the exercise of the stock purchase warrants attached to the United Oil 6 per cent serial gold notes. The warrants entitle holders to purchase eighteen shares of Richfield at 25 on any date prior to September 1, 1927, and various higher prices thereafter. A considerable number of the warrants have already been exercised, and more are expected prior to March 1, when $750,000 of the notes are called for payment.

From the speculative point of view the new $12,000,000 convertible 6 per cent bonds are of interest to the stock market and the holders of the bonds. The first conversion date is September 18, next, at $34.50. Speculators will assume that it will be in the interests of the company to have the stock selling at or above that price in order to induce conversion.

As James A. Talbot, president of Richfield, has already stated publicly, the company will report favorable progress in the 1926 annual report. Earnings are expected to show about $2.65 on the outstanding common after preferred dividends.

BANCITALY ADVANCES TO RECORD

Bank of Italy Moves Up Also to New High Mark; Oil Stocks Weak

Bancitaly Corporation and Bank of Italy featured trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday and advanced to new record highs for all time, following the announcement of the merger of Bank of Italy interests. Bancitaly Corporation showed the greatest volume in many weeks and added 4 1-8 points to the previous record high and closed 4 points net higher at 99 1-4. Bank of Italy was in demand at 575, a gain of 5 points over the record high established Thursday. Bancitaly rights soared 28 cents to 90 and closed 24 cents net higher at 86.

Oil stocks were generally weak. Julian Petroleum preferred continued to lead the activity of the group, but reacted 1-4 to 13 1-4. The common held at 2½. Union Oil of California closed fractionally lower at 53 3-8, and Associates held at 53½. Standard Oil of California lost ½ to 58½, and California Petroleum common was off to 31 1-8, 1-4 of a point net loss.

Los Angeles Investment was active at 2.92, a firm figure. Southern California Edison common developed weakness and sold off 1-4 of a point more to 32½, while the preferred issues were steady.

Morrison Development appeared on the board for the first time yesterday and sold at 6. Western Apex was the feature of the advance in the mines, adding 6 cents on reports of favorable progress at the mine and closed at 61. Simon Silver Lead was active, but closed 8 cents below the opening at 7. North Star lost ⅛ cent to 8½, and Boundary Cone to 7. Big Jim rallied 2½ cents to 44.

Preceding the election of officers an interesting discussion was given of the community property law by Municipal Judge Rosenkrans.

Cheerful Note Struck in Dun's Survey of Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say:

More definite evidences of expanding operations appeared in the closing week of January though the general level of commodity prices was lowered. During the month, however, there was practically an equal division of advances and declines in Dun's list of wholesale quotations, and hides, leather and textiles have been promoted by reason of their increasing firmness. Transactions in those commodities have been increasing except where a paucity of supplies has restricted dealings and sales of some kinds of cotton goods have exceeded output. The latter phase reflects the stimulus imparted to demand for fabrics by the low price for the raw material, and conditions in the industry generally not only disclose current improvement, but also more confidence in the future. On the other hand, business in steel, while recently of a large volume, has become more highly competitive, with further concessions in prices and a consequent narrowing of profit margins.

Weekly bank clearings $8,096,402,000, a decrease of 2 per cent from last year.

Final Payment on Mexico Debt Reported Paid

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 28. (AP)—Official announcement is made that the Mexican government has paid the last installment on the foreign debt for 1926. The sum has been turned over to the International Committee of Bankers, New York, in accordance with the terms of the Pani-Lamont agreement on Mexico's debt to the United States.

Several days ago the Mexican Treasury Department issued a statement that the unpaid balance of interest on the national foreign debt for 1926, which was due in New York on the 1st inst., would be sent to the International Committee of Bankers there as soon as confirmation was received of the sum due. The Treasury figures fixed the amount at $256,162.

NEW CUSTOMER ASKS LOAN

Australian Province Turns from Downing Street to Wall Street for First Time in History

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—For the first time in history New South Wales, a province of the commonwealth of Australia, has turned away from London to ask New York bankers for a loan. Flotation of a $25,000,000 issue by any foreign power on so favorable a basis as is reflected in a 5 per cent coupon, would always attract attention but, naturally enough, what interests Wall street most in the discussions of this forthcoming issue, is the new trend in foreign financing that it signifies.

What has happened in the field of international finance is plain to see. London gradually has been losing her position as the principal money market of the world and New York in increasing proportion has been winning its way to the front in a field once almost entirely unknown to it.

It takes no expert to see how the volume of foreign offerings here has grown since the war. Up to the time of the flotation of the Anglo-French loan a decade ago, the number of foreign issues that had been offered here was conspicuously small. Not until after the cessation of hostilities did the movement gain momentum. And now it requires only a glance to see the foreign list quoted daily in every newspaper is so long that on the bond page it consumes more than a quarter of the entire space allotted to the New York Stock Exchange transactions. Between 150 and 175 individual issues are quoted daily among the many listed foreign bonds, not to mention, of course, the numerous foreign bonds not listed, or the foreign stocks.

And yet it does not reveal the full importance to which the foreign group has attained, to say that on the bond page it represents a fourth of the number of lines since, in the markets of late, activity has been centered around the foreign posts. The list yesterday was fewer than a third of the entire bond transactions represented members of the foreign group. Over the course of years since the war a steady fire of criticism has been offered by conservative bankers against the expansion in foreign flotations, and quite properly, but it is difficult to find a group, strange as it may sound to say so, for which a better record can be cited than for the overseas bonds marketed here. Investors have approached the bonds sometimes with a warm and sometimes with a timid heart, but the first default in payment on any of these post-war loans marketed here is still to be recorded.

Gradually fears for the future of financing of this type have given way to a belief that flotations of the character are certain to continue on a large scale and that the best way for the American banker and investor to meet the situation is through a more thorough study of the conditions of these foreign borrowers. More than half of the world's gold supply is in our vaults and if the United States is to maintain its position as a large exporter of merchandise, the international balance of payments will have to be accomplished in some other way than through the shipment of goods from overseas. In part it will have to be accomplished through a shipment of capital from this country and, as it happens, the demand on for foreign stocks and bonds on the part of American investors is becoming more intelligent as it is becoming more persistent.

Ojai State Bank Control Bought by New Liberty

VENTURA, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—The controlling interest, or a total of 746 shares of the Ojai State Bank of Ojai was bought yesterday by the newly organized Liberty Bank of America, it was announced today by officials of the Bank of Italy here. The consideration in the deal for the $700,000 institution was not announced.

The Ojai State Bank was organized in 1907. The Farmers' Bank of Camarillo, which recently became a branch bank of the Bank of Italy, is also to be placed in the Liberty Bank of America chain.

OPERATING INCOME OF RAIL GROUP DECLINES

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Aggregate net operating income of the first forty-four railroads to report December earnings was $51,538,459, against $57,269,225 in December, 1925, a decrease of 11.1 per cent, and compared with $78,843,189 in November, last. Gross revenues for the same number were $340,121,782, an increase of 1.5 per cent over December, 1925, but about $30,000,000 less than in November.

THE INVESTOR

Italy's Financial Policies Appear not to Compromise Position of Investor

BY RALPH HENDERSHOT

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Indications are that Italy will be a large borower in this market this year. Already a number of new issues have been offered for public participation here and negotiations are understood to have been completed for many others.

For that reason investors in this country will virtually be forced to give some consideration to the new doctrine of Fascism, which has been adopted by Premier Mussolini and his followers. It would seem unwise for investors to loan money to Italy or any of her industries without first satisfying themselves that this new doctrine is not apt to stand in the way of repayment.

In the October issue of the International Conciliation is to be found the English translation of a speech delivered by Alfredo Rocco, Minister of Justice in the government of Italy, in which he explained rather fully the Fascist policy. His presentation may be regarded as authentic, as it has since received the official indorsement of Premier Mussolini. The booklet is published by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and should prove a worth-while investment at its price of 5 cents.

So far as the financial policies of the new party are concerned, there appears to be nothing in Mr. Rocco's speech which would indicate that the investor's position is unusually compromised by the new regime. He said in part of such policies:

"The suppression of private ownership of capital carries with it the suppression of capital itself, for capital is formed by savings, and no one will want to save, but will rather consume all he makes if he knows he cannot keep and hand down to his heirs the results of his labors.

"The dispersion of capital means the end of production, since capital, no matter who owns it, is always an indispensable tool of production. Collective organization of production is followed, therefore, by the paralysis of production, since, by eliminating from the productive mechanism the incentive of individual interest, the product becomes rarer and more costly.

"The recognition of individual rights is a part of the Fascist doctrine, not because of its individual bearing, but because of its social utility. It considers the economic development, and especially the production of wealth as an eminently social concern, wealth being for society an essential element of power and prosperity."

CONFIDENCE FIRMING ON WOOL MART

BOSTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

The opening of heavyweight staple goods by the American Woolen Company at a slight advance, generally about 2 1-2 cents a yard over July prices, and the strengthening tendency in the foreign markets has given added confidence to the domestic market and quotations are fully firm on the basis of last week's quotations, with some asking prices slightly dearer.

The broadening of the contracting movement in the West has been a mater of considerable interest in the trade. Generally prices have been in the range of 36 to 38 cents, according to the wool and the section, with a high point of 37 1-2, possibly 38 cents in Texas for the very choicest wools. The latter wools, it is estimated, will cost somewhere from 95 cents to $1, clean basis, landed Boston, possibly a bit more occasionally.

The goods market is responding cordially to the opening goods prices named by the American Woolen Company.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1927, to January 27, 1927, inclusive, were 17,355,000 pounds, against 17,765,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1927, to January 27, 1927, inclusive, were 5,754,900 pounds, against 39,927,200 pounds for the same period last year.

The Commercial Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

Scoured basis. Texas—Fine twelve months (selected), 1.05@1.06; fine eight months, $1@1.00; fall, 90@95.

California—Northern, 1.00@1.00; middle county, $5@95; southern, 72@75.

Coolidge May Speak Before Bank Meeting

An invitation has been extended President Coolidge to attend the annual convention of the American Institute of Banking to be held at Detroit, Mich., in July. It was announced yesterday by F. R. Williams, executive of the newly formed Liberty Bank of America and national vice-president of the institute, upon his return from a business trip east.

Accompanied by the president and secretary of the American Institute of Banking, Mr. Williams called on the President at the White House and extended the invitation. Mr. Coolidge is seriously considering attending the convention to give his personal indorsement to the program which the institute is fostering, Mr Williams said.

OATMAN MINE CAMP OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

Resumption of work on the property of the Oatman Gold Mining Company at Oatman, Ariz., after two years' idleness, has added greatly to the optimism of the Oatman camp, according to a wire received yesterday from Charles F. Puch, superintendent. Mr. Puch states that the big shaft is in fine shape, and that development to the Hartmann vein, 300 feet away, has been started. The work is said to be well financed, and high-grade ore a possibility.

Flurry in Wheeling-Lake Erie Rail Issue Features

Other Carriers and Industry Shares Change Little

Total Turnover for Session is Relatively Light

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—The panicky retreat of an overcrowded short interest in common stock of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad, which soared 11½ points to 69½, and then lost slightly more than half the gain, overshadowed all other developments in today's stock market. The general list disclosed considerable irregularity, most of the standard industrials and rails showing relatively narrow changes on the day. Trading was relatively light in volume.

Credit conditions continued comparatively easy. While there may have been some speculative disappointment at failure of the New York Federal Reserve directors to decrease the rediscount rate yesterday, the maintenance of the 4 per cent charge caused no surprise in conservative banking quarters. The weekly statement of the reserve bank disclosed a large drop in loans and rediscounts with a resultant sharp increase in the reserve ratio, the rapidity with which new bond offerings are absorbed, the underlying strength of listed bonds in general and the prosperous thora of funds available on call, all striking testimony to presence of an enormous investment demand.

The pyrotechnics in Wheeling and Lake Erie resulted from an unexpected demand for delivery of stock certificates by brokers who had been accumulating stock in the last few weeks.

FLURRY CHECKED

This aroused fears of a "corner" in many quarters, causing urgent short covering in some issues and hasty liquidation in others, but as more stock became available for loaning purposes the Wheeling situation righted itself without any unpleasant circumstances for the time being other than the huge losses believed to have been sustained by trapped "shorts."

The weekly mercantile reviews reported further irregularities in the business situation, although they found more definite evidences of corresponding operations in the closing week of January, though the general level of commodity prices was lowered.

RUBBERS GAIN

Rubber shares showed a temporary outburst of strength on buying influenced by the belief that with heavy inventory losses of last year written off and prospects favorable for increased sales in 1927, the industry was likely to be one of the few to show gains in earnings this year. Ajax touched 11 3-8, the highest price in months. Motors and equipments showed temporary outbursts of strength, but failed to maintain their gains. Oil stocks, steels held firm. Coppers were quiet, but fairly steady.

Aside from the Wheeling and Lake Erie issues, one of the most interesting movements in the railroad list

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Bonds of a more active character, which had been under the first of the year, showed ordinary tendencies today. There was evidence that the abundance of new issues has been sufficient to satisfy the greater part of early investment demand, and a further shading-off in buying has occurred. Investors also showed an inclination to mark time until the next reduction of the Federal reserve rediscount rate is effected. Observers who a week or so ago freely predicting such a move are inclined to be more cautious.

Rails centered again in foreign issues, which were generally firm, with a few new high records. French 7s and 8s and German 7s and 8s also advanced to a new peaks during the day as their gains on realizing. Certain foreign railway issues presented good spots in the market. Selling pressure was particularly noticeable in Erie convertible 4s, while Great Northern adjustment 6s and Sou Board Air Line 6s firmness on the other hand. Baltimore and Ohio refunding 6s, Missouri Pacific general 4s, St. Louis and San Francisco 6s and a few other high-quality liens were generally, while industrials were easy to heaviness. Liggett & Myers maintained a 2 point loss.

Interest for United States government securities centered in the Third 4¼s and the Treasury 4¼s, which were steady. The Norwegian 6s and 8s and the Danish 6s firmed 1 per cent loan of 1921-31, for 200,000,000 kroner, part of which was offered in the New York market, has been called for redemption April 1. The Pacific Coast Railway has retired $1,000,000 of its 1st 5 per cent bonds due June 1, leaving $4,000,000 outstanding.

The following represent sales of bonds (its a colon) and the high, low and close for the day, from which is omitted sales under $1,000, and also what sales in high.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—The curb market drifted lower again today although independent strength developed in a few specialties believed to be under pool sponsorship. Public interest was at low ebb. Absence of bids rather than any real pressure to sell accounted for the reactionary price tendency.

Oils were rather sluggish, due to speculative disappointment over the failure of the recent rally in that group to "follow through." Humble, Imperial and Tidal Osage dropped a point or so, and several of the other popular shares yielded fractionally. South American issues held fairly steady, with special support apparent for Creole Syndicate.

A brisk demand for Union and United Tobacco, which advanced over 2 points to 65, and a renewed inquiry for Bancitaly stock, which advanced over 3 points to 98, attracted the most attention in the industrial group. Singer Manufacturing and Deere each jumped about 9 points in odd-lot transactions. Elsewhere, the strength of Curtiss Airplane, General Baking A, New Jersey Zinc and United States Stores A, was offset by the heaviness of British American Tobacco, Rand Kardex, Safeway Stores, Splitdorf, Bethlehem and Universal Pictures.

Public utilities were in better demand, with moderate gains being recorded by Electric Investors, and General Public Service.

Profit-taking checked the advance in bond prices.

The closing price is quoted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

was a 3-point drop in Southern Railway, which sold as low as 119.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent all day. Time money and commercial-paper rates were unchanged.

Except for a decline of 3-32 cents a pound in raw sugar, all the principal commodity markets gained ground. Cotton rallied 21 to 25 points with some buying undoubtedly influenced by reports that recent sales of certain lines of cotton goods exceeded output. Active wheat futures advanced fractionally. Coffee closed unchanged to 4 points higher.

Establishment of another new high record since 1920 by Spanish pesetas at 15.69 cents, featured the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held steady at $4.84 11-16 and French francs just below 3.94 cents.

Wheat Futures Fraction Down on Quiet Mart

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—While wheat prices held within a range of ¼@1¼c, there was a fairly liberal trade, with aggressive commission-house buying appearing on the breaks, and despite heavy profit-taking the close was off ¼@¾c. May finished at 1.41¾@1.42, July 1.33¾ and September 1.30¾. Corn was heavy and lost ¾@¾c, with May 81¾@81¾, July 84½@84¾ and September 84¾. Oats were ¼@¾c lower, with May 46½@46¾ and July 43, while rye was ¼c lower, with May 1.00¾ and July 1.04½.

Liverpool wheat market showed independent strength and closed ¾d higher, having considerable influence on sentiment here, as did a sharp return at Winnipeg, where exporters and millers were aggressive buyers, part of the latter's purchases being attributed as against sales of flour to the Orient via the Pacific Coast. Winnipeg gained ¼@⅝c for the day.

Part of the buying of wheat futures here was based on reports from the seaboard of a better foreign demand for domestic grain, with sales of over 100,000 bushels sold, with France, England and Germany taking bulk. Sales of Manitobas were around 400,000 bushels. At the same time the cash basis at the gulf was easier, and no change was shown at the Atlantic seaboard. Houses with northwestern connections were aggressive sellers on the bulge, while at Kansas City there was a good selling of futures the past few days attributed to country mills, and May is that market lost ¼c in Chicago for the day, the spread at the last being 7¾c. Buenos Aires closed ½ higher.

Strength in Liverpool was on a good demand for near-by grain, and exhausted stocks of spot wheat. Argentine exports were 1,680,000 bushels, against 8,500,000 bushels the previous week, while North America cleared 9,648,000 bushels, or 455,000 bushels in excess of the previous week. World's shipments are expected to be liberal, and were estimated at 17,864,000 bushels, with the trade looking for a fair increase to be shown in the passage statement on Monday.

Corn was firm early with wheat, but ran into commission-house selling on the uptrend and showed a heavy undertone toward the last, with cash on the selling side. Local spot basis was steady at 1½c lower, with country offerings sparingly held above the market. Some cash corn was carried over unsold. Bulk of the receipts are low grades, both here and at Minneapolis, while choice grain is wanted. Dry weather continues in Argentina, and Buenos Aires closed ¾c higher, with February 64½ and May 65. There was some export business at the seaboard, but quantities were not given.

Oats declined in sympathy with corn, with the May-July spread showing a tendency to narrow. Best support came from resting orders and shorts.

Rouse with export connection bought 779, but while there were claims of business at the seaboard, quantities were not given. Long rye came out rather freely at times.

Commission buying of lard for investment and cash account was fairly good at times, while packers were the best sellers. Trading was mainly in May delivery and prices closed at net gains of 3¼@3c, with January and March 12.67.

Short ribs closed 15c higher to unchanged and bellies were unchanged to 2½c higher.

BY HOWARD C. HEGLEY

Another well of gusher proportions was brought in at Seal Beach yesterday by the Mariand Oil Company's Seal Beach No. 2, going on production at a natural rate of 9400 barrels a day. The oil is practically clean, showing a cut of only about 4 per cent emulsion with water, and the emulsion is expected to clear up in a day or two.

One of the features of the new well is the high production of wet oil and the high content of gasoline which the gas carries. The well is capable of flowing about 800,000 cubic feet of gas a day, but last night had been shut up to about 1,500,000 cubic feet. Tests showed that the gasoline content was about three gallons per 1000 feet. Bottom of the well is at about 4775 feet.

Drilling on the second good well the company has completed on the Seal Beach McGrath property, both of which are a deeper zone which has been found by other projects in the field, and which apparently is capable of much higher zones. The No. 1 which came in at between 8000 and 9000 barrels, and which is now under control, continues to produce about 2000 barrels a day. The second well has four other wells under way on this lease.

Activity Quickened

Activity in the Richfield Oil Company appears to have effected a successful water shut-off in the second attempt in its Richfield No. 8 well at Seal Beach, after getting ahead at 4546 feet. The well is 101 feet deeper than the point where casing was set. Unless this water flows into bottom water which is not the case of the Mariand company's Richy No. 4, it should be a big step with a great penetration of sand to draw from than any that has yet completed in this district.

Other Wells

The California Petroleum Corporation, which owns the Morse property, is now out of the Julian Petroleum Corporation's Cypress No. 1 well in the Potrero area, has started two wells on that lease, but has no plan to build the derrick just yet, according to the report. It will wait until somewhat more definite in the way of supply or production is found before starting operations.

Other Wells

The Julian Petroleum Corporation is drilling ahead at about 4000 feet on a wildcat well at Potrero, and as soon as can be ascertained, has drilled up the zone which the Richfield Oil Company penetrated at about 3700 feet, according to field reports.

Conditions, in spite of this support of showings, It was reported yesterday that Julian surrendered its stakes for eight locations in this area, which is followed by oil men as an indication that the Julian management is disheartened by the cores and flow tests.

Richfield Acreage

The Richfield Oil Company added 160 acres to its string, it was also reported yesterday, one well being located in the new field at Seal Beach and the other in the Rosecrans field in Kern county, for long rentals of projects. The latter output is said to aggregate 1000 barrels a day.

Seal Beach well is the second to be completed on the Seal Beach No. 1 and the Midway well in Southwestern No. 7.

Acreage Acreage

The Pacific Development Company of California is signing up leases in the Kinney district, according to reports. It is understood that the company has about 1000 acres under its control in a community lease.

Drilling Activity

Another independent operator, who is connected to the northeastern part of the Rosecrans field as a result of the sensational success of the Five Oil Company on the property, is down about 4475 feet at Cina Hundred and Seventy-fourth and Broadway, according to field reports. Good oil sands are reported, but it is said that there have been no shows of oil to date.

Oil or Not?

Test drilling is confronting the Trustees of Seal Beach. They have coupons printed and sent to property owners asking them their opinion one way or another and urging the coupons.

Some of the city during the past few weeks has revealed that the people are divided on the question of oil drilling. The intense feeling outside the city during the past few months has brought the matter to a head. The fever of lifting restrictions in Huntington Beach because of the fact that residents should be lifted. It is said that the City Trustees will take on the matter within the few weeks and if the coupons have been mailed out the expected returns the Trustees will be able to take action

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Speculative interest naturally was focused on Wheeling and Lake Erie in which there was every semblance of a "technical corner." Yesterday afternoon and again this morning it was reported that those who have sold the stock short had been notified that it must be delivered to the buyers by delivery time today; that is, 2:15 o'clock, or that they would be bought in "under the rule." Naturally there was frantic effort made to get hold of the necessary certificates, but these were available in the loan market only at sharply advanced premiums. This left shorts with but one alternative, to go into the open market and bid for their needs.

Loan Premium 1 Per Cent

After the close yesterday the stock was commanding a premium of 3-16 per cent in the loan market. At the outset today the premium was 1-4 per cent and before the end of the first hour, with the stock sky-rocketing under the impetus of urgent covering, the premium had been raised to a full 1 per cent. The spread between the bid and offer prices was wide during the first hour, and the high price, 65 1-2, reached on a cash trade just after 11 o'clock, was made when the stock was actually selling on the tape at 61.

Shorts Roundly Trounced

It was evident that the floating supply had been reduced to insignificant proportions as a result of the heavy accumulation over the last fortnight or so. Bankers identified with several large eastern roads have been reported picking the stock up, presumably for merger purposes. The turnover since the 17th inst. has been well in excess of the total of shares outstanding. The stock started 3 points higher this morning, yielded about a point and then began its dizzy upturn, which carried up 11 points to a figure double the low prices of a fortnight ago. Evidently those behind the movement were not desirous of being scuffed of corraling the stock, as the shares were supplied freely in the late morning.

An Unfavorable Influence

The situation in Wheeling created considerable nervousness in other sections of the list, and not a little of the selling, which developed in the course of the day, was directly attributable to anxiety over the rapid up bidding of that stock. Those who could recall previous actual corners and their consequences were disposed to let this situation, "blow itself out," as one man put it, before making any new commitments.

Household Products Up

A few specialities were responsive to favorable dividend action by directors. Household Products was noteworthy in that respect, advancing spectacularly to new high levels for the year. General Railway Signal also was higher for the same reason. The latter company is able to show earnings for its common stock equivalent to twice the 1925 results, despite the fact that about $1,000,000 was written off on account of certain subsidiary operations.

Best Ratio Since 1924

Looked upon as foreshadowing an abundance of cheap money for some time to come and as indicating that a lower rediscount rate is but a question of time, the weekly reserve bank statement was interesting. The ratio of 89 per cent against 83.4 per cent a week ago was the highest since June, 1924. An increase of $30,855,000 in gold reserves and a drop of $50,902,000 in discounted bills explained the sharp upturn in the ratio of the system.

Ajax Rubber Strong

Stories of buying for control were revived by the large-scale trading in Ajax Rubber, which was one of the most active of the low-priced stocks during the day. Several times previously spurts in that stock have given rise to just such manner of gossip. The last bulge, however, was followed by the announcement of new financing through the offering to stockholders of 300,000 additional shares of capital stock. Current buying most likely is in anticipation of a favorable statement for the final six months of 1926 in the near future.

Fund for Island Removal and Deep Channel in Sight

Reclamation of 65-Acre Area Also Included

The government plan to remove Dead Man's Island, within the mouth of the main channel and reclaim sixty-five acres east of the island, is being advanced at Washington, where appropriations are reported to have passed both houses of Congress and are now in the President's hands awaiting his signature.

The job comprehends removal of about 2,300,000 cubic yards of earth and the riprapping of the sixty-five-acre fill, estimated to cost considerably more than $900,000.

Funds, it is believed, would be made available by early summer and the work gotten under way shortly afterward.

The removal of Dead Man's Island will be the last link in giving the port an unbroken 1000-foot channel from the sea to East Basin in the inner harbor.

The reclamation of the sixty-five acres will afford ample sites for the erection of a quarantine station, an immigration station and other Federal marine facilities.

Another important government project got under way last week when the United Dredging Company began deepening the channel to thirty-five and thirty-seven feet. It involves removal of 2,600,000 cubic yards of earth at an expenditure of $607,000.

Other important government projects for the port, but not immediate, include a Congressional commitment for $3,000,000 toward extension of the outer harbor breakwater. It is contingent, however, on a unified port district, unification of a belt line railway, construction of a pier seaward from Terminal Island and readiness to create a fill linking Wilmington with Terminal Island at some future date.

CAPACITY LIST ON LINER FOR HONOLULU

Of all the sailings to Hawaii from this port throughout the year, the one for which reservations are in greatest demand by watchers is that of the last Saturday in January. At noon today the Matson liner City of Los Angeles, on the service from Los Angeles to Hawaii, will sail with all but 20 cabins of her total capacity booked and having quite a number of wouldbe passengers with their names still on the waiting list.

What is fairly surprising in California, who looked early enough to secure passage on this sailing, the majority of the passengers leaving the Hawaiian Islands on this trip will be people from eastern States, most of whom have been staying in Southern California for varying periods prior to selecting the three weeks' round-trip tour from this port to Hawaii.

An imposing array of foreign passenger carriers will be in port today to contribute international color to the Chamber of Commerce's Foreign Trade Week.

There will be the Swedish motorship Canada, Holland-American motorship Noordam, Norwegian motorship Hirdmeister, German steamer Bochum, British steamer Southeastern Miller and the Mexican steamer Bolivar.

Likewise, five coastwise passenger carriers either will arrive or depart today, while three large American offshore liners will complete the list, the latter including the City of Los Angeles of the Los Angeles Steamship Company's service for Hawaii with 250 travelers aboard; the Panama Pacific liner Monowitz from New York with 300 passengers, and the Dollar liner President Jackson, here to inaugurate the new trans-Pacific service for the Dollar Line.

Open house for everyone will be held aboard the President Lincoln at berth 252A, Terminal Island, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. tomorrow, and an invitational reception will be held on the ship from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. the 31st inst., the former by the Dollar Steamship Company.

All steamship companies and other maritime interests are expected to dress ship with holiday flags tomorrow in honor of the final demonstration of Foreign Trade Week.

C. G. Kroger, Southern California representative of the Mexican National Navigation Lines, announced yesterday that Los Angeles agent for the government-owned Mississippi Shipping Service. The latter owns the entire Mississippi Valley, and has been operating cargo to Los Angeles harbor from Vancouver, where the barges are met by deep-sea vessels. The service, a development of the War, will be developed into a transcontinental inland trade, touching such points as Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City, and this spring will be established in Minneapolis. Mr. Kroger said freight dispatched between those inland points and Los Angeles harbor via Hartwood Lumber Company, C. V. Sylvia, local agent.

Twenty Lashes Added to Terms of Three Men

TORONTO (Ont.) Jan. 28. (Exclusive)—The Second Divisional Court of Ontario today partially acceded to the appeal of the Ontario Attorney-General when it added twenty lashes each to the fifteen-year penitentiary sentences recently imposed in lower court on Richard Darling, Walter Liddiard and Frank De Young, St. Catherines, for a moral offense. The lashes are to be administered ten within six months and ten within eighteen months.

It was a unique case inasmuch as the Ontario government appealed the fifteen-year sentences as insufficient and asked the full death penalty.

Woman Tells Cause of Shot at Policeman

A roomer is only a roomer, but an unwelcome suitor in the home is a downright pest, according to Mrs. Hazel Garland, 34 years of age, who lives at 112 South Edinburgh avenue.

HAZEL GARLAND

Thus she explained the circumstances that led to her shooting of Patrolman W. R. McIntire of the Hollywood police department Thursday night at her home. She said McIntire had been a roomer in her home for some time and had often tried to make love to her. Thursday night he entered while she was eating dinner and began destroying the furniture, she said. When she remonstrated, he threatened to kill her, she told police, so, seizing a revolver from a drawer near by, she fired as he was advancing toward her. The shot only grazed his cheek, Mrs. Garland said, but served to stop him.

She then called the Hollywood police, who investigated and sent McIntire to the Receiving Hospital. Yesterday she came downtown and offered to surrender to the police upon the advice of her attorney. She was taken to the office of E. J. Dennison, head of the homicide squad, who declined to hold her after hearing her story and that of a neighbor, who witnessed the shooting. The wounded policeman was ordered suspended from duty following an investigation of the affair.

Wife Told to Live Out Here and be Orange Blossom, She Says to Judge

"I'm going to stay in Jersey with the skeeters because I like a pretty girl. You stay in California and be an orange blossom," wrote Andrew Morgan to his wife, Janice Morgan, she told Judge Summerfield yesterday.

This cynical note was Mrs. Morgan's evidence of desertion.

"He left me here stranded," she testified under examination by her attorney, S. S. Hahn.

Judge Summerfield granted her a divorce.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion. An emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach; is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved, after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—[Advertisement.

...the opinion, the Appellate Court ...ed a writ of habeas corpus to ...Fiesher and ordered him remanded to custody. Fiesher was arrested October 5, 1926, on a complaint charging him with selling ten ...ares of stock of the Julian Merger ...Inc., which did not have a permit from the Commissioner of Corporations in violation of the Corporate Securities Act.

...ough his attorneys and before ...was brought to trial, Fiesher ...ed his release on the ground ...it was not necessary for the ...Julian Mines to have a permit ...it was maintained that the ...corporation was organized and ...ing under and by virtue of the ...s of the District of Columbia ...ctioned by Congress. ...ty-Gen. Harrison maintains that the exemption extends ...corporations pertaining to national government or of national interest and importance in ...ways. HE'LL BE WIFE'S LEGAL KEEPER

And Build a Little Nest in the West

ON AND after February 15, next, Charles Henry Doner is scheduled for extraordinary distinction. If things go as now planned, Doner, on that day, will become the legal guardian of his wife, Inez Marie Doner, and, as far as anyone at the Courthouse could guess yesterday, he will be the only husband in California to serve in the dual role.

The train of events leading up to this unusual situation is full of romance and heart interest—love laughing at locksmiths and money lenders and all that sort of thing.

A few months ago the young couple were married. Doner was less than 21 years of age and his bride was under 16 at that time. After it was all over they became somewhat nervous at what they had done and sought the advice of Judge Robinson, veteran at the bar.

"You children are too young for marriage. You'd better have this marriage annulled and wait until you are older. Then if you still love each other you can be married properly," was his advice.

So the marriage was annulled on the ground that both parties were under age and lacked parental consent. And they waited until they were older. At least they waited until they were several weeks older and Doner came of age. Then they decided they had waited long enough, and, as they still loved each other, they followed Judge Robinson's advice and married again, this time with the consent of the bride's mother.

Now they have bought a lot in Belvedere and plan to build a home. But the loan company, which is going to finance their venture, demurred at accepting Mrs. Doner's signature when it developed she is under age. That was a simple enough matter for Judge Robinson. He just filed an application for Doner's appointment as Mrs. Doner's guardian and Judge Crail will pass on the matter February 15, next.

FILMS GET "THE MIRACLE"

...d National Reports Rights Bought from Woods; Legal Contest Over Spectacle Expected

...What is declared are the film rights to "The Miracle," were purchased ...from Al H. Woods, New York theatrical producer, by the First National Pictures Corporation, and the screen version of this famous spectacle will be made at the corporation's Burbank studio, it was announced today by Richard A. Rowland, general manager of the company. Rowland also expects some litigation before the picture can be distributed, as it has cost enough of the validity of Woods's claim to pay him approximately $100,000.

...negotiations with Woods, he ...have been going on for a long ...Rowland bases his rights, it was ...from a purchase from Joseph ...of Vienna, who produced a ...version of the spectacle in ...that purchase was made in ...amounting to an announcement ...by Rowland, and the rights ...been tied up by various court actions ever since, since several others are said to lay claim to a portion of the film. As a result no effort has been made to screen the spectacle in this country.

"I have gone over the whole situation," Rowland said, "and believe our lawyers can straighten out the tangle in a short time. We expect to begin production in about six months."

Morris Gest, producer and manager of "The Miracle," which is to be staged in Los Angeles soon, declared that he knew nothing of the sale of motion-picture rights to the play.

"I have certain rights," he said, "but I have made no negotiations with anyone." Mr. Gest declined to state definitely whether or not his "certain rights" included the motion-picture rights to the play. "I have certain rights," he repeated in answer to the question, "and naturally will protect them. At present I cannot say whether or not I will contest this reported sale. First I'll have to find out what it is all about."

All details of the picture, Rowland said, will be in the hands of John McCormick, general manager of First National's West Coast studio. Not even a start, it was said, has been made toward casting the picture or selecting a director for it and selections for the two principal parts, the nun and the Madonna, will be made only after very careful consideration.

"We do not now expect to use any of the actors in the present stage cast," McCormick said. "I feel very much flattered at having the opportunity to make this picture, and shall consider it the greatest opportunity of my career. 'The Miracle,' I am sure, will be considered the greatest picture of all time."

FRIENDS PAY FINAL HONOR TO PIONEER

Many Representatives of Old Spanish Families at Funeral of Mrs. Gates

Funeral services for Mrs. Maria Los Angeles Valdez Gates, 92 years of age, pioneer resident of Los Angeles, were conducted yesterday at the Church of the Precious Blood. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

The services were attended largely by the descendants of the old Spanish families who had come to mourn the passing of one of their group. Most of these remained to enter the cortege to the cemetery for the final rites.

Mrs. Gates was born on a spot near what is now the intersection of First and Spring streets. Her mother was a member of one of Southern California's oldest families, and her father came to California from Spain.

She leaves two daughters, one son and two grandsons.

FUNDS ASKED FOR NEW MOTORCYCLES

PROSPERITY FOR YEAR FORECAST

Railway Official Asserts Signs Optimistic

Aid Extended Farmers to Overcome Losses

Samuel M. Felton Points to Carriers' Efficiency

All signs at this time point to a prosperous year for the country as a whole, in the opinion of Samuel M. Felton of Chicago, chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago Great Western Railway Company and also chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives, who arrived at the Biltmore yesterday.

Mr. Felton is in Southern California for a brief vacation and will go to Honolulu when he concludes his visit here.

"It is somewhat difficult to predict what conditions are going to be," said Mr. Felton. "This is especially true in regard to the agricultural sections where crop conditions play such an important part. About all we can say is that we are prosperous at this time and indications are good for continued prosperity."

ROAD AIDS FARMERS

The Chicago Great Western lines are all located in the Middle West, running from Chicago to Kansas City and north from that point through Omaha to St. Paul.

"This is the heart of the country's agricultural area, which, as you know, was rather hard hit by the depression following the war," said Mr. Felton. "To assist the farmers in overcoming their difficulties our road about four years ago instituted a department designed to advise the farmers on matters of mutual interest to the agricultural interests and the railroad. This department is in charge of a former professor of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, who travels extensively through the farming sections along our road, conducts farmers' institutes and renders such aid as he can. The department, which is a new departure in railroading, has proved very successful."

ROADS EFFICIENT

In speaking of the railroad situation of the country, Mr. Felton mentioned the efficiency of the carriers today, which is regarded as the highest in the history of railroading.

"This efficiency was brought on by the necessity for improvement in railroading after the war," said Mr. Felton. "While the country was at war little effort was made to keep railway maintenance up to a high standard and rejuvenation of the roads was necessary.

"The improvement undertaken involved not only roadbeds and rolling stock, but extended also to methods of operation. The roads are getting more service out of their equipment than ever before. Before the war, for instance, a road was content to get twenty miles a day out of a freight car. Now we are getting forty-four miles. In many instances a locomotive today does the same work that formerly required three locomotives. These are only examples of how the railway service has been improved, and this improvement extends through all departments."

Coast Birdman Ends Air Trip of 1700 Miles

After what he described as "the bumpiest trip of his life" Lieut. Earl F. Vance arrived at Clover Field yesterday completing his 1700-mile flight from Shelby, Mont. Lieut. Vance left Shelby on the 5th inst. for Los Angeles by way of Denver, El Paso and Phoenix. In each city he announced the international aviation jubilee to be held here next July under the auspices of the Hollywood Aero Club.

On arriving here Lieut. Vance was greeted by Roger J. Adams, president of the club and an escort of ten planes. The eleven machines then took the air and circled Hollywood and Los Angeles. Lieut. Vance was greeted officially by Mayor Cryer and later attended a luncheon given in his honor.

HOPE GLEAMS IN FLASH OF LIGHT

Blind Woman May Regain Sight

Mrs. Julia A. Norton

THE blinding glare from the explosion of a flashlight, an elderly woman with tears pouring from her sightless eyes as she cried out, "I could see that light! I could see that light!" and what had begun as a casual interview for her developed into a faint, flickering ray of hope that some day her sight may be restored.

Yesterday a reporter went to talk with Mrs. Julia A. Norton, 1745 New England street. She met her at the door, shook hands and indicated a chair, and the first intimation of her blindness came when she said, with a laugh:

"You didn't expect to find me this way, did you? Does it surprise you that I can get around so easily?"

Then she told how it happened and why, last night, she was celebrating the recent discovery that she is 64 years of age, instead of 60.

Five years ago Mrs. Norton was the victim of an accident which left her blind. From a life of strenuous activity she was suddenly plunged into darkness. Plans for her marriage to a childhood sweetheart and a trip around the world were shattered, for she "refused to become a millstone about anyone's neck." For twenty years she had been in business in Los Angeles, owning and operating a concern which made toilet articles and sold them the country over, as well as in foreign markets. The business had to be sold after her accident and she had to resign herself to the inevitable. Not, however, without first exhausting the field of eye specialists, none of whom was able to give her either help or hope.

Then, the 7th inst., when Mrs. Norton was celebrating what she thought was her sixtieth birthday, the question of exact dates came up and she admitted that the sixty was more or less of a surmise on her part. But she knew that she was born immediately after Morgan's raid during the Civil War. Investigation placed the date of that event in 1863 and, much to her surprise, Mrs. Norton discovered that she is really 64 years of age.

"But," she was asked, "why are you

PIONEER OF NEWSPAPER TRADE DIES

S. J. Mathes Succumbs to Illness Contracted More Than Two Decades Ago

Samuel Jay Mathes, pioneer, and once a member of the firm of job printers in whose offices a newspaper which later became The Times was started more than forty-five years ago, passed away at the home of his former Sunday-school pupil, Mrs. Minnie Neighbors May, 375 Portieth Place, yesterday. Mr. Mathes, who was 78 years of age at the time of his death, had been an invalid for the past twenty-seven years.

The pioneer came to Los Angeles in 1875 and became the foreman in a printing shop. A few years later he became a partner of the job printing firm of Yarnell, Cayatile & Mathes, publishers of the Weekly Mirror, later to become the weekly edition of the Los Angeles Times. On December 4, 1881, Mathes's firm contracted to print a daily paper known as The Times, which was established by Nathan Cole and Thomas Gardiner.

Inability to meet financial obligations forced Cole and Gardiner to turn the paper over to the printing firm within a month of its birth. Mr. Mathes took up the editorial reins of The Times and directed its policies until July, 1882, when Gen. Harrison Gray Otis purchased an interest in the paper and became its guiding genius. In the latter part of 1883 Gen. Otis and his associates purchased the paper and effected a complete reorganization.

Prior to his coming to Los Angeles, Mr. Mathes had acquired a rich background of journalistic and printing experience. He was born in Knoxville, Tenn., the son of a Presbyterian clergyman who was a firm believer in abolition. Mr. Mathes's father sold his slaves and removed to Sigourney, Iowa, where the pioneer publisher received his early education. When he was 16 years of age, Mr. Mathes left his home to go to Burlington, Iowa, where he learned the trade of a journeyman printer.

After a few years in Burlington, Mr. Mathes removed to Chicago, where he continued in the printing business. Several years later he returned to his native State and established the Wilton Chronicle, his first newspaper. In 1875 he went to Colorado Springs, where he founded the Colorado Mountaineer. That same year he came to Los Angeles.

For three years after he had sold his interest in The Times to Gen. Otis, Mr. Mathes conducted Pullman excursions between Chicago and Los Angeles, reliquishing this occupation to enter the real estate business in this city.

A few years later Mr. Mathes took up his residence on Catalina Island, where he became the correspondent for The Times. He lived at Catalina for several years and was editor of the small island daily.

A severe illness twenty-seven years ago left him with an affliction, from which he suffered until the time of his passing yesterday.

Funeral services for the pioneer publisher will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the W. A. Brown funeral parlors, 1815 South Flower street. Mr. Mathes leaves two grandchildren, Ralph and Eleanor Bowdle, both of Long Beach.

HARVARD-TIGER PEACE DISTANT

President of Princeton Says Row "Thing of Past"

Silent on Accusations of "Dirty" Gridiron Play

Dr. Hibben Will Speak at Biltmore This Evening

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 28.—It will be some time before the general public has to worry about tickets for a Harvard-Princeton game, John Grier Hibben, president of the latter institution, intimated here today.

Questioned on the athletic break between the Crimson and the Orange and Black, Dr. Hibben termed it "regrettable." It is a thing of the past and he would rather not talk about it, he said.

"I hope it will not be permanent," he stated, "but such things take a long time to heal."

He expressed the hope and belief that it will heal eventually.

Dr. Hibben did not care to say anything in answer to the recent published charge of a Harvard man that Princeton gridiron warriors indulged in "dirty" playing against the Cambridge sportsmen. Princeton, he said, would not answer the charge of an individual, and besides Harvard had officially disclaimed the accusation.

BLAMES NEWSPAPERS

He said that newspapers are largely to blame for the impression that college athletics are overstressed, by giving so much space to them. At Princeton, he said, there is only a period of about ten days in the football season when the students are so excited that their studies are liable to suffer.

The chief need of higher education, he declared, is to stimulate the reasoning instead of the memory. Princeton is doing this by means of the Oxford system in allowing a student, in his last two years, to pursue his studies with only a nominal amount of supervision.

Dr. Hibben believes it is a good thing for western youths to go East to college and vice versa, for the knowledge it gives them of the rest of the country.

SPEAKS IN LOS ANGELES

Tomorrow evening Dr. Hibben will speak at the annual dinner of the Southern California Princeton Alumni Association at the Biltmore in Los Angeles. Wednesday night he and Mrs. Hibben will be tendered a reception at Occidental College. Thursday night they will be guests of honor at a dinner of the Princeton Club of Southern California at the Biltmore.

Dr. and Mrs. Hibben are at the Huntington. Included in their tour were St. Paul, Minneapolis, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco. They will leave for the East Friday.

Gen. Felix Diaz, Exile of Mexico, on Visit Here

Gen. Felix Diaz, nephew of Porfirio Diaz, former President of Mexico and a political exile from his own country, is in Los Angeles, it became known last night.

He arrived several days ago from his home in New Orleans, where he has lived since he left Mexico and his presence in the city became known only by merest accident.

He declared last night that his visit has no political significance, but admitted that he is keeping close watch on the situation in his native country.

EARLY DAYS LECTURE BY NATIVE DAUGHTERS

The romance of Spanish life in California will be described by Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman in a lecture to be given at the Southwest Museum in Highland Park tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Schoneman is actively connected with movements for the preservation of old California landmarks, being president of the California History and Landmarks Club and State chairman of the history and landmarks division of the Native Daughters of the Golden West. Her early girlhood was spent on the old Palos Verdes rancho overlooking the bay at San Pedro.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

I AM filled with alarm.

Queen Marie seems to have drawn a bobtailed flush in her attempt to rule Rumania. Her little playmate, Premier Bratiano, has been given his walking papers; and that means the elimination of Queen Marie as a power in politics.

What fills me with wild alarm is that it also makes probable another American tour of the beauteous author-queen.

About one dose of Queen Marie in a lifetime is all our group cosmic consciousness can stand.

A WRETCHED BRAWLER

Incidentally, it would be a grand idea if the great powers were to get together and effectually squelch Rumania, once for all.

She is a wretched little disturber of the traffic. Her politics are so rotten that the shade of Boss Tweed must sit up there in the clouds weeping for shame.

Her voracious greed for power keeps the Balkans in a ferment all the time. She repudiates her promises, welches on her debts and struts around like a belligerent bantam rooster. It is about time the world had a vacation from Rumania.

SHOWING OFF

It is amazing, but it is true, that sometimes young boys will carry the desire to "show off" to the point of suicide.

No other explanation is to be had for the suicide of the University of Wisconsin student who killed himself because he wanted "to get on life's other side." It was a plain bit of play-acting.

About a year ago a newspaper man killed himself in Los Angeles for the obvious reason that he had written a corking farewell letter. He was sorry as soon as he had sent the letter. He killed himself to make it good.

TWELVE APOSTLES

H. G. Wells says that this desire to advertise is the greatest impulse in life. The great men of the world, he says, have been the great advertisers.

He claims that the twelve apostles were in reality the first commercial travelers—drummers of salvation. That the wayside crucifix is, in reality, an advertising sign.

TOO CAREFUL

There is nothing cheering in the discovery that the mental age of the average automobile chauffeur is 12 years.

One of the taxi companies has started a school for taxi drivers. It is under the guidance of a professor of psychology. He discovers that the safest driver is the stolid chap who is stolid without dullness; and that the excessively careful person is more dangerous to the public than the reckless blade.

BONEHEADS

If the learned professor will drive around Los Angeles any Sunday, he will be forced to modify his verdicts.

He flatters the average driver by saying he is 12. My observation is that he is about 2½ years, and even that shows my sweet optimistic spirit and unfaltering desire to give everybody the benefit of the doubt.

Flood of Crank Letters Threatening Kidnaping and Death Results in Precautions

A flood of crank letters directed at both Lita Grey Chaplin and her attorneys caused Beverly Hills police yesterday to post guards about the home of Mrs. Chaplin as a precautionary measure. They acted in response to a request from Lyndol L. Young, heading Mrs. Chaplin's staff of attorneys, who stated that though he feared no harm for his client he still desired to leave no steps untaken to prevent possible harm to Mrs. Chaplin and her two babies.

The stream of letters, some of them bearing scrawled and almost illegible warnings of death to Mrs. Chaplin and abduction of her two children unless she dropped the case, come from all quarters, Mr. Young said. The majority of them obviously are from cranks who take advantage of anonymity to advise and threaten principals in cases winning attention. Some of them run to a dozen or more pages and most quote the Bible. Among them are some containing offers of marriage and setting forth qualifications.

Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys stated that she was not particularly worried by the various threats but pointed out that she lacked funds to hire private guards and was therefore forced to appeal for guards to the police. Her sole concern, they stated, was for the safety of the two babies.

WRIGHT SUBPOENAED

Aside from these letters and a minor exchange of pleasantries between opposing counsel, the California sector in the divorce battle remained quiet; Mr. Young stated that he had completed his amendments to the proposed bill of exceptions served on him some time ago by Lloyd Wright, Chaplin's attorney here, but that a minor disagreement had arisen between himself and Mr. Wright as to procedure in filing the bill with the court.

Mr. Wright is scheduled to appear this morning at the offices of Mr. Young to make a deposition as to his knowledge of Chaplin's assets and financial dealings. A subpoena to appear in the offices of the opposing attorney and make the deposition was served on the comedian's counsel Thursday.

Reports from the East that Chaplin intended to take the entire cast of "The Circus," his uncompleted comedy, to New York and finish the picture there evoked no comment from the comedian's attorneys here.

They stated that there are no legal obstacles in the comedian's way toward doing this, but that they had not been informed of the proposed move.

IMPENDING CLASHES

Three court clashes, in the meantime, are impending in the case next week. The first will come Monday, when arguments on the demurrer filed by Mr. Wright are to be heard before Judge Schmidt of the Superior

"BLIND DRIVER" ASKS CARE

Thompson Urges Motorists to Try "Safety First" Like He Will Do in Test Monday

All motorists are urged to make Monday a day of "safety first" in conjunction with Hayward Thompson's "blind" driving exhibition. Thompson, "the man who sees through his skin," will observe all traffic rules and asks that drivers who are prone to crowd other cars, hoping to gain the advantage of a fraction of a second, observe the Golden Rule. The route and time schedule for this thrilling tour of the city will be printed in The Times tomorrow.

This will be Thompson's last exhibition here, and it will be the first to be witnessed by his mother, Mrs. Louise Marie Thompson. Thompson has arranged for her to follow him in a private automobile.

Regardless of the weather, Thompson will drive for 100 miles through the streets of Los Angeles Monday, wearing a blindfold absolutely impervious to light. Promptly at 9:30 a.m. he will park his Oakland car in front of Reeve Gartzman, Inc., at 1229 South Figueroa street. From that time until 10 a.m. Thompson's car and the blindfold will be subject to public inspection. United States Marines will be in charge of the inspection.

ROUTE TO BE GIVEN

At 10 o'clock the blindfold will be made fast and the exhibition will start. The complete route of the drive and the time of arrival at the various objectives will be carried in the Sunday editions of The Times. Tonight, for the last time, Thompson will broadcast from KFWB, Warner Brothers studio, at 6:30 p.m., through the courtesy of The Times and Reeve Gartzman, Inc.

In the great cities of this country and Europe, Thompson, driving blindfolded, has never scratched a fender, violated a traffic regulation or touched a pedestrian, a dramatic lesson to motorists who have the use of their eyes. An escort of police will be with Thompson Monday and he asks that he be treated like any other driver if he infringes on a regulation. All he asks of the public

CHURCH WOMEN HOLD SESSIONS

Meetings Feature Convention of Episcopal Diocese

Mrs. W. B. Stevens New Head of King's Daughters

Girl's Friendly Society Hears Lady Adams Speak

Meetings of two of the principal women's societies of the Episcopal church, the Daughters of the King and the Girls' Friendly Society, featured the fifth day of the thirty-second annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of Los Angeles. Both organizations commenced their programs with corporate communions in St. Paul's Cathedral, following which they adjourned to the cathedral house for separate business meetings.

The morning session of the Daughters of the King took the form of a conference conducted by Mrs. Agnes B. Spencer, president of the society. Following the discussion, Dean Harry Beal of St. Paul's Cathedral delivered an address on the bishops' crusade which concluded the morning meeting.

The session was resumed at 2 p.m., with the report of the retiring president, Mrs. Spencer, who has held that position for the past ten years. Mrs. Sidney Morgan of Seattle, provincial president of the Daughters of the King, then addressed the group on "Co-operation in the Bishops' Crusade." Her address was followed by committee reports and discussion of future plans of the organization.

OFFICERS APPOINTED

Bishop-Coadjutor W. Bertrand Stevens then addressed the society, discussing its works and purposes, and appointed the following officers for the coming year: Mrs. W. Bertrand Stevens, president; Mrs. W. A. Pedar, vice-president, and Mrs. David E. Spangler, secretary-treasurer. The meeting was concluded with the inaugural address of Mrs. Stevens.

The Girls' Friendly Society commenced its proceedings by separate conferences for the clergy and for associates of the organization in the cathedral house at 11 a.m. Mrs. W. Bertrand Stevens led the discussion of the clergy on the topic, "The Relations of the Girls' Friendly Society to the Parish." The meeting of the associates took the form of a round-table discussion led by Mrs. F. A. Easley on "How to Get Nearer the Girl in Friendship."

Following the morning meeting a luncheon for the associates was held in the cathedral house at which Lady Adams spoke on "Feminine Interests in Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania."

At the afternoon session there was a business meeting of the diocesan council of the Girls' Friendly Society in the cathedral house, which was featured by committee reports and discussion of plans for the ensuing year. Following the reports the annual election of the society took place. The following are the officers chosen for the current year: Mrs. John L. Riddell, president; Mrs. W. Bertrand Stevens and Mrs. Fred T. Howland, vice-presidents; Miss Alice Stuart, secretary, and Mrs. Fred T. Howland, treasurer. The following department heads were chosen: Mrs. W. Bertrand Stevens, activities; Mrs. Arthur W. Nye, finance; Mrs. John L. Riddell, housing; Mrs. Charles G. Beers, membership; Miss Alice Stuart, organization, and Miss A. Louise Bideman, publicity. Mrs. Harry Beal and Mrs. Edgar A. Frost were elected members-at-large of the executive committee. Those elected to membership on the diocesan council were Miss Catherine Beers, Miss M. E. Elliott, Mrs. William Ford, Mrs. Edgar A. Frost and Mrs. H. Ivor Thomas.

DINNER FOR MEMBERS

At 6 p.m. a dinner for associates, members and candidates was given at the Y.M.C.A. The topic for discussion was "The Church and the Modern Girl," presented in two-minute talks by Rev. Henry Clark Smith, Rev. Douglas Stuart, Dean Bode and Rev. John Atwill. Mary Grinder, Margaret Clifton, Mary Beasoner, Josephine Roesblaub and Esther Sherif delivered two-minute speeches on "What the Girls' Friendly Society Means to Me." Marjorie Barker spoke on "What Camp Johnson Meant to Me."

The annual service of the organization, preceded by a torchlight procession, took place at St. Paul's Cathedral at 8 p.m. Bishop Stevens gave the address of welcome, followed by the sermon of Dean Harry Beal, assisted by Rev. H. C. Smith, Rev. Phillip Kemp and Rev. J. M. Yamazaki.

Today will mark the close of the convention. A Young People's Fellowship dinner in St. Paul's Cathedral House at 6:30 p.m., followed by a business meeting, will be the order of the day.

Obsequies for Mrs. Swaine Will be Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Cornelia Seymour Swaine, a resident of Los Nietos for the past thirty-two years and charter member of the Ebell Club of this city, will be conducted from Pierce Brothers chapel, 720 West Washington street, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Swaine died at her home Thursday at 92 years of age. She was the daughter of Capt. Edgar Lacy, First United States Infantry, of Revolutionary ancestry, and widow of Gen. P. T. Swaine, United States Army. She was the mother of Maj. William M. Swaine, First Infantry.

In the early days Mrs. Swaine made a trip from New York City to join her husband, then stationed in Utah, traveling with troops from Fort Leavenworth. The journey to Salt Lake City required three months.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Sherman Wallace Wiggins, and two sons, Edgar Lacy Swaine and Charles Seymour Swaine, both of whom served in the World War; also two grandsons, Lacy S. Swaine and Wallace S. Wiggins.

Court. Wright was made a defendant in the divorce action and has demurred on the ground that he has none of Chaplin's cash and therefore cannot be made a party to the suit.

The high spot of the legal war, however, is anticipated Tuesday in the Appellate Court. There the comedian's and Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys will meet to argue on the alternative writ of prohibition which prevents the receivers appointed to handle Chaplin's wealth here from paying alimony to Mrs. Chaplin. It was indicated that this court clash will develop plenty of fireworks.

On Wednesday the motion to vacate Presiding Judge Wood's order correcting the minutes of his court will be heard by Judge Wood.

CHAPLIN DECIDES TO FINISH FILM IN EAST

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (Exclusive) Advised by counsel that Lita Grey Chaplin's divorce suit will not come to trial for at least six months, Charles Chaplin today decided to bring his movie company from Hollywood to New York to complete "The Circus," now three fourths finished says the Evening Sun.

"It will take two to three months to finish the picture and the case won't come up before six months at least," Nathan Burkan, his attorney, said today. "That will give Mr. Chaplin plenty of time to finish a picture he already has invested more than $500,000 in."

Merna Kennedy, the leading lady, and some twenty-five other members of the cast will make the trip across the continent and the shooting of the remaining several thousand feet of the film probably will be done in the Cosmopolitan studio at One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street and Second avenue.

The filming of the remaining scenes of "The Circus" here will be the first time Chaplin has made pictures outside of California in years. By finishing the picture outside of California Chaplin will not run the risk of having the film seized by receivers for Mrs. Chaplin.

"That could be done in California because of their community property law," Isaac Zeigel of Chaplin's counsel, explained, "but it cannot be done here."

In "The Circus" Chaplin plays the role of a wire walker. Hanging around a circus tent out of a job he is unexpectedly foisted into the wire-walking role.

celebrating? Most of us would be stunned by such a discovery and would wish to keep it a deep, dark secret."

Mrs. Norton beamed happily and replied:

"Why, it just means that I've had four more years of sight than I realized, and I rejoice over that. And it also means that I won't have so many years to live in darkness. I think I lost track of those years when my husband was a hopeless invalid and I was confronted with the problem of providing for him, my two small boys and myself. I was so busy that I took no note of the passing years."

Mrs. Norton keeps herself occupied by writing short stories and she says that she gets a great deal of pleasure from her music. She plays the piano and sings. And, above all, she declares emphatically that in spite of everything she is happy.

So last evening she had about fifty friends at her home to help her celebrate the four years that she has missed. Among those invited were all the doctors who have tried to help her.

"I want them to know that I appreciate their efforts," she said.

Then came the flash and the light that pierced the darkness of Mrs. Norton's sight for a brief instant, her cry of incredulity and the possibility that there might be, still, something for which to live.

NINETY-FIRST TO MEET

Marco H. Hellman will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Ninety-first Division Association, Southern California Sector, to be held next Wednesday evening, February 2, at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street. A vaudeville entertainment will be provided and a "regular old army dinner" served by former cooks and mess sergeants of the Ninety-first Division.

is that others obey the law as he does.

Thompson says his appearance Monday will be his last, as physicians have told him he is threatened with acute dilation of the heart through fasting to fit himself for his tests. Thompson's strange power is known by scientists as paroptic vision. Wounded as a marine in France, Thompson was blind for some time.

GUEST OF CLUB

An operation later restored his sight. His perception is attributed to hypersensitive nerve ends in the skin. He has only two layers of skin instead of three.

Thompson and his manager, W. H. Watson, yesterday were guests of the Breakfast Club and told members that he has more competition in Los Angeles than anywhere else in the world.

"Driving around Los Angeles I find a good many blind drivers," he said. "I even encountered one who was blind drunk."

Thompson and his manager were introduced to the club by President De Mond. The hosts of the morning were Harrold English, Pacific Coast representative of the Buffalo Forge Company, and Alvin H. Frank, president of Alvin H. Frank & Co.

EX-WIFE ON STAND AIDS EX-HUSBAND

Former Spouse of Sanford Declares Her Successor "Vamped Him Away"

Bringing a former wife into court to testify against her successor was a divorce suit novelty introduced before Judge Hazlett yesterday by Isador Morris, attorney for Frank M. Sanford, film producer. The occasion was the closing day of the trial of Mrs. Genevieve Sanford's divorce action and cross-complaint of her husband, which has been featured by more or less colorful episodes during the last week.

MRS. MINNIE SANFORD

Morris splashed on the final daub of color by leading to the witness stand Mrs. Minnie Sanford, second wife of Frank M. Sanford, who declared in positive tones that Genevieve had "vamped" him away from her. The exact relevancy of this testimony was not made apparent, but it brought the trial, which involves disposition of $200,000 in community property, to such a bewildering close that Judge Hazlett decided to take the entire case under submission.

Sanford, who as head of Western Pictures, Inc., was sued several months ago by Charles Spencer Chaplin for plagiarizing the Chaplin walk and the Chaplin clothes in the person of one Charles Amador, sought a divorce on the ground that his wife's dancing in public was "unladylike." She accused him of cruelty, of striking her and of abusing her verbally. Mrs. Sanford was represented by Attorneys George Beebe and Hal Hughes.

ICE CREAM BANDIT SUSPECT ON TRIAL

Charged with robbery in connection with the hold-up of a Chapman Ice Cream Company last July, George Adams went on trial yesterday before Judge Baird in Superior Court. Adams is asserted to have taken $50 from Ellen McCombs, who at the time was a cashier for the ice cream company. The case is expected to go to the jury today.

DETROITERS BUY 'MIRACLE' SEATS

Mail Orders for Play Come from Many Cities

Entire Southland Area Will be Represented

Rabbi Magnin Explains What Story Reveals

With orders for tickets coming in by mail, not only from Southern California, but from points in the Middle West, the Pacific Northwest and other distant sections, the ticket-selling department of "The Miracle" company is beginning to take on the airs of a big-scale mail-order house.

Yesterday an order for twenty seats was received from Seattle, another for sixteen came from Portland, and other distant cities sending in orders for seats were Detroit, Denver, Austin, Tex., and Prescott, Tucson and Phoenix, Ariz.

The big spectacle, which opens at the Shrine Auditorium Monday night, will be attended by thousands of Southern Californians outside Los Angeles. Orders for seats from outlying cities are arriving in blocks calling for anywhere from half a dozen seats to 600.

INTEREST INCREASES

In the meantime interest in the spectacular production is steadily increasing as the opening night draws nearer. It is especially marked among the ministers of different churches, who see in the great "Miracle" drama a series of vivid illustrations of some of the most fundamental teachings of religion.

The ministerial view of "The Miracle" was well expressed by Rabbi Magnin as a part of his weekly discourse at B'nai B'rith Temple last night. He said in part:

"To one who appreciates the artistic, and who is in tune with the spiritual, the presentation of 'The Miracle' will afford a veritable thrill.

"The story is an allegory, the struggle of a woman with her own soul, the conflict between flesh and spirit, temptation and triumph, materialism and idealism. The Piper in the play represents sensuousness, and wherever he leads, bloodshed and death always appear. The Nun, whose love for the outer world and life has wooed her away temporarily from the church, goes through every experience and emotion of life, and all to her sorrow. At last, broken in spirit, she returns to the church where the Madonna is waiting for her.

POINT OF STORY

"The point of the story is very clear. When all the pleasures of the world have been tasted and we have become sickened by them, when all material ambitions have been satisfied and we can find no pleasure in them, we finally come back to religion as the only source of salvation and strength. After all, man lives in two worlds. There is a conflict going on within us all the time. There are moments when faith seems nonsense and other moments when religion seems to be the only reality and the only source of joy.

"Power, wealth, lust satisfaction of the senses, all of these things bring neither happiness nor ultimate satisfaction. They afford no health to either body or soul. Man lives only for a day, and when night comes, he must return to rest. It is the thought of approaching death that makes him wonder what it is all about, whether or not the price we pay for our ambition is not too great after all.

"'The Miracle' shows the need for the church as a place of escape from the failures, the follies of life. Church and synagogue are places of refuge from out own frailties and tragedies. There are men and women attuned to the Infinite, feeling the presence of God, catch a glimpse of eternity."

INQUEST FOR EX-CHAMBER MAN CALLED

Mysterious Passing of Lomita Resident Brings Action by Authorities

Mysterious circumstances surrounding the unexpected death Wednesday of Frank D. Hinsdale, 84 years of age, who recently resigned as secretary of the Lomita Chamber of Commerce, yesterday resulted in an inquest being ordered by Coroner Nance.

Unable to determine the cause of Hinsdale's sudden malady, Dr. G. E. Fuller of Lomita refused to issue a death certificate and requested that county authorities investigate.

According to Dr. Fuller, Hinsdale ate dinner with his family on Tuesday night at his home in Lomita. Later he came to Los Angeles and while here ate a meat sandwich in a restaurant. When he returned home he was taken violently ill and died at 11 o'clock the following morning.

Dr. Fuller declared that Hinsdale's death might have been caused by ptomaine poisoning, acute indigestion or possibly some other poisonous substance. For this reason Coroner Nance has ordered a chemical examination of Hinsdale's stomach by County Chemist Abernathy and will hold an inquest as soon as the chemist's report is received.

Hinsdale told officers before he died that he knew of no enemies who might have wished to take his life and expressed the belief that he was suffering from accidental ptomaine poisoning.

MEN YIELDING WOMEN LAST STRONGHOLD

Mere man, who has yielded the barber shop and men's grill to the modern flapper, is being driven from his last stronghold, the smoking car, according to complaints being received by the Illinois Central Railroad, says the Chicago Tribune.

Since electrification of the suburan service, Abner Bernard, superintendent of passenger service, asserts, women have been exhibiting a growing inclination to ride in the smokers. The cars are clean and well ventilated, so lots of them sit right down rather than chance a seat in another coach.

Not many use their seats as an opportunity for smoking, it was explained. Only about one in twenty may be seen taking puffs from a cigarette. One complainant asked that special cars be set aside for non-smokers to solve the situation.

MISSION CONCLAVE IN CITY

Free Methodist Conference Also Will Plan for New Tabernacle at Meetings This Week

Plans to raise thousands of dollars for foreign missionary work, as well as $5000 or more for the erection of a tabernacle to replace the beautiful Hermon Grove Tabernacle, recently destroyed by fire, will be discussed at the annual missionary convention of the Southern California Conference of the Free Methodist Church, to be conducted at the Hermon Free Methodist Church next Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday and to be attended by pastors and laymen from the forty churches of that denomination in the Southland.

Mrs. Nora Lampson, president of the Conference Missionary Society, will preside at all sessions of the conclave which will be conducted at the Hermon Church, Monterey Road and Wheeling Way, of which Rev. D. J. Williams is pastor. The public is invited to all the meetings, the first of which will be conducted next Thursday evening.

Prominent leaders of the Free Methodist Church from various parts of the United States will speak at the services Thursday evening and at 9:30 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Music will be furnished by picked quartets and choirs from Southland Free Methodist churches.

Ignored Heirs Seek to Share Woman's Estate

Two contests of the will of Fannie C. Hamlin, who left a $47,000 estate when she died, January 1, 1926, are scheduled for early trial in the probate department of the Superior Court.

Mrs. Hamlin's will originally provided a number of bequests to friends, including one of $1000 to Fannie W. Garland. A later codicil canceled these bequests and left the whole estate to a friend, Mrs. A. L. Milne, except for a small bequest to her brother.

Mrs. Garland has filed a contest of the codicil which disinherits her. In another contest four nieces and two nephews attack the entire will. All the contestants assert that Mrs. Hamlin was of unsound mind and unduly influenced by Mrs. Milne when she signed her will and the codicil.

Reginald Denny Fast Recovering From Operation

Reginald Denny, film actor, was reported last night by his physician, Dr. Louis Degan, as practically recovered from an appendicitis operation last week.

"Mr. Denny's sutures are healing, he was eating beefsteak when the false report of peritonitis gained circulation; he will be out of his bed tomorrow and leave the hospital Monday or Tuesday." Dr. Degan said "All he needs now is rest." Denny is at Sylvan Lodge Hospital.

Go To Church Sunday

Why You Should Go To Church

H. W. RAYMOND
(Founder First New Thought Church in Los Angeles)

Rev. Walter W. Raymond, Pastor Divine Science Fellowship New Thought Church, Inc.

The need of the world today is for spiritual education. In whatever department of human activity we desire to specialize we have our institutions, laboratories and colleges to turn to for training. Man would not think of going to a steel plant for knowledge of chemistry. Therefore, man should go to church for an understanding and knowledge of spiritual truths.

The church as an institution is now awakened to its privilege of ministering not only to the soul of man, but to his body and his affairs and teaching the practical application of the Christ principle in the divine art of living.

A prophet of old has wisely stated in answer to the question as to the solution of human problems: "Acquaint thyself now with God and be at peace, thereby good shall come unto thee." From time immemorial man has always dedicated a place whither he could retire and "talk with God." In these strenuous days of business activity and responsibility the church provides that privilege, wherein man cannot only find rest and a peace which passeth all understanding, but where he can acquire the art of bringing that peace and harmony out into his world of activity, realizing the truth that "every place whereon Thou standest is holy ground."

The Meaning of Mussolini
One of the most fascinating characters in world affairs today is Benito Mussolini. Dr. Oxnam will endeavor to appraise the Fascist movement, and present the essential facts relative to its strength and weakness. Is dictatorship, whether it be red or black, the way out of the present crisis?

HEART DISEASE
In 1925 185 out of every 100,000 died of heart disease. Possibly the remainder got a divorce.

PASSING
Drunkenness may not be altogether dying out, but drunkards and steady drinkers certainly are.

PRIVILEGED SEX
Time and tide wait for no man, but we suppose even they have to wait for women now and then.

INVESTIGATION
Looking into the manner in which its members secured their seats may start a perilous precedent in the Senate.

WHAT PRICE GLORY?
The Greeks were the first people to have written music. That is where the glory that was Greece comes in.

CRASH DUE
Anyone might have known there was bound to be commotion sooner or later, with a John Bull in a China shop.

EASY TO SWALLOW
The only thing a bootlegger does his sincere best to make so good that it will go down easily and safely is his alibi.

ONE EXCEPTION
Any healthy boy may be counted on to come to the table with enthusiasm and readiness—provided, of course, it isn't the multiplication table.

ON MARRIAGE
Women marry earlier than they used to, says a statistician. Possibly they have to to get all their marriages in before "death do them part."

MANY ALREADY DO
"Chew alfalfa to save the teeth," urges a dentist. We'd heard before that certain breakfast foods were healthful and we suppose this is why.

BUMP US OFF
Automobile builders tell us that the 1927 crop of motor vehicles will be the greatest yet. And that's what you might truly call a bumper crop.

LATEST EMPLOYER
Count Salm says he has looked for work, but cannot find a job. Maybe it's because he can't bring a very hearty recommendation from the last lady who paid him a regular income.

PROCLAMATIONS
If Shakespeare were writing it now we suppose we would have Polonius say something like this:
For the apparel oft proclaims the man,
The lack of it the woman.

PANTS PREDICTED
Paul Poiret predicts that American women will soon be wearing trousers and they will lead the world. He also says bobbed hair is here to stay. That is quite a confession for a Parisian.

LOOKING BACKWARD
A Methodist bishop says that the Charleston is no worse than the partridge hop that they had when he was a boy. So it seems that the country is not going to the dogs as rapidly as had been boastingly declared.

SAFETY FIRST
The Harriman safety medal has been awarded to the Union Pacific for traveling 52,000,000 miles carrying an equivalent of 1,000,000,000 passengers one mile each with not a single life lost and only five employees killed in 1924.

BANDS OF STEEL
The world's steel production this year will be 69,000,000 tons. Of this the United States puts out 48,250,000 tons, Great Britain, a little over 3,000,000 tons; Germany, 11,300,000; France, 8,100,000. The coal strike cut down England's totals.

HAWAII'S CHARM
The romance and beauty and charm of Hawaii certainly must be incomparable. They have stood tests not applied to those of any other land. What other realm could hold the yearning of a world which knew it to be responsible for the ukulele?

WARMING
Old American newspapers are greatly in demand in China, where the poor use them to pad out their clothing. We knew there must be people, somewhere in the world, who had some real use for the flaming, red-hot headlines of the yellow journals.

NOT SO WILD
A New Jersey taxi company decides that red-headed drivers are reckless and will have no scarlet tops in its service. Thus is an old slander made to again walk erect. Everybody knows that the ruddy-domed damsels are demure and restrained. Did you ever place a red-headed girl in your roster of wild women?

LOST PRESTIGE
"The West is not interested in France or in international affairs," commented Edouard Champion, French savant and publisher, at the completion of a recent lecture tour in this country. "If there is a statement of international importance by Briand or Poincare it appears on the front page of New York and other eastern newspapers. If it appears at all in the western papers, it is hidden away on the last page."

That this condition exists to a limited extent is undeniable; but the eminent Frenchman in observing the fact was not astute enough to discover the motivating idea behind and above the fact. It does not seem to have occurred to him that the Atlantic and Pacific coasts are farther separated than the two coasts of the Atlantic, that they are in two different industrial areas, that, while the Atlantic Coast is looking to the east, the Pacific Coast looks to the west and the south.

There was a time, only half a century ago, when the shadow of New York extended clear across the continent and when New York danced the shadow danced. Only half a century before that the twin shadows of London and Paris stretched across the Atlantic to New York. But time and western vision and energy have changed all that. It is not more than once in a period of twelve months that Briand or Poincare makes a statement of sufficient importance to really matter to the Pacific area. France is on the outskirts of our western sphere of influence and industry. We are vastly more interested in political and economic conditions in Mexico than in those of France.

Monsieur Champion would find statements by the President of Mexico or one of the members of his Cabinet on the first page of the Pacific Coast newspapers that would not receive so much as a line in the French press; for it is true of all peoples that their personal interest is closely allied to their economic and political interest.

It is not that France and the other European countries are growing less, but that the two Americas are growing greater. We no longer look to France or any other European country for guidance in finance, in governmental affairs, in style, literature or art. In art and literature we respect and revere the masters of the dead centuries; but that cult does not extend to the living. They do not stand on an eminence, for we have risen to their level, and in matters of finance, government and industry we have surpassed them.

America is the land of big industries, and at the helm of these industries are big men. American workmen produce more per capita in a given time than those of Europe, and the product is generally superior. Hollywood, not Paris, sets the styles for this country and for most of the world as well.

The West is self-supporting, and perhaps we are inclined to be too self-sufficient. The generation now passing on the Pacific Coast has earned more and saved more than the last three or four generations in France. We are growing richer because we create so much more than we consume or destroy. Our cities and our industries have never been destroyed by invading forces, for we have managed to live on terms of amity with our immediate neighbors. We are not inclined to be aggressive, and the rest of the world knows that, if attacked, we should give a good account of ourselves.

A change of ministers in France is of less importance to the residents of Los Angeles, to illustrate, than the change of grade on an important thoroughfare. We are vastly more concerned about the price of gasoline than the exchange value of the French franc. The Colorado River runs across the front pages of our newspapers, and the Rhine across an inside page. The January sales of our big department stores are of more interest to our people than a sale of French bonds. A new movie star attracts more attention than a French victory or defeat on the Lybian or Sahara Desert.

In short, we are interested in what immediately concerns us; in the development of any part of the Pacific area; in new ocean trade routes to South America and the Orient; in the political and economic life of the peoples who are our immediate neighbors. We have a greater interest, more at stake, in Washington than in New York.

The industrial conquest of the West and the war against the desert are of vastly more importance to us who reside here than anything that is taking place or is likely to take place in Europe. So it is but natural that aught related to these things should occupy the first page of our newspapers and that European affairs should be relegated to the inside pages. That is a condition which all the lecturers from the French Sorbonne will not be likely to change.

THE WRANGLING BOSSES
A disgraceful spectacle now is being presented to the people of California in the unseemly squabbling of a coterie of political bosses over Gov. Young's appointment of a Corporation Commissioner.

Under the law it is the duty of the Governor to name a capable man to this position, one of high trust and designed primarily to protect the people from the activities of voracious stock swindlers.

Due to his close association with the Governor and the Governor's responsibility for his actions, the appointing of the commissioner is vested in the chief executive. When California voted to place C. C. Young in the Governor's office he was given the authority to choose his own official family.

Certainly California did not intend that Al McCabe, Tom Finn and Kent Parrot were to select the administration personnel. Incidentally, it may be mentioned that Mr. Parrot has yet to obtain his first patronage from the administration. These men hold no authority from the people; no personal responsibility rests upon their shoulders. Only in the most indirect manner can the citizenry hold them accountable for their acts, and that is by voting out of office the persons they control.

There is little semblance of democracy when a small band of irresponsibles dictates the appointment of administrative officials.

The bosses are wrangling among themselves over the patronage like curs over a bone. The personalities of the candidates have disappeared in the scuffle. It is no longer a question what man will be appointed. It is which boss will prevail.

NINE HUNDRED SLAVES EACH
In a research report to the Engineering Foundation, New York, by Dr. E. H. Free, consulting engineer of New York, appear arresting figures demonstrating the extent to which the use of electrical power has grown in the United States. Dr. Free declares that 900 slaves would be required by each inhabitant of the United States if the one great slave of electrical power now in use should be lost to the nation. He states the use of electrical power in amazing round figures as follows:

"The extent to which electricity has remade the world is seldom appreciated. We used last year in the United States more than 100,000,000,000 man-power of electricity. Man-power is more impressive than horse-power."

All the people of the earth who have been enumerated and estimated do not count up to 2,000,000,000 persons. According to Dr. Free's figures, the United States is using electrical man-power equal to more than fifty times the entire man-power of all the counted persons on earth—including women and children, or probably 150 times the total actual man-power in the world. This megavolitan giant slave is guided by a comparative few among the 120,000,000 persons in the United States, but produces for them all.

With 100,000,000,000 electric men working on service and production in the United States, what would the majority of the male population of the country's 120,000,000 persons do to make a livelihood if occupations were limited to those known when Washington took the oath of office as President? With giant power and mass production the needs of 120,000,000 of colonial days could be supplied by the farmers and the workmen of one big city. Fortunately, the variety of human demands has kept pace with the growth of power, and as rapidly as improved machinery has released men from one factory there has been a call for them at another factory beginning the manufacture of an article of new demand. Two notable examples of new employment sources are the aviation and radio fields. Prior to the World War only a small group of technical experts were engaged in these lines that now employ many thousands.

Variety is the spice of economic life, and nowhere is there a better example of it than in Southern California. Here there are no two or three major industries that provide employment for all workers. Though oil, oranges and motion pictures loom high in the economic sky, the industries they represent employ a comparatively small percentage of the total of Southland workers when considered with the number of workmen employed by Detroit's automobile industry, Pittsburgh's steel industry and Bridgeport's machine works. Los Angeles itself is more like New York. It is metropolitan, cosmopolitan and the center of a great variety of industry and commerce which is the spice of its prosperity and the secret of its marvelous absorption of a tremendous invasion of artisans and tradesmen.

PROGNOSTICATIONS DE LUXE
A vagrant breeze springing up from nowhere far out in the Pacific Ocean seemingly is of little moment to a California rancher. A wandering cloud somewhere in the vicinity of Alaska cannot be calculated to cause any great commotion in Los Angeles. Yet it is by such trivial and seemingly meaningless signs that the weather man of the future will gauge his calculations. Nature's secrets are to be spied out in a manner hitherto unimagined, according to experts working on comprehensive plans for more extensive and reliable weather forecasts.

The tremendous importance of being able to reveal with more accuracy the whims and vagaries of the clouds and winds is too apparent to need elaboration. Even the stage to which such work has progressed at the present indicates its importance. Tremendous savings are made each year by agriculturists through forewarning of impending natural changes. If the warnings can be issued some time before the actual arrival of the disturbance the benefits will be enhanced very greatly. While the issuance of long-range weather predictions now is admittedly a matter of much guesswork, it is believed that by approaching the problem in the right manner science will find a solution.

It is no more beyond the bounds of possibility than the radio and the airplane were two score years ago that experts will be able to map approaching weather with a large degree of accuracy for weeks or even months ahead. That, of course, is a matter of conjecture and may take years to realize. It is indubitably a fact, however, that the standards of forecasting can be raised to a plane not now understood. Scientific discoveries constantly are adding to the array of implements with which experts delve into the future of weather conditions.

If, for instance, there are, as believed, certain signs which properly interpreted would herald the approach of such major convulsions of nature as the Galveston storm of 1900 and the Florida hurricane of last year thousands of lives might be saved and great property damage averted. In everyday life the planting and nurture of crops could be based largely on approaching weather, rather than in the hit-or-miss fashion which still prevails in most agricultural sections. Then, too, it would take a great load off the minds of picnic chairmen to know that a Saturday three or four weeks ahead was going to be fair and warm, rather than to have dire visions of rain and mud haunt their dreams.

It should not be such a popular sport to laugh at the weather man. He is doing better all the time. In the future he is going to do better still. He has a hard job, but he sticks to it, rain or shine.

TIT FOR TAT
An American tire company has secured a ninety-nine-year lease on 1,000,000 acres of rubber-producing land in Liberia. Recently the Congress of that country confirmed the deal. When developed that acreage will produce about half of the rubber used in this country this year. The land of Liberia was taken up and peopled by ex-slaves from the United States. Philanthropists in this country helped those people plant their republic. Now the republic helps this country to plant its rubber trees.

THE HIGH ROAD
Illinois has a State constabulary of 130 men to patrol the highways and country roads. Last year the force made nearly 1000 arrests and gave warnings to more than 15,000 traffic offenders. They recovered stolen property worth nearly $300,000, including more than 200 purloined cars. Under the circumstances this adventure in guidance is believed to have paid for itself.

TO A GROUNDHOG
By James J. Montague

Dumb brute—and by the use of dumb
I say, without the least compunction,
I do not mean the lack of some Entirely human vocal function;
Dumb Brute, you notice I use
The sneering insult twice together—
Pray who are you to give the news
About the weather?

Of sun spots, isothermal lines
Your ignorance is most abysmal,
You dwell 'way back amid the pines
Where winter days are dark and dismal,
Your lack of learning is as vast
As is your dearth of power to reason
And yet you venture to forecast
The coming season.

Upon the stars you never gaze
As they pursue their skyward courses,
You lack all knowledge of the ways
And functions of the cosmic forces.
You look upon the ground and whine
With drooping jowls and visage surly,
Then confidently you opine:
"Spring's comin' early!"

Come forth, gaze on your shadow now,
In winter furs all warmly coated,
Come out, old brute, and show me how
You do the stuff for which you're noted.
And if the sky is dark with murk,
Or if the day is bright and sunny,
I'll back you, when I watch you work,
And win some money!

HOW TO BE GLAD
BY E. MILTON TILLSON

When the years have slipped by and memory runs back over the path you have trod you will be glad that you stopped to speak with everyone you met and left them with a warmer feeling in their hearts because you did so.

You will be glad that the winding lane of years has not all been blessed with sunshine and sweetness, for without a little sorrow there can be no gladness, without the rain no earthly bloom.

You will be glad that you did not complain when the winding path grew steep and wearisome, but raised your chin and smiled and renewed your grip and that you felt stronger for having done so.

You will be glad that you did not become so engrossed over the glory of your own little world of success, that you grew selfish and blind to those about you, but that you understood and felt compassion for the less fortunate ones who had stumbled by the wayside.

You will be glad that you served those upon whom you relied, faithfully and sincerely, that you did not shirk the obligations and responsibilities intrusted to your keeping, that you did not fret and bemoan your lot and criticise others for their seeming lack of appreciation. You will be glad that, no matter what the issue and attendant feelings, you did your very best.

You will be glad that you are who you are—a good citizen and a true American. You will be glad that you have tried to live up to clean ideals, ideals that stand for truth, honesty and loyalty. You will be glad that, in having a true reason for the peace within your heart, you have served your life's purpose well—and nothing is more Christly than that. After all, it is His joy in the splendid attitude you have showed toward the world of fellow-men that causes the feeling of gladness within you.

THE BUSY BEE IN CANADA
Beekeepers of Canada will harvest a crop of 18,000,000 pounds of honey this year with a value of $3,000,000, according to C. B. Gooderham, Dominion apiarist.

"Export of Canadian honey will total 1,648,618 pounds," said Mr. Gooderham. "Canadian honey has established itself in the British and European markets. Shipments to foreign countries have tripled in the last two years.

"Beekeeping has made rapid strides in the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, where new settlers are adding apiculture to their program of mixed farming. Manitoba had a honey crop last year of 4,107,000 pounds, returning a profit of $657,120 to producers. This is significant in view of the fact that commercial honey production was practically unknown five years ago. British Columbia's output was 800,000 pounds and Saskatchewan and Alberta had a heavy production.

"Bee pools and co-operative societies for honey marketing have been organized in Ontario and Quebec. Similar organizations are being extended into the prairie provinces."

Wire Screen Wards off Lightning
From experiments made in the superpower laboratory of the General Electric Company at Pittsfield, Mass., with artificial lightning of more than 2,000,000 volts and miniature oil tanks, I. W. Peek has learned how oil storage reservoirs can be protected from either direct lightning hits or induced voltage, which may come from a lightning flash at a distance. He found that a pole or conducting rod has a protected area from lightning within a circumference four times its height. Placing a number of such rods about outside a miniature tank, Mr. Peek found that his artificial lightning either hit one of the poles or struck at a distance from the tank. Then he found that by placing a wire net or screening over the top, extending slightly over the sides of his small model, induced voltages, which might cause sparks igniting explosive gases in the tank were prevented.

Pointed Joke from "The Pointer"
The Boy Friend: Say, who's the dumb-looking guy that drives your car around and works in the garden? I notice he always gives me a nasty look when I come in.
The Girl Friend: Oh, don't mind him. That's just father.—[Boston Transcript.

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

Street-Car Service
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] After almost fifty years in business in Cleveland, O., I moved with my family to Los Angeles in 1924. We thought the Cleveland street-car system the "best ever," fare, transfer, service, etc., considered. At the time we left fares were 7 cents and a penny for transfer to be used within fifteen minutes of leaving the first car.

Los Angeles fare at 5 cents and free double transfer, courteous treatment by employees and free information given by its "Asuride," bonus to deserving employees, etc., have all other cities' street-car systems beaten to a frazzle. But street-car wages seem rather small compared with other localities.

We understand that the Los Angeles and Pacific Electric railways are asking for a raise of fare. Could not the extra money needed to pay dividends and give the men more wages be raised by charging a cent for transfers? Not owning an automobile necessitates our family of four using the street car regularly, but we would be glad to pay for transfers if by so doing the men could get a raise of pay.

HORACE P. DAVIDSON.

The Wary Buzzard
GLENDALE, Jan. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I note what you say in the pictoral page of your paper in regard to the use of birds to combat the invasion of Kern county mice. Strychnine poison will not kill bird life or fowls. I have had wide experience in poisoning. A number of years ago we went through a terrible scourge of grasshoppers in the San Joaquin. I was a Horticultural Commissioner of Tulare county and will say I found out by experience that strychnine will not kill bird life, but arsenic will surely kill all bird life except a buzzard. No kind of poison will kill a buzzard, because he will not eat the stomach of any animal that is poisoned. He will alight on a poisoned squirrel and eat all except the stomach and he will leave it on the ground. How does he know? Here is something for your scientist to solve. The poisoned bean we used for killing grasshoppers will kill chickens or any kind of bird life. Strychnine will not kill quails. S. A. BAGGS.

Our War with Mexico
LONG BEACH, Jan. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In this morning's Times is a rather vituperative article by one who signs his name Arthur Loring MacKaye. To any student of history the letter is simply amusing.

Anyone who reads history with his intelligence instead of with his prejudices knows that the Mexican War was a vicious, unjust, bullying attack upon a neighboring republic engineered by the slave-holding aristocracy solely for the purpose of getting more slave territory. If there was ever a time for which Americans should blush it is when our great government lent itself to that disgraceful piece of tyranny.

This does not touch the question of the acquisition of California and New Mexico because they were finally acquired by purchase and that purchase could as well have been made by reasonable arbitration as by a bloody war.

F. DARWIN SMITH.

Try a Twenty-mile Impact
SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your article, "If I Were Dictator," interested me particularly. I would suggest, however, that you were too liberal when you said thirty miles per hour. Thirty miles is too fast. The impact at thirty miles will generally kill a human. Even twenty-five miles is too fast. As sure as day follows night twenty miles will be the limit, and soon. It is positively the only way the "national disgrace" can be eliminated or partially controlled. J. L. S.

A SONG OF CALIFORNIA
There is music in the garden
When the nights are warm and still,
And the mandolins are waking
Echoed notes from hill to hill;
Where the petaled orange blossoms
Waft their perfume on the breeze,
"California! California!"
Run the whispers in the trees.

There are measured tones of laughter
In the grasses' rhythmic sway,
Warm and tremulous with sunshine
Garnered from the heart of day;
In the tiny swelling seed cups
Offering a glad refrain:
"California! California!
May your glory never wane."

There are love notes that awaken
Memories profound and true,
Reminiscent of lost gardens
Where the skies were softly blue;
Songs of years now half forgotten
Starward on the moment wing.
California! California!
As in praise to you we sing.

MABEL W. PHILLIPS.

At Last
"Tom," said his long-suffering sweetheart, "have you secured a position yet?"
"No," said the college graduate. "I'm still waiting for something to turn up."
"Well, here it is," she snapped, turning up her nose at him. "Take a good look at it and clear out."—[Boston Transcript.

RIPPLING RHYMES by Walt Mason

THE FAKER

I know a blind man who each day used to see half way across the street he gathered, every day or three, a rake-off truly great. He had a tin cup in his hand to jolt the pence and kind; and through the long hours he would stand and mutter: "I am blind." The people heard the sad lament of one who'd lost his goat and gave a nickel or a cent, a hopeful or a groat. The blindness was a fake; his eyes were sound, and his sign were horned, for threw him in the lake. "Oh hell-kins," the fetcher said, "with clear ity I'm done; I used to do without my bread to give that blind man a meal." "I missed a stake," Frankiln cried, "full many a precious time, that I might thoughtlessly provide the blind man with a dime." They all agree that now again will they cough up better to any sort of whining man who claim they cannot see. The honest blind men come along and make their sad appeal, while to the passing throng that would like a meal. They're not blind, they'll never see the end come up again or watch the daisies on the lea, the wonders of the glen. They are omitted in the list of every kindly fake; but true souls were lately made the victims of a fake. In vain the worthy blind men wait to hear the pennies fall; the pennies falling on the ground that they, imploring, hail. In vain the sightless pilgrim pleads for pelf or quail on toast; the shades of fate er's evil deeds betide sooner or later host.

NATIVE ZULU EDUCATOR IN VISIT HERE

Head of Natal College of South Africa Will Raise Funds for Institution

Rev. John L. Dube, native Zulu whose education was obtained at Oberlin College and the Union Missionary School in Brooklyn N. Y., but whose grandfather was one of the most powerful chiefs of the Zulu nation in South Africa, is now Los Angeles and is the guest of Rev. W. C. Wilcox, the missionary who converted him more than twenty-five years ago. Mr. Dube will speak at the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church next Sunday night, and intends to deliver a series of lectures here to raise funds to meet the needs of the Ohlange Institute in Natal, South Africa, of which he is principal.

Rev John L. Dube.

Mr. Dube's grandfather was assassinated by Dingane, Zulu king, whose enmity he had incurred, and the boy's father was forced to flee with the scattered remnants of his tribe to Natal. Later, the youngster was converted by Mr. Wilcox, and with him came to America. He studied six years at Oberlin College in Ohio, returned to his native land, married and made a second trip to the United States. Later he was ordained by a council of Congregational churches in Brooklyn, again returned to South Africa and founded Ohlange Institute.

Belcher Ballet Will Feature Wampas Frolic

Fifty talented young dancers will be presented by Ernest Belcher in a fiesta ballet, which will be one of the features of the sixth annual Wampas frolic and ball at the Ambassador Auditorium Thursday evening, February 17. Every frolic ever given by the screen publicists has had its Belcher ballet.

In the one scheduled for this year colorful dances and novelties of Spanish motif will feature the presentation. None of the artists is more than ten years of age. Exotic and elaborate costumes specially designed at a cost exceeding $3000 will be worn by the dancers.

In 1922 at the first Wampas frolic Belcher presented his daughter, Lina Basquette, who later became a premiere danseuse and who now as retired from public life and is the wife of Sam Warner.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR THREAT TO KILL WIFE

Asserted threats to kill his estranged wife, together with a revolver found in his possession when arrested, yesterday resulted in Henry C. Rentz receiving a ninety-day jail sentence when he appeared before Municipal Judge Richardson on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Rentz was arrested in front of a Western-Avenue cafe several nights ago when Policemen Praytor and Sitts responded to a call from Mrs. Myrtle M. Rentz, the wife, and an employee in the restaurant. According to Deputy City Prosecutor Chotiner, the revolver was found in Rentz's coat pocket by the officers.

JACKIE'S GUIDE AND DIRECTOR

Ed Sedgwick Will Direct the Shorn Little Coogan Kid; Clifford Holland Leads Young Fox Players Here; Otis Harlan on Long-Term U Contract

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The question as to who shall teach the young idea of Jackie Coogan to shoot in the field of dramatic art, since he has shorn his locks, is settled. Edward Sedgwick, director of "Tin Hats" and "Slide, Kelly, Slide," has been chosen to direct Jackie's next starring vehicle, "The Bugle Call," according to an announcement at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, made by Hunt Stromberg.

Jackie Coogan

The story is a vivid tale of Indian fighting on the great plains, dealing with the adventures of American soldiers operating against Indian tribes in the early '70's. Jackie will play the part of a bugle-boy attached to a cavalry post in the story.

It was announced some time ago that Reginald Barker would direct the story, but due to the elaborate production plans for "The Branding Iron," in which he is now directing Aileen Pringle and Lionel Barrymore, the fact that he is scheduled for another outdoors picture to follow, it was decided to enlist Sedgwick to direct the Coogan picture.

The new picture will see Jackie Coogan in what, to most of his followers, will be a new role—that of a boy approaching his teens, such as, in the early days, followed the army as drummers and buglers.

Young Fox Player Here

One of the first announcements issued from Fox Films' inner sanctum since the arrival of Winfield R. York, is to the effect that a number of new personalities are to be seen in Fox productions, talented boys and girls who have already passed through the apprenticeship sequence.

Clifford Holland, a good-looking youngster with a winning personality, is the first arrival from New York. He claims Greenborough, N. C., as his home town and made quite a hit in Fox Films version of "Summer Bachelors." Previous to that he appeared in two or three of Richard Dix's productions. Ootherwise one might say young Holland stepped out of college on to the cinema stage. He has not yet been assigned to a production and meanwhile is getting settled in Hollywood and filmland.

Otis Harlan Signs

Otis Harlan, robust, if little, comedian with the funny paddling feet, has been signed under a long-term contract by Universal, according to an announcement made yesterday by Carl Laemmle president.

Otis Harlan

The comedian has appeared recently in several Universal productions in which his work was widely praised by dramatic critics. He played in "What Happened to Jones" with Reginald Denny. "Down the Stretch" with Marion Nixon and Robert Agnew, and "The Silent Rider" with Hoot Gibson.

Harlan is an old-timer. He made his stage debut in 1887 and entered motion pictures in 1921. He was born in Zanesville, O., and is a graduate of Kenyon College, Gambier, O. His theatrical career took him abroad five times, and he was prominently associated among others with Weber and Fields, Anna Held and Elsie Janis.

His first role under his new contract has not yet been selected.

Lady Diana to See McLaglen

One of the highlights in the life of Victor McLaglen, to which he is looking forward with interest, is the promised visit to the Fox studio of Lady Diana Manners.

Miss Manners is to be the guest of the studio the early part of next week, when she will renew acquaintance with McLaglen, who played in pictures with Lady Diana in England before coming to this country.

McLaglen's outstanding characterization was as Bullfinch in "The Glorious Adventure," in which Lady Diana was starred.

Ruth Roland Ill

Ruth Roland is ill at home, following a siege in the Good Samaritan Hospital, where she underwent X-ray examinations.

Miss Roland was injured in falling from a horse during the making of a picture recently, and on Monday she was taken so ill that it was necessary to remove her to the hospital. She was taken home yesterday and is reported as improving, though she will be confined to her bed for a week or two longer.

Reginald Denny Better

And just to keep the column in the hospital department a moment longer, we have good news from another patient.

Mrs. Reginald Denny yesterday stated that her husband, who is a Universal star, is recovering so rapidly from his recent operation that she expects to bring him home from the hospital early next week.

Laura La Plante's Next

It does seem to us as though Laura La Plante has less time to vacation than almost any other girl in pictures.

Laura La Plante

Before she had fairly finished with her current Universal feature the star's next story has been assigned to her. It is a very nice story, too, nothing less than a film version of Cyril Harcourt's clever farce, "A Pair of Silk Stockings," which convulsed theater audiences a few seasons ago.

Louis D. Lighton Busy

Louis D. Lighton, newly elevated from the ranks of the scenarists to the post of editor-in-chief at the Famous Players-Lasky studio, has launched upon his new work with seven of the ten productions now under way under his editorial charge.

Under the new editorial policy as established by B. P. Schulberg, two editors-in-chief rule the story and scenario department, H. Lloyd Sheldon being in charge of the road shows and specials and the Bebe Daniels unit, with Lighton at the head of the feature productions.

"BLONDE SAINT" IS GOOD ROMANCE

"The Blonde Saint," which opened at the Criterion yesterday, is immeasurably better than its title.

There is plenty of good, old-fashioned romance in it, with Lewis Stone finding a more suitable role than any he has had for some time.

Stone appears as Sebastian Maure, an Italian novelist, who falls in love with a young American girl, the "blonde Saint." Because she objects to the free and easy life he has led, she refuses him in favor of a more circumspect English suitor. En route to England from Italy the novelist kidnaps the girl from the liner in rather a far-fetched manner. At any rate, the young lady finally loses her heart to this daring suitor on the isolated Sicilian island where he takes her.

The picture is rather wobbly at the offset in establishing the plot, but later becomes more logical, providing one is willing to use the proverbial grain of romantic salt.

Settings and scenery are magnificent. There is a moonlight scene on an Italian terrace, with shadows of leaves traced on the pavement, that has the witchery of a painting. The Sicilian episodes, too, have an authentic Mediterranean atmosphere. In fact, the European feeling has been well sustained throughout.

As said before, Stone has a role suited to his suave charm and polish. It has been distressing to see him as an elderly roue in preceding pictures.

Doris Kenyon is quite lovely as the "blond saint." The role afforded her little opportunity, but her interpretation was not outstanding.

On the other hand, with very little to do, Ann Rork and Gilbert Roland as the Sicilian lovers, did admirably. Roland apparently does very well in the idyllic and more picturesque sort of characters.

Cesare Gravina, who swears a vendetta on the two sets of lovers, is excellent, of course, Malcolm Denny was accepted as the English suitor, while Albert Conti, Vadim Uraneff, Lillian Langdon and Leo White are seen in support.

Sven Gade directed "The Blonde Saint" for First National.

Short features and an organ solo, "Tonight You Belong to Me," played by Anne Leaf, round out the program.

"OLD IRONSIDES" STIRRING FILM

Spectacular Impression of Historic Victory

Magnascope Brings Thrill to Audience

Grauman Stages Gorgeous Prologue

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The pride of a nation in a half-forgotten school song is due for a reawakening. There is a cause therefor—"Old Ironsides." It is a pictorial realization of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," and a creation for the screen that will stir the pulses. You can see it at Grauman's Egyptian Theater, and it goes without saying that you will not neglect to view it.

"Old Ironsides" hove majestically into the vision of an audience attuned to its splendor and its message last evening. It rides forth at the crest of the season as one of the year's supreme undertakings, and it is a magnificent justification of a fine ambition.

To estimate its appeal is to penetrate deep into the American heart, and its unmistakable thrill over a national achievement. What "The Covered Wagon" was to the conquering plains, this new historical feature is to our sea conquests.

The brilliant first-night attendance received it as a friend but not without discrimination. Its elaborateness is manifest, its humanness far-reaching, and its historical import exceptional.

Sid Grauman had another notable premiere. The crowd was one of the most notable that has ever gathered within the walls of the theater which has long been the scene of grand openings. The throng on the streets and at the entrance was huge. It was a night of festivities in Hollywood.

The prologue was one of the most splendid. There were certain numbers like the kiddies' ballet that even brought bravos. Greatest of all perhaps was the first revelation of the Magnascope, which enlarges the proportions of the screen, and which provided a new experience even for the most consistent theatergoer.

The Magnascope was introduced at the very close of the first part of the picture. Before that the scenes had been flashed on a screen of the ordinary size.

Suddenly the curtains on either side of this drew back, to reveal a space fully as wide as the stage on which the prologues are presented. It was approximately double the size of the other screen.

Here, in all its glory, under full sail, came the glorious ship that is the real hero of the story, rising and falling with the waves, seeming almost lifelike.

This innovation appears to be an important one for certain effects. It was later used in the battle episodes, and enhanced their realism. For once, one had the feeling that there was plenty of room for the maneuvers.

A person does not need to say whether or not "Old Ironsides" will be a success. It is bound to be. The length of its run can hardly be prophesied, but it might be foretold that this will probably be one of the most popular pictures yet shown at Hollywood's famous long-run theater.

It has a bigness that lives up to expectations. It is a great and throbbing story of daring exploits against enormous odds that has the background of history. It has two glorious characters portrayed by Wallace Beery and George Bancroft and a touch of pleasing if conventional romance.

Prominence has, naturally, been given to the historical impression. For the suggestion and adaptation of the theme Harry Carr and Walter Woods were responsible, and its interest is vital. Laurence Stallings devised the story, and James Cruze's achievement in the direction of a difficult an undertaking as perhaps was ever dreamed of in the realm of the cinema. There is no doubt, either, that "Old Ironsides" will reinstate his fame.

As may be taken for granted, it is not possible to consider this production from the ordinary critical standards. There are moments in which it is defective from this standpoint. These might even be anticipated. It is a pretty difficult matter to get all the spectacular glories of warfare even upon a screen that is twice the normal size.

WORK OF SINCERITY

What I personally like about the picture is the manifest sincerity when the results are taken in their entirety. The moments of hokum, of which there are plenty, borrowed from the field of comedy, and that of our sentimental screen drama, do not detract from those of its virile glory. It has the force of masculinity behind it. Action and titles bear this out, and occasionally, but some vigorous language that can be gathered by those who are good lip-readers.

There is feeling, too, in the devotion between Beery and Bancroft despite their many quarrels. The love scenes between Charles Farrell and Esther Ralston are a little overdone, but their romance is pleasing. There is a great note of meaning in the start of the picture, bringing its purport close to the audience, and making the Constitution a symbol for a national salvation on the high seas. This sets the stage for all that follows and, although this is sketchily done in the setting of the old Congress Hall in Philadelphia, it is hard to conceive of how it might be done more effectively.

The audience then begins to clasp unto itself the main plot—a tale of roystering adventure, when men were really men, if you wish to have it that way. There are squalls and storms, a raid by the Barbary pirates, all forces brought into prison and subjection, the girl and the boy separated, and then—the Constitution to the rescue.

The last few reels are entirely occupied with the sea battle, in which all the characters sooner or later become identified. Historical figures like Stephen Decatur are also part of this spectacle—of the fight between the Constitution and the Algiers, of the raiding of the Moorish fort on the mainland, of the final victory, one of the most superlative and daring that has ever been won in our annals.

BEERY IS THE HERO

There is no end of praise for the leading players in "Old Ironsides." They seem ideally selected. Beery is, undoubtedly, the conqueror. He couldn't help but be in a role of such grimy grandeur as the bos'n of the merchant ship Esther, which is the one that is captured.

Bancroft is almost equally splendid. They are a pair unforgettable, and a match in weight and size. Bancroft is the master gunner of the Constitution who is shanghaied through the zealous ministrations of Beery. He nearly kills him as a consequence.

FINE PROLOGUE

Charles Farrell is likeable. He is a natural sort of actor, especially considering that this is his first picture. There is good strong character to his portrayal.

Esther Ralston has never been more charming, nor as attractive. The garb of the early nineteenth century is more than becoming to her presence.

Johnnie Walker is Lieut. Decatur, and Charles Hill Mailes Commodore Preble, both giving excellent performances. Mitchell Lewis, Guy Oliver, William Conklin, among others, are effective, and that's not to forget George Godfrey who is immensely amusing as the negro cook.

Altogether, "Old Ironsides" is a picture of people, events and ocular attractions that is rare in the world of the cinema. It is a great idea told with a fine adventurous spirit, and a quality of actuality that is exceptional.

The Grauman prologue centers around a celebration the night before the launching of the Constitution, and is capital in that it introduces the picture itself very definitely, and without detracting from its significance. It is in this respect unusual even among his prologues.

The tiny tots' ballet with the youngsters wearing white wigs and doing steps that are as difficult as those performed by trained dancers simply stopped the show. Some of this was naively amusing, but all of it a fascinating novelty. The Ukrainian Chorus does not seem to fit exactly into the stage picture, although they won applause with their singing. It was rather early in American history for the arrival of so ultra a musical ensemble.

The ballet of the ships was exceedingly decorative. A tiny singer gained great appreciation with her rendition of "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto" and other numbers. A colored quartet was also well received. The dance presentations were given under the direction of Ernest Belcher. There was a polka and a grand march by the entire company.

The applause for Beery when he was introduced by Eddie Cantor at the close of the picture was tremendous. James Cruze, George Bancroft, Charles Farrell, Esther Ralston and others were credited with ovations, but it was evident that Beery was considered the star of the occasion.

TYPICAL LIGHT COMEDY

BY KATHERINE LIPKE

"Her Big Night," which opened yesterday at the Uptown, is a pleasantly amusing picture. Nothing occurs to mark it as any way out of the ordinary either in assets or liabilities, but it features Laura La Plante in one of those light comedy roles which she plays so well, and altogether forms a very enjoyable hour and a half's entertainment.

The story has more plot than appears to the casual eye. A shop girl is discovered by a press agent to bear a startling resemblance to a picture star. He presses her into service later when the star herself is held on a yacht with a scandal in the offing. Our little salesgirl impersonates the lady, makes a personal appearance, gets involved in numerous difficulties and comes off at the end of "Her Big Night" with $1000 with which her sweetheart can go into business for himself.

Without Laura La Plante the picture would go instantly to pot. She is not only very pretty but does some very clever acting. The scene under the corset table at the store is especially funny when Laura seeks refuge from the storm of lady bargain hunters and remains there until the sale is over.

The boy friend is played by Einar Hanson. His is an unimportant role but he makes excellent foil for Laura. Zasu Pitts is in the cast, and of course, is good. As the room-mate who fills in an emergency she is both pathetic and funny.

Lee Moran plays the press agent with all the energy, and vigor usually exhibited by that vocation, and Tully Marshall as the newspaper reporter, although totally miscast, gives a very humorous characterization. His helpmate is William Austin.

Abe Lyman and his orchestra are at the top of form this week and they are ably assisted by Leon Le Verdi, Harry Vernon, Vera Van, Miss Adriana and Marion Dabney.

"Butterfly" Indifferently Performed

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The first disappointing performance of the season by the San Carlo company was put on last night. It was "Butterfly," with a new singer, Rosa des Rosiers in the name part; Bernice Schalker singing "Suzuki;" Dimitri Onofrei playing Pinkerton, and Interrante in the part of the Consul.

The public is too familiar with this Puccini score to present it with shabby settings, a wandering orchestral background and costuming indifferent as to essential details.

Rose des Rosiers impresses one as a singer with a good voice, but lacking the skill to use it. She has an appealing charm of person but her acting as "Butterfly" and also that of Schalker as Suzuki was unreal and stagy. Mme. Rosiers seemed to be feeling her way through the score much of the time.

Onofrei's ardent love make-believe and the quality of his musicianship [illegible] Sharpless, was a light of interest in an otherwise dull performance.

"Lohengrin" will be sung this afternoon with the company's leading tenor, Tafuro, in the title role and Saroya singing "Elsa."

AT MIDNIGHT SHOW

At the Saturday midnight show at the Music Box a galaxy of stage and screen favorites will be in attendance, including Danny O'Shea, Ralph Ince, Billy Dove and Joan Crawford. Messrs. Ince and O'Shea will be hosts to a large party of friends and will also present a surprise skit.

THEATRICAL

FEATHERWEIGHT FARCE

RICHARD DIX FILM FAIR; BOB NELSON MAKES DEBUT

BY HERBERT MOULTON

There have been many better farces at the Metropolitan than the one presented there yesterday.

"Paradise for Two," which stars Richard Dix, is not a film that makes much difference one way or another. Some of its subtitles are good and several of the situations reasonably funny, but beyond this it hasn't much to offer.

Dix is amusing as the chap who has to marry in order to win an inheritance, but someone made a terrific error in casting Betty Bronson opposite him. It's difficult to build up romantic interest between them. Miss Bronson is capable in her own way, just as Dix is in his, but they don't make a very appealing couple.

Andre Beranger hasn't much chance to do any trouping, which is regrettable, because this is his long suit. Edmund Breese plays the uncle to good effect.

But, altogether, it's pretty slim fare.

Nelson is a newcomer, and while he perhaps shouldn't devote too much time to vocal efforts, he has a pleasing personality and a peppy manner that augurs well for his success.

Featured in hal act are Ward and Van, who hardly need an introduction. They won a lot of applause yesterday.

Others in the act, which is called "Radianna," are Barnett and Clark, Fiorette Montague and Helen Wright.

George Young's appearance is happily brief, but his introduction goes to the other extreme. There is a long, asinine, sob-sisterish recital of the story of the swimmer's exploit, which is almost as interesting now as last year's telephone directory would be.

The Aesop's Fable cartoon comedy, starring a nameless feline is the only feature on the bill that earns a 100 per cent rating.

'RED MILL' IS ROMANCE OF HOLLAND

Stage Presentation Has Gene Morgan in Dutch "Nonsense"

"The Red Mill," film version of the musical comedy of the same name by Victor Herbert, opened yesterday at Loew's.

The film deals with the romance of a Dutch servant maid and a young Irishman, the action taking place in a picturesque Holland setting.

Marion Davies and Owen Moore are the featured players in the production. The supporting cast includes Louise Fazenda, George Siegmano and Karl Dane.

On the stage Fanchon and Marco present Gene Morgan in a bag of Dutch nonsenicalities entitled, "In Dutch."

The comical Gene, arrayed as usual in his green hat, supplied the audience with numerous laughs in yesterday's offering.

A Dutch song, of the doggerel variety, illustrated on a large blackboard, proved the motive of many "wise-cracks" on the part of the young leader.

Unusually lovely settings and elaborate costuming characterized the Fanchon and Marco offering. The "Sunkist Beauty" chorus, attired in conventional Dutch garb, did some especially commendable work.

The Samuels Brothers, two dancing youths, come in for much applause in their act. Difficult tap and stunt numbers, as well as novelty sketches were offered by the team.

A "surprise" finale, featuring an unusual adagio team concludes the prologue.

Familiar tunes from the "Red Mill" were used exclusively throughout the stage offering.

COLLEGE BACKGROUND IN COMEDY

"The Poor Nut," Opening at Morosco, Had Long New York Run

Opening Sunday afternoon at the Morosco is "The Poor Nut." Comedies as a rule are just comedies and nothing more, but "The Poor Nut" is said to be a dramatic play as well, and has an interesting story around which the comedy is built.

ALMA TELL

In New York "The Poor Nut" ran for almost a year. It is funnier than George Ade's "The College Widow," according to many critics.

John Litel and Alma Tell will star in the production at the Morosco. Mitchell Harris, Elizabeth Allen and other players will be in the cast.

"The Poor Nut" is a play of college and a would-be college athletic hero. A scene of a relay race between two universities is said to be as thrilling as a good football game and the spectators become a part of the scene as much as the actors.

"Easy Come, Easy Go," the comedy of Owen Davis, will close tonight.

ZOELLNER PUPIL IN SUCCESSFUL RECITAL

Robert Harthun, talented violin pupil of Amandus Zoellner, played a pretentious program at the new auditorium of the Zoellner Conservatory last night.

The concert-list included the second concerto by Wieniawski; the Rondino, No. 2, by Vieuxtemps; a Preiude by Spalding, Achron's Hebrew Melody, Schubert's Ave Maria, and Canebrake by Samuel Gardner.

Three Dozen Robberies in Day Net $7000

Wheel Thrown by Car Taken Before Driver Alights

Heaviest Loss Sustained in Oriental Rug Theft

Burglars, bandits and pickpockets caused a flood of crime reports to be sent in to the police yesterday showing a loss by victims of almost $7000. Oriental rugs, hams, cheeses, jewelry, furs, a fancy shower-bath apparatus and prize chickens comprised part of the plunder obtained in various sections of the city. Burglars ripped out iron bars and bored holes through walls into stores, smashed and picked their way into residences; bandits kidnaped a taxi driver and pickpockets cut a woman's purse from her arm while she was shopping at Third street and Broadway.

So speedily did some of the thieves work that Clarence Van Patten of 1530 One Hundred and Sixth street reported that they took a rear wheel from his flivver while he was in the very act of driving it. He stated that the wheel had slipped off the axle as he drove by Texas and Tenth streets. The car skidded ahead 100 feet and before he could leap out and retrieve his wheel it had been stolen.

ORIENTAL RUGS TAKEN

One of the heaviest losses was reported by James B. Elliott, who told police that burglars had broken into his rug-cleaning establishment at 206 North Western avenue and had obtained eleven oriental rugs valued at $3000. The burglars effected entrance to the shop by breaking through the front door of a vacant store next door and then boring a hole through a side wall into the rug shop.

Two shares turned upon H. W. Pheres, a taxicab driver of 1316 Wilshire Boulevard, after he had picked them up several blocks from Central Police Station, and, with threatening revolvers, forced him to drive them to Eighth and San Julian streets where they relieved him of $61 in cash and a $135 diamond ring. He was dragged out to the pavement, he stated, by the bandits who then drove off with his cab. One bandit, he said, was about 5 feet 3 inches in height, while his companion was well over 6 feet.

Tearing out the screen from a bedroom window, burglars broke into the home of Wayne M. Condon at 1035 West Florence avenue, ransacked the house and obtained jewelry and clothing valued at $1000, another report stated.

MAKE SELVES AT HOME

By a similar method burglars entered the home of J. C. Hoffner at 6528 Fernwood avenue and took clothing valued at $1000, according to the victim's report.

A gang of housebreakers smashed their way into the residence of Homer G. Howard, retired business man, at 2056 South Catalina street, ransacked the interior, switched on the lights, turned on the radio and conducted themselves as though they were in their own rendezvous as hosts to merry-making guests. A report of the matter was made to the police by Wilson A. Maule, stepson of Mr. Howard. The latter, police said, is absent from the city.

Maule reported that when he returned to the house he found the porch lights on, the glass smashed out of the front door, the radio going, and the furnishings turned upside down. From a preliminary investigation he stated he was not able to state what goods may have been taken by the marauders.

While shopping in a market at Third street and Broadway, Mrs. Etty Morris of 1306 McCollum street, in the presence of hundreds of other persons, reported her purse cut from her arm by pickpockets. The purse, contained, she stated, jewelry valued at $400.

FANCY FOWL TAKEN

Chicken thieves obtained sixteen prize Rhode Island reds from a coop at the residence of John Steffen at 3171 West Avenue 32, the latter reported to the police. Before departing the thieves killed the chickens, leaving their heads in the rear yard, it was stated.

Ripping out an iron bar buried in the cement of a window casing, burglars entered the grocery store of J. Gomez at 1403 North Main street, and obtained hams, cheeses, cookies and other produce valued at $200, Gomez reported.

The following persons reported goods valued at $500 stolen from each of their homes: Mrs. J. H. Earye of 1707 Las Vegas street, Manuel Gonzales of 1724 East Second street and Joe Risk of 2802 La Salle street. Mr. Risk reported that a fancy shower-bath apparatus was stolen from a residence owned by him at 17470 Revelle street.

EIGHTEEN OTHERS

Eighteen other burglary reports, where the plunder obtained did not exceed a valuation of $100, were reported to the police.

At the same time two suspects were arrested. They were Emil Willett, 27 years of age, and Fred Bush, 27, who, Detective Lieutenants Cullen, Jolin and Gerhardt reported, had in their possession property stolen in the burglary of the Arctic Creamery at Sixth and Rio streets.

J. M. Grace, who runs a butter and egg store at 1118 West Tenth street, was called to the telephone in a neighboring store yesterday afternoon. A voice inquired about butter and egg prices. When he returned to his store he found the cash register had been cleaned out, presumably by a confederate of he man who had telephoned, and $45 taken.

Peter D. Rolshaden reported his room in a downtown hotel was entered while he slept and a platinum diamond ring valued at $500 and $275 in cash taken.

COURT THROWS OUT WILL CONTEST SUIT

A contest instituted by Lena Berry Boston, designed to set aside the will of her father, the late Milford M. Berry, who left an estate valued at $19,000, yesterday was thrown out of court when Judge Hahn granted a motion for a nonsuit. The daughter charged Mary M. Berry, widow of the decedent, with having influenced her husband to make a will in her favor. After listening to the testimony for three days, Judge Hahn granted the nonsuit on the ground the daughter's charges were insufficiently substantiated by the evidence.

DR. MORLAN VISITOR IN SOUTHLAND

Specialist, Explorer and Sportsman Announces He May Build Home Here

Although few ever reach that idealistic state in which a perfectly good vocation may be discarded in favor of giving undivided attention to avocations, because the great majority can only stand by and marvel and wonder how the small minority do it, Dr. Halford J. Morlan of Chicago is by vocation a prominent eye, ear, nose and throat specialist and works just as hard at his big game hunting, angling, golf, exploring, writing, lecturing. He is an all-around sportsman.

Dr. Morlan is here with Mrs. Morlan at the Hillview Apartments, 6585 Hollywood Boulevard, for a two months' visit during which time they expect to look Southern California over thoroughly to see if it will fill the requirements of a perfect hunting, fishing and golfing paradise.

He has fished and hunted in almost every corner of the globe from Alaska to Mexico, from the Caribbean to Labrador. For a period of seven or eight years he held the international all-around championship for fly and bait casting and eleven out of twenty world's records. He says that he is continually deluged with letters from all parts of the world asking his advice about the best places to fish and hunt, the kind of bait and flies to use, the best guns and so on.

Search on for Missing Girl in All Coast Cities

Police of every city on the Pacific Coast have been asked to make a search for Kathleen Moyse, 15 years of age, daughter of Mrs. Edith S. Moyse, 919 East Eighty-eighth place, who left home last Tuesday morning ostensibly on her way to school and has since failed to return.

KATHLEEN MOYSE.

The mother expressed fear yesterday that the girl had been induced to elope with a man whom she met recently and who had asked her to marry him. Inquiry at Santa Ana revealed that a couple answering the description of the missing pair tried unsuccessfully to obtain a marriage license there the day the girl disappeared.

The girl is large for her age, the mother said, and might easily pass for one of 19 or 20 years. When she left home she wore a brown coat with a fur collar and a red hat.

According to reports made to Deputy Sheriffs Blasdel and Peters by the crew of the train, the man apparently jumped in front of the train as it approached. The body was taken to the Neal & Towne morgue at Compton. The man's addresse was given as 491 Ancon street.

CAPT. DOLLAR ARRIVES TODAY

Shipping Head to Attend Foreign Trade Week

Will Launch Company Line Direct to Orient

New Steamers Will Spend Million Here Yearly

Capt. Robert Dollar, "the grand old man of the Pacific," and president of the Dollar Line Steamship Company, will arrive in Los Angeles Harbor today aboard the President Lincoln. He will be guest of honor in the closing events of "Foreign Trade Week," and Monday will inaugurate his company's direct service from the Port of Los Angeles to the Orient.

CAPT. ROBERT DOLLAR

A delegation of shipping men and representatives of foreign trade interests headed by Edgar M. Wilson and George Neal will meet Capt. Dollar when the ship docks. Following a short reception he will be taken for a tour of the city including the Hollywood picture studios. Later he will be entertained with a luncheon.

Business and industrial interests of Los Angeles are urged to expand their activities through the avenues of foreign trade by R. E. Johns, district manager of the United States Shipping Board, who spoke at a meeting of the Breakfast Club yesterday.

Mr. Johns pointed out the opportunity awaiting Los Angeles business men who direct a greater effort to their import and export departments. Will G. Farrell, Los Angeles attorney, also spoke on the benefits of building up a greater foreign trade.

BANKER IN ADDRESS

J. A. H. Kerr, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank in an address before the Lions Club yesterday noon pointed out the need of the Boulder Canyon Dam as an incentive to foreign trade expansion.

"Our producers and manufacturers have been so enterprising that already exports from Los Angeles Harbor are exceeded in value only by those of New York," Mr. Kerr said. "But these endeavors should be looked upon only as a beginning. There will be such an amazing development of manufacturing on the completion of the Colorado River project that redoubled efforts should be made now to develop foreign markets as insurance against any possible glut of products and manufactured articles then. Los Angeles is already the sixth city in industrial development. What position will it take when the Colorado is harnessed?"

Chamber of Commerce officials said numerous reservations are being made for the dinner to be given in honor of Capt. Dollar Monday night at the Alexandria. The chief speakers will be Capt. Dollar, D. F. McGarry, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Arthur S. Bent. This will be the concluding event of the "foreign-trade" observation.

PATRONAGE OF SHIPS

William K. Ashman, port steward of the Dollar Line, said that with the additional ships brought into this port his company will spend for fuel and supplies more than $1,250,000 in Los Angeles annually.

Arrangements for the public reception at the harbor tomorrow were being made today by special committees of shipping men who are in charge of the event. Shipowners will be asked to have their ships in port dressed up for observation of International Relations Day, and for the inspection of the public, which will be invited aboard.

Dollar Dollar Line officials who will be here from San Francisco to take part in Monday's events include: R. Stanley Dollar, Hugo M. Lorber, Hugh Mackenzie, M. J. Buckley, Randolph Nickerson and L. H. Westdahl.

The first session will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the assembly room of the Los Angeles Transportation Club at Seventh and Los Angeles streets. Representatives of the Dollar, the McCormick and other steamship lines, as well as railroads and manufacturing concerns, will serve as instructors and the course is open to all who are interested.

The classes will be divided into three groups, domestic transportation by rail, by water and foreign. Meetings will be conducted weekly and examinations will be conducted at stated intervals.

VERDICT AGAINST BANKER

Jordan Found Guilty on Nine Counts of Aiding and Abetting McEniry in Corona Funds Case

After deliberating almost twenty-four hours, a jury in the court of United States District Judge McCormick yesterday found Irvin Jordan, former vice-president of the Pasadena National Bank, guilty of nine counts of aiding and abetting James A. McEniry, former vice-president of the Corona National Bank, in the misapplication of $72,000 of the Corona bank's money during 1925.

Frank D. Patty, another former vice-president of the Pasadena bank, and Roy G. Van Vleck during May and June, 1926, precipitated a Federal investigation into the affairs of the Pasadena National Bank, the Corona National Bank and other smaller financial institutions in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

Judge McCormick dismissed six of the original twenty-one counts against Jordan prior to giving his instructions to the jury and verdicts of not guilty on six of the remaining fifteen were returned by the jury when it reported.

IRVIN JORDAN

Still unable to agree on a verdict at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the jury was called to the court by Judge McCormick and, after additional instructions on how to regard the evidence, retired to return within an hour with the verdict.

AMOUNT OF BOND FIXED

Jordan was ordered released on $10,000 bond until Monday, when he and McEniry, who entered plea of guilty and assisted the government in presentation of its evidence, are scheduled to appear for sentence.

The arrest of Jordan, McEniry, Patty and Van Vleck during the past year followed the original investigation of the Pasadena National Bank by Federal Bank Examiner Fred Elliott, who reported to Washington that he had found irregularities in the bank's affairs.

BANK LOSSES CHARGED

It was charged by government investigators that the Pasadena bank lost $22,700 through the manipulations of Jordan and that the Corona bank was wrecked through the activities of McEniry and Jordan. Van Vleck was taken into custody in Arizona after a State-wide search had been conducted for him, but a few months ago charges were dismissed against him.

Jordan recently was indicted by the United States grand jury on the Pasadena bank charge, but yesterday indicated plans to continue his fight for vindication despite his reversal in court.

"We intend to file notice of appeal Monday and carry on to the Circuit Court of Appeals," he declared, while conferring in the United States Marshal's office with Defense Attorneys DeWeese and Martin.

POISON RUM VENDER FINED

Judge Flays Dealer Expressing Regret Law Allows Only Cash Levy for First Offense

Poison bootleg liquor—existence of which received nationwide recognition during the holiday season when scores of lives were taken—made its first appearance of the year yesterday before Municipal Judge Turney.

As a result of Judge Turney's sentence after finding Morris Novick guilty on a charge of possession of liquor, it is regarded that a precedent of maximum sentences for convicted venders of poisonous liquor has been set.

After testimony had been introduced by Chief Trial Deputy City Prosecutor Thoms to show that Novick's wares were so dangerous that one man's life was saved only after heroic efforts at the Receiving Hospital, Judge Turney ascertained the defendant and all others who sell such liquor.

"I regret that the law allows me to impose only a fine on you for your first offense against the Wright Act," Judge Turney said as he imposed the maximum fine of $500 with an alternative of 100 days in jail. "In cases such as yours where such of the stuff being sold."

RUM SHIP FLEES AMID LEAD

Suspected Aides Ashore Escape Also as Police Open Fire Between Hyperion and Del Rey

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Jan. 28.—While the sharper detonations and flame darts of police automatics played an obbligato ashore to the "cannonading" from a shotgun squad, a phantom ship, believed to be laden with the cargo of modern liquor buccaneers, yesterday slipped seaward into the murky haze. The stretch of coast between Hyperion and Del Rey holds sand dunes, as lonely as they were in the days when they harbored buccaneers of the pre-Volstead school—tattooed fellows who went about their marauding with less stealth than the modern breed displays.

Redondo police had flashed a message to the Venice station. A beach patrol had detected a mysterious vessel which was making its way stealthily toward a point between Hyperion and Del Rey.

The shotgun squad from Venice discerned two shadowy forms on one of the loftiest dunes. Signals were being sent seaward and responding signals sighted from a craft which appeared suddenly against the mist.

The rum runners on the dune must have heard the approach of the Venice police car. They disappeared. The officers, believing the capture of the rum ship still possible, withheld fire until they saw the craft put about suddenly and veer into that obscuring seaward shroud of vapor.

From up the highway came the roar of a car. Then the police opened fire. The coast was scoured by bay district officers from Redondo to Malibu, but the rum runners' car had disappeared.

"We'll get them yet," police officers said, lacopically. "Maybe they've been trying to land that cargo ever since they failed to get away with it before Christmas."

Thousands Call Chamber Bureau for Information

More than 10,000 people went to the telephone during the past year to get specific information of a wide statistical nature from the research department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Practically all got the information.

Answering persons who call on the phone, according to Guy E. Marion, manager of the research bureau, is only one of the details of the operation of the office. During the year, in addition to maintaining current tables of figures on Los Angeles and Southern California as voluminous as the United States census reports on the same area, the bureau made 668 special investigations. It issued 248 statistical sheets covering new material and printed 118 charts and graphs.

Tiniest Camera, Motion-Picture Exhibit Feature

Public inspection of the world's smallest motion-picture camera will be afforded for the first time at the Motion-Picture Exposition in the Ambassador Auditorium, March 7 to 12. This camera, the invention of a Los Angeles man, weighs fourteen ounces and is only four inches long, yet it is said faithfully to photograph any object that can be put on normal size motion-picture film.

This is but one of the many features of interest that will be exhibited in the booths, several of which will be designed as miniature studios so that the application of the devices exhibited can be shown in actual use. Color photography developments and talking films will be among the exhibits.

UKRAINIAN CHORUS IN LEGAL TILT

Singers Seek to Restrain Interference by Former Managers and Agents

Twenty-three members of the Alexander Koshetz Ukrainian National Chorus, now singing at a Hollywood theater, yesterday filed complaint in United States District Court seeking a restraining order against their former managers and agents in the matter of interfering with their engagements for asserted cancellation of their contract, on grounds that the defendants owed them salaries of $3630.

The defendants include Harry Block and Max Endicoff, doing business as Block & Endicoff; Max Babinoff, John Ostrander and Saul A. Klein, all of New York.

Heading the list of plaintiffs is Prof. Alexander Koshetz, Russian singing master who trained the chorus in Russia and brought it to the United States two years ago.

The suit recites that the plaintiffs "believe the defendants and Saul A. Klein, their attorney, will endeavor or are endeavoring to and threatening to enjoin, molest and interfere with the plaintiffs earning a livelihood as singers or any other manner."

The plaintiffs include Koshetz, now business manager as well as singing director; Olga Lebedisarskaya, John Kliodizinsky, G. Condrovsky, A. Sereda, Anna Senanoko, Julia Sichinska, J. Kucharska, Helen Romanska, Leon Sorotchinsky, V. Stankivich, Sergy Nesteruk, Mrs. N. S. Nesteruk, Petrovella Kloedzinska, John Lamperti, D. Jakubenko, T. He will assist in the direction of a national campaign for the country's leading dairy interests. Carver recently put through a program whereby the ice cream interests of the State pledged themselves to give a third of a cent a gallon for all ice cream sold in the next three years to create a nucleus for an advertising fund to further popularize the product. Carver was chosen a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers in recognition of his activity in promoting co-operative advertising of dairy products. He is also serving on the national research council of the group.

FINAL BLOW IN RESEARCH JOB DISPUTE

Councilman Jacobson in New Move for Abolition of Department "Plum"

To put the finishing touches on killing off the city administration scheme of exempting from civil service the position of research engineer of the building department so as to appoint to this $400-a-month position some campaign worker, Councilman Jacobson yesterday asked the City Council to abolish the place. The Building and Safety Commission first asked the Council to exempt the position from civil service so that Ralph Morris, a relative of Mayor's Secretary Kinney, who held the temporary appointment, could retain the position permanently. Morris failed to pass the Civil Service Commission.

Councilman Randall yesterday called the Council's attention to the fact that Morris had resigned to become general manager of a company of which Building Commissioner Antrim is president.

The commission renewed its efforts with the Council to have the position exempted from civil service on the ground that the research engineer is to be a "confidential agent" of the board. Councilman Jacobson's motion for abolition of the position was sent to the Council's Building and Safety Committee for a report.

Councilman Jacobson also started an investigation by the Council of the situation by which more than four hundred positions in the city's service are filled with temporary appointees, although the city ordinances require that they be filled from the civil service lists. It has been openly charged that the city administration has taken advantage of the congestion in the civil service department so that these temporary appointees can retain their jobs.

The Jacobson resolution, which was adopted by the Council, called upon Efficiency Director Knox to make a report to the Council as to the exact number of positions being filled by temporary appointees, and also the number of and titles of positions that have been exempted from civil service.

COUNCIL TO AID POLICE

On recommendation of Councilman Sparks's police and fire committee, the City Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to prepare and present an ordinance requiring garage and parking-station owners to file with the police department a list of automobiles stored with them for three days or more. The purpose of the ordinance is to assist the police in recovering stolen automobiles.

The committee will meet again next week and, in the meantime, members of the advisory committee will inspect all proposed sites. Chairman Hughes of the advisory special committee said yesterday:

Slayer-Suspect Offers Reward for Murderer

Ellamare B. Crumb, accused of the slaughter in shooting the man Jacob Bistrick, yesterday offered a reward of $25,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Bistrick's slayer, declaring himself innocent, according to Attorney Hahn, his attorney. Crumb was released on $2500 bail, will not be arraigned before hearing Thursday.

Crumb declared, according to his attorney, he had come upon Bistrick as he was lowering a gun that he had just used to kill a man. Crumb said he was struck down and that he was arrested by the police as soon as he regained consciousness. Mrs. Crumb was present at the Coroner's inquest yesterday and a negro identified as the man he had seen running from the scene of the slaying. Crumb declared that he had never seen the negro before.

Attorney Hahn also issued a statement attacking T. C. Poindexter, who, according to police, was to be the chief eyewitness to the slaying.

gale," sang "My Isle of Golden Dreams," and another selection, while June Starr Carroll, screen juvenile, sang "Mary Lou" and did the buck and wing dance, and Doris Velmar Short, youthful ukulele artist, played a group of tunes.

Richard Headrick, the "Little Minister," chatted with Radioland friends and Henrietta Poland, "Forget-Me-Not," journeyed up from San Diego for her semimonthly visit. The Collins twins, Catherine and Ellen, were in the studio for vocal solos and duets, and Roberta Bush, "The Firefly," sang two numbers.

The evening Scripture was read by the Pastor of the Highland Park Baptist Church, Rev. Edgar A. Wollam, followed by ten minutes by Stanley Hall, known as the man with a million laughs. Radio fans write in incidents of daily life and Hall fashions a joke to fit the scene and tells it over the air the following week.

The 9 o'clock weekly Council on International Relations talk was given this time by Stanley T. Olofson, general chairman of foreign trade week, and was particularly appropriate because of foreign trade week, which closes today.

HARPIST PLAYS

The evening's musical treat included violin selections by Hazel Linkogel, including the two Indian airs, "The Waters of Minnetonka" and the "Indian Lament," and Marjorie Miller, mezzo-soprano, in two solo groups, popular numbers of which were the "Sleepy Hollow Tune" and "Ma Little Banjo."

Grace Curry, harp soloist, who appears on the Friday evening popular program, strummed some delightful melodies and Dot Street, KHJ's favorite soprano, entertained with several numbers.

Helen Weyler, flutist, accompanied by Virginia Kahler, presented four flute pieces, outstanding numbers of which were selections by two French composers, the Saint-Saens "Romance" and Duvernoy's "Lament." Miss Weyler has played from WHB and WDAF in Kansas City, but last evening's concert was her first Los Angeles radio program.

Art Pabst with his banjo gave Radioland a fifteen-minute treat with popular tunes and vocal refrains and Lee Roscoe, the talented "Rag Man of KHJ," ran through a lengthy repertoire of jazz piano numbers. Harry Rowe, barritone, furnished much of the vocal setting for the two-hour broadcast which closed at 10 o'clock when the station signed off until 6:30 tonight.

COOLIDGE TO SPEAK

The Boston Symphony Orchestra again will broadcast a program this evening through WJZ and WBZ commencing at 6:10 Pacific standard time.

The WEAF chain of red network stations tonight will broadcast the semiannual meeting of the United States Bureau of Budget direct from Continental Memorial Hall in Washington, D. C., commencing at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The program will last almost three hours and the famous marine band will play. President Coolidge will come on the air at approximately 4:30 for a twenty-minute talk on tax reduction and the national budget. Local fans who can tune in WEAF, New York City; WGY, in Schenectady; or KSD at St. Louis, will hear the program.

Yesterday Lieut. Earl T. Vance at the end of a 1700-mile air trip from Montana, swung around the Times Tower at noon, convoyed by ten other machines and then to the City Hall to drop a message to Mayor George E. Cryer. The aviator made the trip via Denver, El Paso and Phoenix under auspices of the Hollywood Aero Club which is to sponsor an aerial meet here early in July.

Lieut. Vance appeared as a guest at the KHJ studio during the evening program and gave an inspiring and informational talk to radioland.

Latest reports from Washington indicate that broadcast applications for licenses have been filed by Prest and Dean of Long Beach; John Ellis, also of Long Beach; Frederick Robinson of La Crescenta; Norman Maw Company of San Diego; Los Angeles Public Library, and the Marsden Company of Van Nuys.

WESTLAKE PROGRAM

A special operatic program has been prepared by the Board of Park Commissioners for the Sunday afternoon concert from 2 to 4 o'clock at Westlake Park. Musical numbers will be furnished by Kilgrove's Radio Symphony and the vocal selections by the Optimist Male Quartet under the leadership of J. Howard Johnson, and accompanied by Leah Woodmore. After 4 o'clock a number of band selections will be played by Robert's Golden State Band.

The report was made by Mrs. R. J. Cross, former wife of Bergfeld. The couple had resided at St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Cross and Bergfeld, it was stated to the deputies, were divorced in February, 1925.

UNITED PORT PLAN URGED BY McGARRY

Chamber Head Requests Mayor to Negotiate With Long Beach on Project

The following letter has been sent by President D. F. McGarry of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to Mayor Cryer:

"I have been requested by the board of directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to drop you a line and express our appreciation of your intention, as expressed in a recent published article, to the effect that you intend shortly to bring up the matter of the joint port district as between Los Angeles and Long Beach.

"It is our opinion in the Chamber of Commerce that this is one of the most important problems confronting us, and possibly also confronting your regime. We are practically at a standstill with regard to the further development of our Outer Harbor until we can bring about a situation that will make available to us the Federal aid which has been pledged to us a number of times under the joint port plan.

"I desire therefore, on behalf of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce to respectfully urge that negotiations be undertaken by you with the proper executive authorities of the city of Long Beach, and to this end we pledge you our cordial and hearty co-operation."

Safety Train Stops Planned on Subway Line

Supplementing the modern block signal system employed for safety of operation in the new Pacific Electric subway, work is to be begun shortly on an installation of automatic train stops. The new safety equipment, of proved merit in operation on eastern elevated and subway properties, has been ordered.

In addition to light signals displaying conditions of tracks ahead, the automatic train stops will insure, regardless of the action or even presence of the motorman, the bringing of a train or car to a dead stop before it can have reached an obstacle or forbidden point ahead.

The system consists of an attachment to each end of the car and arranged to engage a stop arm located alongside of the tracks opposite block signals. With a signal showing red the arm is in position to trip the attachment on the car, the tripping of which will drain air from the train line resulting in an emergency application of the brakes.

The equipment is manufactured by the Union Switch and Signal Company.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Puritan Doll

One Mother Says:

My child wanted a little Puritan doll, and after thinking about the sort of dolls the little pilgrim children must have played with, we decided that perhaps a corncob doll would be best. It was easily made. We covered one end of the corncob with a white cloth on which the face was drawn with crayons. A bit of gray cloth about the head made the bonnet, another bit of white made a shawl and still another bit of gray went into a skirt. The little Pilgrim doll was ready to be added to the doll family.

PIONEER OF LOS ANGELES SUCCUMBS

G. W. Thompson One of Early Day Developers of Catalina Island

Known for his part in the development of Catalina Island long before its purchase by William Wrigley, Jr., George W. Thompson, 88 years of age, died early yesterday morning at his home, 1156 North Vermont avenue. He had been ill for more than a year.

For more than fourteen years he was associated with the Banning interests, and it was due largely to his efforts that Catalina Island became famous as one of the most attractive resorts in the world. In his work of exploiting the island he visited every world's fair and exposition on the globe during that time and, in company with Judge Banning, made a tour of Europe for the same purpose.

Mr. Thompson was born in Nevada, but was brought to California when 3 months of age and had lived in Los Angeles for more than fifty-seven years. On January 18, 1910, he was married to Dora Young who, with two children, George Steven Thompson, 15, and Margaret Ann Thompson, 12, survives him.

The funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday at the home with burial at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Wider Streets Bureau Reports Funds Depleted

Request for an appropriation of $150,000 to be added to the opening and widening revolving fund was made yesterday in a communication from R. I. Follmer, chief deputy of the City Assessment Bureau, to the Board of Public Works.

Mr. Follmer explained that the present revolving fund is down to $3000 because of the many opening and widening projects included in the Major Traffic Street Plan now under way.

The Board of Public Works is scheduled to act on the request today, and if it is approved the Council will be asked to appropriate the money.

DIET and HEALTH by Dr. I. Hurst Peters

DROPPED STITCH IN THE BACK

Mrs. H.: You reduced fifty-seven pounds in one year. That's at the rate of about a pound a week, which is considered a gradual reduction, and I don't believe the fact that you have "dropped a stitch in your back" and have sciatica, has anything to do whatever with your dieting. Reducing, for instance, will not necessarily prevent one from having accidents, although such accidents as being struck by automobiles, etc., might be considerably lessened!

It's not unusual at all after an operation for the patient to have a lame back. The position of lying flat on the operating table seems to cause that. Surgeons are now putting something under the small of the back to prevent the relaxation of the ligaments.

You may have some infection there which might be markedly benefitted by a course of electric heat (diathermy) and the ultra violet ray treatments. Also, special exercises. Ask your physician to direct you to one who specializes in these treatments. Meanwhile, until you can do this, you might try very hot applications often, or you can get one of the therapeutic electric lights which will give the heat treatment. You should teeth and a thorough examination of teeth and a thorough examination of your whole body to see if there isn't some point of infection other than this that is supplying the poison.

Be very careful not to overeat of the starches and sugars (breads, sweets and cereals) and meats, eggs and fish (the acid-forming foods,) and make up the number of your calories on milk, fruits, vegetables, nuts and cottage cheese. I suggest you send for the article on Diet in Chronic Arthritis. That may help you. (Enclose a self-addressed, and stamped envelope with your request.)

SCALY SCALP

In a pamphlet on the care of the hair (which you may have for the request accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope) I mention that Jackson says that the dry, scaly, scabby condition of the scalp known as dermatitis seborrheica is often successfully treated with a prescription known as Sulphur Cream. I have had quite a number of letters stating that the drug stores do not know of a prescription known as Sulphur Cream. The following is the prescription (Anglicised:)

Sulphur Cream:
Precipitated sulphur, three and one-half drams; white wax, three and one-half drams; liquid petroleum two and one-half ounces; rose water one and one-half ounces; borax, eighteen grains.

This is to be applied once or twice a day for two or three days. Then the scalp is to be washed. After drying, the ointment is to be applied and repeated every other day, for ten days. Then the scalp is washed and the ointment applied three times a week; finally two times a week and then once a week.

TARTAR—OFF

M.—No, I would not buy any commercial preparations for whitening the teeth. They are very strong and may do some damage. Some teeth are naturally white and others are naturally darker, and no preparation is going to change the native color of the darker teeth in any way.

A visit to reliable dentist at least every six months for a thorough cleansing and the repair of any damage that may have been done; a thorough brushing three or four times a day, for three or four minutes at a time, with a moderately stiff brush that gets in between the teeth, with some mild dentifrice; the right diet to keep the gums and mucous membranes and the teeth in good condition (one containing sufficient vitamins, mineral elements and coarse food for exercise,) are all that can be done to keep the teeth in good condition.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. This pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.
